U.S.,Britain WouldTalk With Reds

New Zealand Is To Ask Action

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Official British informants said today Britain and the United States have agreed to invite Communist China to a United Nations Security Council meeting for discussion of a cease-fire in the China fighting.

These responsible informants said New Zealand, in agreement with Britain and the United States, will ask the Security Council to meet Monday to consider extending the invitation to the Peiping regime.

The United States and Nationalist China were reported ready to participate in the discussions with the Chinese Reds.

FOREIGN SECRETARY Anthony Eden is expected to ask India's Prime Minister Nehru to use his influence with the Chinese Reds to get them to accept a Security Council invitation. Nehru is due here Saturday to attend the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference opening in London Monday.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said Monday the United Nations had no jurisdiction in the Formosa clash. But the British hope Nehru will be able to persuade Chou to agree at least to talk things over.

The official informant said the UN invitation is to go out to Peiping with the clear understanding that its acceptance will not prejudice the legal territorial claims of either Red China or Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists.

THE BRITISH Foreign Office refused to comment on these reports and the U. S. Embassy spokesman was not available for comment.

The British were reported favoring a China peace plan that would call for immediate Chinese Nationalist withdrawal from all the China offshore islands. These would include the Tachens, Matsu and Quemoy.

At the same time, Red China would undertake to refrain from attacking the main Nationalist holdings—Formosa and the neighboring Pescadores — pending an eventual peaceful settlement of the rival sovereignty claims. Also involved later would be fresh consideration of Red China's demand for a United Nations seat.

The British feel that Nationalist abandonment of the offshore islands is essential to insure any ceasefire. Such a move would set up a neutral safety belt of 100 miles of water between the Red China and Chinese Nationalist positions.

THE UNITED STATES is pledged to protect Formosa and the Pescadores under terms of its understanding with Nationalist China. But the Eisenhower administration has thus far

GOP Demands Relief Despite Harriman Veto

Three Bills Planned for Mothers, Ill, Aged and Blind; Republicans Lack Necessary Votes to Override Governor

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Republican lawmakers, challenging Gov. Harriman again, demanded tax relief amounting to $7,400,000 for working mothers, the ill, the aged and the blind.

GOP leaders, vowing to "afford as much tax relief as possible," threw the weight of Republican majorities in both Houses of the Legislature behind three bills to ease state income taxes for those groups.

Senate Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck tabbed the measures, introduced yesterday, as "program" items. That means that the Republicans will pass them—with or without Democratic opposition.

The Democratic Governor has not said what he would do about taxes. But his financial advisers are reported scraping for at least 50 million dollars in additional revenues.

Effective with income taxes payable next April 15, the three bills would:

1. Permit deductions for medical expense beyond 3 per cent of income, up to total deductions of $1,000 for individuals and $2,500 for families. Taxpayers now may deduct expense over 5 per cent of income, up to $750 and $1,000.

2. Grant working mothers and widowers supporting children under 12—or older dependents if they are helpless-exemptions of up to $600 for their care. That would not apply to families with total income of more than $5,000 a year.

3. Provide $500 exemptions for taxpayers who are blind or over 65. That would be in addition to present $1,000 exemptions allowed all single persons and $2,500 for heads of families.

Harriman yesterday vetoed a GOP-backed bill to keep income taxes at 10 per cent below the full rate, on the ground that it was "unsound" to freeze revenues before considering the budget.

The governor has said the budget is 'bursting at the seams" and declared that an additional 100 million dollars would be neded in the coming fiscal year to continue programs begun by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, a Republican.

HARRIMAN WILL present his budget Tuesday for the 1955-56 year, which begins April 1.

In a statement, Heck and Mahoney declared that the Republicans were intent on tax relief. They continued:

"We shall not be turned from that objective, by either the governor's veto of the 10 per cent tax abatement bill or his angry attack on the good faith of the legislature in the course of repudiating his own campaign pledges that he would not increase taxes."

But the Republicans do not

Liner U. S. Has Stormiest Trip

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—The liner United States docked today from Europe a day behind schedule after what the ship's captain called the "stormiest trip" in the line's history.

Commodore John W. Anderson said the ship averaged only 27.22 knots during its crossing in contrast to a normal cruising speed of 30 knots. There were high seas and heavy winds but the ship came through unscathed and no passengers were injured.

Among the passengers was Sheik Abdul Rahman Tobeisshi, secretary of state for Saudi Arabia, who came to this country for treatment of cataracts.

Roscoe Irwin, 75, Dies; Served as Mayor and Judge

Roscoe Irwin, 75, one-time Democratic mayor and city judge of Kingston, died this morning.

The former mayor served in the city's top executive post from 1910-1913 as the 14th man in that position.

He was elected to his first term as city judge in November 1902 for three years and was re-elected in November 1905.

Mr. Irwin, who made his home at 710 Broadway, is survived by his wife, the former Miss Minnie E. Schoonmaker, this city and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pollay of Chicago, Ill.

Friends may call at 100 Hoffman street any time Sunday. A requiem Mass will be held at the Church of the Holy Cross, Pine Grove avenue, Monday at 10 a. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

FORMER MAYOR Irwin was born April 20, 1880, the son of the late Charles and Minnie Van Koyendall Irwin, in Wurtsboro, Sullivan county. His father was a former special judge and surrogate of Sullivan county.

Mr. Irwin also served as an attorney for the District Court of the United States in 1906 and as attorney for the Southern District Circuit Court of the U .S. in 1910.

Girls Quizzed For Clues in Serge's Death

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Police turned to glamour girls today to help them solve the mystery killing of millionaire draft dodger Serge Rubenstein—man of "many enemies."

Virtually without clues, they hoped the beauties he squired to exclusive nightspots could throw light on who might have hated enough to kill.

They particularly wanted to learn the identity of two men who reportedly trailed the 46-year-old financier and his brunette model companion from one of the nightspots only hours before he was slain in his fortress-like Fifth avenue mansion early Thursday.

Business associates said Rubinstein developed a roster of bitter foes in his highly competitive stock deals. One friend vowed it was a "paid killing."

EMPLOYES AT NINO'S La Rue, a supper place, said two "rough looking" men sat near Rubinstein as he dined with Estelle Gardner, 26, the model, Wednesday night.

Agreement Reached on Evacuation

Tokyo Says U. S. Planes Deployed

By SPENCER MOOSA

Taipeh, Formosa, Jan. 28 (AP)—A high U. S. source said today he thought American support would be extended to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, and conceded that agreement in principle had been reached on evacuation of the Red-threatened Tachen Islands.

He said that in event of a clash with the Communists he was in favor of giving the commander opposing them full power "without any privileged sanctuaries."

The Tachens are 200 miles north of Formosa and about 20 miles off the Red mainland. They are under direct threat of Red artillery on newly-captured Yikiangshan Island and have been under heavy air bombardment.

THE MATSU GROUP is 100 miles northwest of Formosa and 20 miles off the coast. Quemoy, the main Nationalist offshore outpost, is 120 miles across the Formosa Strait from Formosa and seven miles from the Red port of Amoy.

Final decision on a pullout from the Tachens apparently awaits congressional approval of President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must Formosa policy.

Sabrejets of the U. S. 18th Fighter Bomber Wing have been transferred from Okinawa and the Philippines to Formosa to support the U. S. 7th Fleet, already in the area on combat alert.

But U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin said today he does not feel there is great danger of an important conflict breaking out if the United States maintains its firm attitude without being provocative.

"I BELIEVE the stronger attitude we take without being provocative—and we will not be—the better chance we have of avoiding war," Rankin told a news conference.

(In Tokyo, a responsible American source said U. S. aircraft in the Far East have been deployed to strike the Communists from Alaska to the Philippines at a moment's notice if the Reds start a real war over the Formosa crisis."

("We are as alert as we can be—we are ready to go to war this minute," the source declared.)

At secret air bases on Formosa, veteran U. S. combat pilots stood poised for any eventuality. They were calm, unworried and confident they can deliver if called upon.

BIG TRANSPORT planes flew in tons of heavy equipment to support the fighter-bombers and their crews.

AFL to Campaign For Road Work

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—Heads of all AFL construction unions mapped a campaign today to obtain as much work as possible for their union members under the proposed 100 billion dollar highway building program.

The ambitious, ten-year superhighway construction plan has been recommended to President Eisenhower by a civilian study commission headed by retired Gen. Lucius Clay and the President is expected to send the proposal to Congress.

Leaders of the AFL Building and Construction Trades Department composed of a score of unions claiming more than two million members, are framing strategy during winter meetings here to assure as complete unionizing of the road projects as possible.

The plan, if authorized by Congress and implemented by state matching funds as contemplated by the Clay Commission, probably will be the biggest single construction program in the nation for years to come. The labor organizations want to be in on it from the start.

AFL President George Meany said he would sit in on today's session, which winds up a week-long gathering of the building and construction trades leaders.

It was also reported they were considering a reorganization of the building-construction trades department, along with some legislative recommendations to Congress.

The executive board of the 1,300,000-member AFL Teamsters Union, meeting meanwhile in a separate session at a nearby Miami Beach hotel, planned to decide on ouster charges brought

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP) — Two Queens lawmakers, hailing small business as "the life-blood of American industry," today called for a $25,000 study of the needs of small businessmen in New York state.

Sen. Walter G. McGahan and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, both Republicans, filed companion bills in the Legislature to establish a 12-member commission that would study the problems of small business and consider setting up a bureau of small business.

THEY SAID that 94 per cent of the manufacturers in Queens county had small businesses and added:

"It's important . . . to encourage the development of small business enterprise and to enact progressive legislation to assist the small business man. The future progress of the state depends to a great extent upon encouraging small business to expand."

The commission would comprise three senators, four assemblymen and five businessmen to be appointed by the governor. The appropriation would cover commission expenses in conducting hearings and drafting indicated legislation.

YESTERDAY, legislators introduced measures that would provide for court review of rejections of applicants for civil service jobs, quick determination of whether a defendant had been deprived of his right to a public trial, and greater home rule for cities.

And Sen. John H. Cooke of Alden and Assemblyman William H. MacKenzie of Allegany county presented Republican program measures to continue until March 31, 1956, provisions for supplemental pensions to retired state and local employes.

THE MEASURES WOULD grant up to $300 a year or as much of that amount as was necessary to bring benefits to $1,200 to persons who retired between March 1, 1954 and Dec. 31, 1954.

Approximately 7,700 retired teachers and members of the state retirement system benefited from similar legislation last year.

Sen. Fred G. Moritt, Manhattan Democrat, said that the vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke had prompted him to introduce the bill calling for speedy determination of whether a defendant had been deprived of his rights.

The measure would give the Appellate Division jurisdiction over such matters. The court would be required to begin proceedings within 24 hours after a

Pool to Boost Farm Income For 3 Months

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—A super pool goes into operation Tuesday to boost, for the next three months, the income of the 50,000 hard-pressed dairy farmers supplying the New York metropolitan market.

All 261 of the approved wholesale milk dealers, plants and handlers serving the metropolitan area have signed up for the super pool, Agricultural Commissioner Daniel J. Carey announced last night — 5½ hours before the midnight deadline.

THE PLAN, worked out by four big producer cooperatives, would have fallen through unless all the dealers had signed by the deadline.

Carey is to appoint a trustee to administer the super pool, which dairy economists estimate will yield each producer an average increase of $18 a month for February, March and April.

For those months, dealers and handlers will pay the January price of $5.38 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for fluid milk going into the pool.

THE FLUID MILK price is part of the formula for fixing the blend price actually paid to farmers. So a higher fluid price means a boost in the blend price. Under the federal-state marketing order for the New York milkshed, there is usually a wintertime drop in the fluid price.

A blend price of $4.14 a hundredweight has been forecast for January. Farmers will receive the checks in mid-February.

The plan was developed by representatives of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn. the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Assn. Inc., the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency and the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives.

IN ADVANCING the plan, they reported that dairymen were caught in a cost-price squeeze in which feed costs were up and the milk price down.

A producer task force worked by telephone and radio broadcasts yesterday to line up the dealers. The names of dealers who had signed were given on the air and the others were asked: "Don't you want your name on this list?"

The four cooperatives said that operation of the super pool would mean no increase in the retail price of milk, but that a customary seasonal reduction of one or two cents a quart in the New York city area would be wiped out.

THE PLAN WAS attacked by one group of dairymen as offering the farmers "nothing but crumbs."

38 Below Zero Is Recorded

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Icebox weather down to 38 below zero frosted New York state today.

The lowest temperatures were recorded in the northern section, but sub-zero weather blanketed most of the state.

Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks, reported 38 below at 6:30 a. m., West Plattsburgh –24, Watertown –23.

Meanwhile, drifted snow clogged some secondary roads in the western, central and northern portions. At least 50 schools were closed yesterday.

ICY ROADS caused two traffic deaths in the western section.

Buffalo, however, reported an overnight low temperature between 5 and 6 above zero, and Rochester, 3 above.

But the sub-zero column showed:

Ellenburg –20, Foresport –18 Massena and Rome –17, Plattsburgh –13 Glens Falls and Oneonta –9, Utica –6, Elmira –5, Binghamton –1.

The weather Bureau said tonight would be slightly warmer, with temperatures zero to 10 below in the northern and central sections and parts of the western section, and zero to 10 above in the south-central portions.

Today was generally clear, except for light snow in the western section, north of the Finger Lakes and east of Lake Ontario.

Brooklyn Woman Is Killed; Tenant, Brother Questioned

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—A 58-year-old Brooklyn landlady was found beaten to death early today, her head the target of many savage blows from a club or perhaps a foot.

One of her tenants, a man against whom the landlady recently brought an eviction suit, was being questioned.

So was the landlady's brother, who made his home with her. Police said he made varying statements as to what time he returned home from work last night.

POLICE FOUND the body of the victim, Miss Tillie Bernstein, under a throw rug in the basement of her two-story apartment building at 2131 60th street, Brooklyn.

This is in the Borough Park section of Brooklyn, an area tenanted primarily by families of moderate incomes.

Following discovery of the woman's body about 2:30 a. m., police centered their questioning upon Emil Steinman, a 60-year-old widower who occupied a second floor apartment.

OFFICERS SAID Miss Bernstein recently instituted an eviction suit against Steinman as she and her brother, Jack, with whom she shared the first floor apartment, wished to move into the Steinman quarters and rent out the first floor.

Hearing of the case had been postponed until March.

Police said Miss Bernstein's skull had been crushed by repeated blows. They believed these came from a heavy club or a foot, or possibly both.

However, no club was reported found.

IN HER APARTMENT, nothing had been disturbed.

Miss Bernstein's brother told police he last saw his sister alive when he left for work at 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

When he returned about 7 p. m., he said, a side door usually left unlocked for him was locked, but the front door was open.

He said the television set was turned on but he subsequently decided his sister had gone off to a movie and forgotten it.

FINALLY, about midnight he became worried when his sister did not return and called police. They searched the premises and found the body.

Under further questioning later, officers reported, the brother changed his account somewhat, saying he did not return home until midnight, rather than 7 p. m.

Tenants of another upstairs apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Peter White, told officers they had seen the front door open but otherwise heard or saw nothing suspicious.

Lehman Warns About 'Rash, Reckless Action'

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Sen. Lehman (D.-Lib.-N.Y.) told the Senate today that "rash or reckless action" under the terms of the House-approved fight-for-Formosa resolution could plunge this country into war with Red China without allies.

Lehman called for a delay in action as he opened the Senate's third day of debate on the proposal. Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), an opponent of the resolution, predicted, however, that a final vote would be reached late today.

MORSE, LEHMAN and a few others have sought to strip from the measure authority under which President Eisenhower could order U. S. forces to defend Quemoy and Matsu and to strike at the Chinese mainland in case of a Red buildup threatening Formosa.

Asserting that it would be a "tragic error" not to seek United Nations action toward bringing peace in the Formosa Strait, Lehman said there is no "historical justification" for American defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Lehman said it had been made clear by administration spokesmen — although it was not spelled out in the resolution—that Eisenhower could decide to defend the islands if he chose to do so.

"The Congress cannot and must not take the position—actual or implicit—that American blood will flow, if need be, for the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, on the very doorstep of China proper," Lehman declared.

Mohawk Asks Permission To Use Dutchess Airport

Mohawk Airlines has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate at Dutchess County Airport, Poughkeepsie, according to announcement by Robert E. Peach, president of the airline now serving more than 30 major communities in New England, New York and New Jersey.

Mohawks service would provide needed transportation east to Boston and west to Buffalo and other communities according to Mr. Peach.

New Mohawk service would link Poughkeepsie with Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City, where there is extensive community of interest, Elmira, Corning, Ithaca, Sampson Air Force Base, Auburn, Geneva, Utica, Rome, Watertown, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Mr. Peach said.

Mohawk now operates more than 30 flights daily on three routes, one between Newark, N. J., and Buffalo, another between Newark, Utica, Rome and Watertown, and its longest between Boston and Buffalo.

Mohawk plans two additional extensions, one to Detroit via Binghamton, and Erie, Pa., and another to Toronto, Canada, via Rochester.

Morhouse Says Legislative Majority Takes Initiative

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today the GOP majority in the Legislature has—as he put it—"taken the initiative in the people's interest" in the first three weeks of the 1955 session.

Morhouse added that the Republicans are "teaching a needed lesson" to Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, who took office at the first of the year, "on how to conduct sound government in the interests of all the people and—most importantly—how to keep campaign promises."

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of New York state, Morhouse added:

"The Republican party has shown real statesmanship in contrast with hasty, hour-to-hour makeshifts put forth by the new governor whose advisers seem bent on leading him up blind alleys."

Morhouse said legislative leaders including Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and all others having a part in the Republican program "have set the pace well ahead of the opposition."

Heck said in a speech prepared

THE MATSU GROUP is 100 miles northwest of Formosa and 20 miles off the coast. Quemoy, the main Nationalist offshore outpost, is 120 miles across the Formosa Strait from Formosa and seven miles from the Red port of Amoy.

Final decision on a pullout from the Tachens apparently awaits congressional approval of President Eisenhower's fight-if-we-must Formosa policy.

Sabrejets of the U. S. 18th Fighter Bomber Wing have been transferred from Okinawa and the Philippines to Formosa to support the U. S. 7th Fleet, already in the area on combat alert.

But U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin said today he does not feel there is great danger of an important conflict breaking out if the United States maintains its firm attitude without being provocative.

"I BELIEVE the stronger attitude we take without being provocative—and we will not be—the better chance we have of avoiding war," Rankin told a news conference.

(In Tokyo, a responsible American source said U. S. aircraft in the Far East have been deployed to strike the Communists from Alaska to the Philippines at a moment's notice if the Reds start a real war over the Formosa crisis."

("We are as alert as we can be—we are ready to go to war this minute," the source declared.)

At secret air bases on Formosa, veteran U. S. combat pilots stood poised for any eventuality. They were calm, unworried and confident they can deliver if called upon.

BIG TRANSPORT planes flew in tons of heavy equipment to support the fighter-bombers and their crews.

AFL to Campaign For Road Work

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 28 (AP)—Heads of all AFL construction unions mapped a campaign today to obtain as much work as possible for their union members under the proposed 100 billion dollar highway building program.

The ambitious, ten-year superhighway construction plan has been recommended to President Eisenhower by a civilian study commission headed by retired Gen. Lucius Clay and the President is expected to send the proposal to Congress.

Leaders of the AFL Building and Construction Trades Department composed of a score of unions claiming more than two million members, are framing strategy during winter meetings here to assure as complete unionizing of the road projects as possible.

The plan, if authorized by Congress and implemented by state matching funds as contemplated by the Clay Commission, probably will be the biggest single construction program in the nation for years to come. The labor organizations want to be in on it from the start.

AFL President George Meany said he would sit in on today's session, which winds up a week-long gathering of the building and construction trades leaders.

It was also reported they were considering a reorganization of the building-construction trades department, along with some legislative recommendations to Congress.

The executive board of the 1,300,000-member AFL Teamsters Union, meeting meanwhile in a separate session at a nearby Miami Beach hotel, planned to decide on ouster charges brought

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP) — Two Queens lawmakers, hailing small business as "the life-blood of American industry," today called for a $25,000 study of the needs of small businessmen in New York state.

Sen. Walter G. McGahan and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller, both Republicans, filed companion bills in the Legislature to establish a 12-member commission that would study the problems of small business and consider setting up a bureau of small business.

THEY SAID that 94 per cent of the manufacturers in Queens county had small businesses and added:

"It's important . . . to encourage the development of small business enterprise and to enact progressive legislation to assist the small business man. The future progress of the state depends to a great extent upon encouraging small business to expand."

The commission would comprise three senators, four assemblymen and five businessmen to be appointed by the governor. The appropriation would cover commission expenses in conducting hearings and drafting indicated legislation.

YESTERDAY, legislators introduced measures that would provide for court review of rejections of applicants for civil service jobs, quick determination of whether a defendant had been deprived of his right to a public trial, and greater home rule for cities.

And Sen. John H. Cooke of Alden and Assemblyman William H. MacKenzie of Allegany county presented Republican program measures to continue until March 31, 1956, provisions for supplemental pensions to retired state and local employes.

THE MEASURES WOULD grant up to $300 a year or as much of that amount as was necessary to bring benefits to $1,200 to persons who retired between March 1, 1954 and Dec. 31, 1954.

Approximately 7,700 retired teachers and members of the state retirement system benefited from similar legislation last year.

Sen. Fred G. Moritt, Manhattan Democrat, said that the vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke had prompted him to introduce the bill calling for speedy determination of whether a defendant had been deprived of his rights.

The measure would give the Appellate Division jurisdiction over such matters. The court would be required to begin proceedings within 24 hours after a

Pool to Boost Farm Income For 3 Months

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—A super pool goes into operation Tuesday to boost, for the next three months, the income of the 50,000 hard-pressed dairy farmers supplying the New York metropolitan market.

All 261 of the approved wholesale milk dealers, plants and handlers serving the metropolitan area have signed up for the super pool, Agricultural Commissioner Daniel J. Carey announced last night — 5½ hours before the midnight deadline.

THE PLAN, worked out by four big producer cooperatives, would have fallen through unless all the dealers had signed by the deadline.

Carey is to appoint a trustee to administer the super pool, which dairy economists estimate will yield each producer an average increase of $18 a month for February, March and April.

For those months, dealers and handlers will pay the January price of $5.38 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for fluid milk going into the pool.

THE FLUID MILK price is part of the formula for fixing the blend price actually paid to farmers. So a higher fluid price means a boost in the blend price. Under the federal-state marketing order for the New York milkshed, there is usually a wintertime drop in the fluid price.

A blend price of $4.14 a hundredweight has been forecast for January. Farmers will receive the checks in mid-February.

The plan was developed by representatives of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Assn. the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative Assn. Inc., the Metropolitan Milk Producers Bargaining Agency and the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives.

IN ADVANCING the plan, they reported that dairymen were caught in a cost-price squeeze in which feed costs were up and the milk price down.

A producer task force worked by telephone and radio broadcasts yesterday to line up the dealers. The names of dealers who had signed were given on the air and the others were asked: "Don't you want your name on this list?"

The four cooperatives said that operation of the super pool would mean no increase in the retail price of milk, but that a customary seasonal reduction of one or two cents a quart in the New York city area would be wiped out.

THE PLAN WAS attacked by one group of dairymen as offering the farmers "nothing but crumbs."

38 Below Zero Is Recorded

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Icebox weather down to 38 below zero frosted New York state today.

The lowest temperatures were recorded in the northern section, but sub-zero weather blanketed most of the state.

Saranac Lake, in the Adirondacks, reported 38 below at 6:30 a. m., West Plattsburgh –24, Watertown –23.

Meanwhile, drifted snow clogged some secondary roads in the western, central and northern portions. At least 50 schools were closed yesterday.

ICY ROADS caused two traffic deaths in the western section.

Buffalo, however, reported an overnight low temperature between 5 and 6 above zero, and Rochester, 3 above.

But the sub-zero column showed:

Ellenburg –20, Foresport –18 Massena and Rome –17, Plattsburgh –13 Glens Falls and Oneonta –9, Utica –6, Elmira –5, Binghamton –1.

The weather Bureau said tonight would be slightly warmer, with temperatures zero to 10 below in the northern and central sections and parts of the western section, and zero to 10 above in the south-central portions.

Today was generally clear, except for light snow in the western section, north of the Finger Lakes and east of Lake Ontario.

Mohawk Asks Permission To Use Dutchess Airport

Mohawk Airlines has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to operate at Dutchess County Airport, Poughkeepsie, according to announcement by Robert E. Peach, president of the airline now serving more than 30 major communities in New England, New York and New Jersey.

Mohawks service would provide needed transportation east to Boston and west to Buffalo and other communities according to Mr. Peach.

New Mohawk service would link Poughkeepsie with Binghamton, Endicott and Johnson City, where there is extensive community of interest, Elmira, Corning, Ithaca, Sampson Air Force Base, Auburn, Geneva, Utica, Rome, Watertown, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Mr. Peach said.

Mohawk now operates more than 30 flights daily on three routes, one between Newark, N. J., and Buffalo, another between Newark, Utica, Rome and Watertown, and its longest between Boston and Buffalo.

Mohawk plans two additional extensions, one to Detroit via Binghamton, and Erie, Pa., and another to Toronto, Canada, via Rochester.

Brooklyn Woman Is Killed; Tenant, Brother Questioned

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—A 58-year-old Brooklyn landlady was found beaten to death early today, her head the target of many savage blows from a club or perhaps a foot.

One of her tenants, a man against whom the landlady recently brought an eviction suit, was being questioned.

So was the landlady's brother, who made his home with her. Police said he made varying statements as to what time he returned home from work last night.

POLICE FOUND the body of the victim, Miss Tillie Bernstein, under a throw rug in the basement of her two-story apartment building at 2131 60th street, Brooklyn.

This is in the Borough Park section of Brooklyn, an area tenanted primarily by families of moderate incomes.

Following discovery of the woman's body about 2:30 a. m., police centered their questioning upon Emil Steinman, a 60-year-old widower who occupied a second floor apartment.

OFFICERS SAID Miss Bernstein recently instituted an eviction suit against Steinman as she and her brother, Jack, with whom she shared the first floor apartment, wished to move into the Steinman quarters and rent out the first floor.

Hearing of the case had been postponed until March.

Police said Miss Bernstein's skull had been crushed by repeated blows. They believed these came from a heavy club or a foot, or possibly both.

However, no club was reported found.

IN HER APARTMENT, nothing had been disturbed.

Miss Bernstein's brother told police he last saw his sister alive when he left for work at 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

When he returned about 7 p. m., he said, a side door usually left unlocked for him was locked, but the front door was open.

He said the television set was turned on but he subsequently decided his sister had gone off to a movie and forgotten it.

FINALLY, about midnight he became worried when his sister did not return and called police. They searched the premises and found the body.

Under further questioning later, officers reported, the brother changed his account somewhat, saying he did not return home until midnight, rather than 7 p. m.

Tenants of another upstairs apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Peter White, told officers they had seen the front door open but otherwise heard or saw nothing suspicious.

Lehman Warns About 'Rash, Reckless Action'

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Sen. Lehman (D.-Lib.-N.Y.) told the Senate today that "rash or reckless action" under the terms of the House-approved fight-for-Formosa resolution could plunge this country into war with Red China without allies.

Lehman called for a delay in action as he opened the Senate's third day of debate on the proposal. Sen. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), an opponent of the resolution, predicted, however, that a final vote would be reached late today.

MORSE, LEHMAN and a few others have sought to strip from the measure authority under which President Eisenhower could order U. S. forces to defend Quemoy and Matsu and to strike at the Chinese mainland in case of a Red buildup threatening Formosa.

Asserting that it would be a "tragic error" not to seek United Nations action toward bringing peace in the Formosa Strait, Lehman said there is no "historical justification" for American defense of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Lehman said it had been made clear by administration spokesmen — although it was not spelled out in the resolution—that Eisenhower could decide to defend the islands if he chose to do so.

"The Congress cannot and must not take the position—actual or implicit—that American blood will flow, if need be, for the defense of Quemoy and Matsu, on the very doorstep of China proper," Lehman declared.

Morhouse Says Legislative Majority Takes Initiative

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today the GOP majority in the Legislature has—as he put it—"taken the initiative in the people's interest" in the first three weeks of the 1955 session.

Morhouse added that the Republicans are "teaching a needed lesson" to Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, who took office at the first of the year, "on how to conduct sound government in the interests of all the people and—most importantly—how to keep campaign promises."

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of New York state, Morhouse added:

"The Republican party has shown real statesmanship in contrast with hasty, hour-to-hour makeshifts put forth by the new governor whose advisers seem bent on leading him up blind alleys."

Morhouse said legislative leaders including Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and all others having a part in the Republican program "have set the pace well ahead of the opposition."

Heck said in a speech prepared

Quemoy, Matsu

forces in the Formosa area, Nationalist warplanes roared out to attack Red shipping and Communist island outposts near the Tachens.

Nationalist Headquarters claimed direct hits on a 1,500-ton Red warship 35 miles northeast of the Tachens. Headquarters also claimed excellent results in raids on Red-held Toumen and Yikiangshan islands.

(A report from Hong Kong said Red China's official New China News Agency said two crewmen were killed and 12 wounded Jan. 19 when Nationalist bombers hit the Chinese Communist steamer Namhai in Swatow harbor. Apparently the vessel was moored near the British ship Edendale, which Nationalist planes sank the same day.)

THE AMERICAN official in Taipeh who said he thought Quemoy and Matsu would be taken under the U. S. wing, said the development of Communist air power had changed the positions of the Tachen Islands in recent years.

But, he said, the Reds were not in a position to assume command of the air over Quemoy and Matsu. The Nationalist Air Force, with help from the United States, would be able to maintain its present superiority.

The source said the Reds must have forseen that their invasion of tiny Yikiangshan island would provoke world attention, but he was sure they didn't anticipate the vigorous U. S. reaction.

HE ALSO SAID that in view of the Communist oft-repeated threats to "liberate" Formosa, he didn't think the Reds would agree to any sort of ceasefire plan, such as has been proposed in several world capitals.

The Nationalists, too, he said, are opposed to a ceasefire because they were apparently afraid it would lead to a large Red delegation going to the United Nations, more talk of admitting the Reds to the world organizations — and particularly to the implication the Nationalists are abandoning their goal of reconquering the mainland.

While tension grew here, all eyes were on Washington and the congressional debate on Eisenhower's Formosa plan.

Flags on Display

The second of two flags that once flew over the Capitol building in Washington, D. C., and are now in Kingston is on display in the window of the Kingston Daily Freeman branch office at 239 Fair street. The flags were received by Kingston Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, who obtained them from Capitol Architect J. George Stewart. One of the flags is now flying at the VFW Home on Delaware avenue. The other will be presented by the VFW to the City of Kingston and will be used next summer at the Kingston Point Bathing Beach. Displayed with it at The Freeman uptown office is the letter from Architect Stewart certifying it as one that was used at the Capitol.

Girls Quizzed

nightspot for two hours, the employes said.

They declared the driver had refused other fares in the meantime.

Police virtually discarded robbery as a motive although the bedroom where Rubinstein's body was found gave evidence of some ransacking.

THEY PRESSED the possibility he was killed in reprisal for his woman chasing or shady financial deals.

Nino Maimini, proprietor of the nightspot, told police Rubinstein and Miss Gardner left there about 1:30 a. m.

Police said Miss Gardner then spent some time at Rubinstein's home. They did not disclose at what time she arrived or departed.

An autopsy placed the probable time of Rubinstein's death at 5:30 a. m.

He apparently died at the hands of a husky man—or more than one—for despite his suave continental manner he was powerfully built and ordinarily could have been a match for most persons physically.

Yet when William Morter, the butler, walked into the third-floor bedroom at 8:30 a. m. yesterday his master had been overpowered — bound hand and foot, gagged and choked to death.

HIS MOTHER, an aunt, and three servants in the house during the night said they heard nothing.

Clad in black pajamas, Rubinstein lay face upward on the floor of the lavishly furnished room.

"Rubinstein died of manual strangulation," the medical examiner's office reported last night after a three-hour autopsy.

But there the known facts in the mystery came to a halt. Fifty detectives were assigned to piece the story together from there.

One of the more puzzling aspects of the case was that there was no evidence of forcible entry into the mansion, guarded at its front entrance by iron-grated doors and by a concrete wall and iron picket fence in the rear.

Besides Miss Gardner, police questioned Patricia Wray, a blond secretary of a firm where the Russian-born Rubinstein had a business conference the afternoon before he died.

THEY TALKED also with Peter Crosby, actress Denise Darcel's divorced husband, who had escorted Miss Gardner to a Russian New Year's eve ball at the Hotel Ambassador Jan. 13, a gala event also attended by Rubinstein.

They wanted to talk, too, with Betty Reed, a tall blonde beauty frequently escorted by the Wall Street operator.

Rubinstein, who was facing deportation action by the government as an undesirable alien, came to the end of his checkered career in a setting that would challenge any in fiction.

He lay on wall-to-wall carpeting beside a twin bed which had been slept in, one of 19 pieces of furniture in the bedroom. Another twin bed had not been touched.

The walls around the gruesomely bound figure were adorned with oriental prints and hunting scenes.

Drawers of a built-in wardrobe had been pulled out—but whether in search of something or to give the impression of robbery was not known.

HIS DINNER CLOTHES had been tossed carelessly onto a chair—some of them had fallen to the floor.

Found in the room was a clipping of a story by Leslie Gould, New York Journal American financial editor, concerning his deportation case. It was headed: "Serge ruling due soon — but ouster is still far off.

Indicating his tastes, police found three books and a gold record container bearing Sophie Tucker's golden jubilee.

The books were "I Never Grew Up," by Cobina Wright, Jr.; "The View from Pompey's Head," by Hamilton Basso; and "The Pleasures of Chess," by "Assiac," a pseudonym for Heinrich Fraenkel.

Incidents Are Checked

Sealevel, N. C., Jan. 28 (AP)—Cherry Point Marine Air Station officials said today they are investigating reports of two bombing incidents involving military planes and civilian fishing boats. A small oyster boat was sunk Tuesday after a smoke bomb struck it. Its operator was rescued. The skipper of a fishing boat said yesterday a bomb was dropped near his craft in Pamlico Sound yesterday. Both incidents occurred near a marine bombing target range on the mainland.

Increase in Apple Market Predicted by Food Official

An increasing market for apples for processed foods was predicted by W. A. Brittin of the Beech-Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, in a talk Thursday afternoon at the Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticulture Society in Kingston.

The three-day meeting closes early this afternoon, and has been described by society officers as one of the best attended meetings held by the society in eastern New York state. A record number of commercial exhibitors, 64, had displays in the drill room and garage of the state armory on Manor avenue.

BRITTIN LOOKED to the increasing birth rate and the increasing number of aged persons as a potential market for strained and "junior" foods. He estimated that more than $200,000,000 was spent in America in 1954 for these processed foods. Approximately 2,000,000 bushels of apples will go into production of infant foods during the current apple season, he said.

Other talks on Thursday included a report by Clyde Lewis of the Chazy Orchards on his experiences in marketing apples in bags. At the Horticultural Society meetings at Rochester and Kingston in 1950, a preliminary report advocated using a combination bag and bulk display. After trying out those recommendations, Lewis reported this year, he found "the increase in sales was almost astonishing."

RESULTS OF RECENT apple fungicide tests in the Hudson Valley were reported by D. H. Palmiter of the Poughkeepsie laboratory, and studies on saving money by using a tractor lift in handling apples at picking time without bruising were discussed by George B. Woodward.

Daniel Carey, newly appointed commissioner of agriculture and market for New York state, was unable to be present at Thursday's session as scheduled, but he was represented by James G. Lyons, assistant to the commissioner. Other state officials present were Dr. Persia Campbell, special assistant to Governor Hariman on consumer problems; Spencer Duncan, assistant director of markets, and Joseph Firth, market investigator for the state department of agriculture.

U. S. Notifies Relatives Travel to Red China Banned

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has notified relatives the government has reached "the reluctant conclusion" it must forbid their travel to Communist China to visit imprisoned Americans.

A State Department announcement yesterday said the notifications went out through the air force. The department released the text of a letter from Dulles to the relatives of 17 imprisoned Americans—15 airmen and two civilian employes of the army.

DULLES' LETTER, identical in each case, declared the Chinese Communists could best demonstrate their concern for the relatives' peace of mind "only by releasing those they hold."

"The increasingly belligerent attitude and actions of the Chinese Communists in recent days," Dulles wrote, "have forced this government to the reluctant conclusion that it would be imprudent for the time being to issue passports valid for travel to Communist China to any American citizens."

THE CHINESE REDS had offered to let the relatives visit the men. The offer was made through Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, when he made his thus far unsuccessful mission to Peiping seeking the prisoners' release. The Chinese Communists have imprisoned the men as "spies."

Dulles said yesterday's decision followed "careful deliberation." He said it was based on "the belief that it is in the best interests of our nation."

PERMITTING the relatives to go to Red China might give Red China further opportunity to "provoke our nation and strain its patience further," Dulles said.

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer who previously had said the department had received three requests for information on how to apply for a passport to Red China, declined to say whether any more have come in from relatives.

No passport has been validated for travel to China since the Communists took over in 1949. Dulles' formal notification had been expected. Official sources had given strong indications that the United States would not abandon its opposition to any sort of diplomatic relations with the Chinese Communists.

One Bid Only Is Received

Only one bid was received yesterday by the Kingston Housing Authority for the residence at 72 Ann street which had been advertised for removal as the first step in the clearance program which will ultimately raze the entire block bounded by Ann, East Pierpont, Chambers and Meadow streets.

George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the Authority said the bid which was received contained so many stipulations and conditions that he doubted if it could be accepted. The bidder, whose name and bid was not disclosed, submitted a bid for removal of the house but conditioned it with the qualification that in the event the house was not removed, it might be demolished and the materials sold.

Bids were requested for removal of the house from the site intact.

THE BIDDER, however, is being given further consideration and Yerry stated that negotiations were under way with the bidder to learn whether some of the stipulations submitted by him could be eliminated and his bid accepted.

In the event this is not accomplished, Yerry said, the house would be included in a contract to demolish the buildings on the entire block and it was expected that bids for demolishing the buildings would be sought about February 10.

UNDER REGULATIONS governing the removal proceedings th Housing Authority may dispose of the site after the present buildings have been razed and the site may be sold either for park purposes or for industrial use but it may not be used for home sites. Its closeness to railroad facilities, water facilities and other public utilities would make the site ideal for industrial purposes, it was said.

There was some disappointment yesterday when bids were opened when it was found only one bid was made for the house. During the two days the house was open for inspection 22 persons visited it and it was expected there would be several bids submitted. The house was formerly the property of Michael J. and Ruth J. Augustine and was in such good condition that the Housing Authority felt it was worth moving from the site and sought bids for that purpose.

Masses Arranged For Father Fagan In Area Churches

A triduum of solemn requiem Masses is scheduled next week in the New Paltz area for the Rev. George B. Fagan, 57, who died Wednesday in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, it was announced today by the Rev. Father Mahoney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz, where the deceased priest served as pastor for 10 years.

Father Fagan's funeral is scheduled Saturday, with a solemn Mass of requiem at 10:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Church Waverly Place and Avenue of the Americas, New York, where His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman will preside. Burial is to be in Gate of Heaven Cemetery.

Schedule for the triduum is:

Monday, 9 a. m., at St. Charles Church, Gardiner; Tuesday, 9 a. m., Mass at Lady of Fatima Chapel, Plattekill; Wednesday, 9 a. m., Mass at St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz.

It is expected that many friends in this area, who looked on Father Fagan as a great spiritual leader, will attend the tridium, or one of the Masses in the various churches.

Father Fagan, pastor of the Roman Catholic Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary, 7 State street, New York, at the time of his death, also served at St. Joseph's parish in New Paltz as well as in New Paltz, and at St. Mary's Church, this city, where he was assigned as a curate after his ordination on June 10, 1922.

Stuyvesant Blaze Damage Slight

A fire which appeared to have started in a storage room basket on the first floor of the Stuyvesant Hotel, was checked before causing serious damage last night.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said 107 guests in the hotel were alerted to stand by as firemen checked the fire, but evacuation of the building was unnecessary.

Soiled linen and an upholstered bench cover were damaged in the blaze, which caused considerable smoke in the building. There was no water damage. The small room, or closet, is in the rear of the building near the kitchen.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT from Wiltwyck and Central stations and Wicks Engine Company answered the call at 11:45 p. m. Two hose lines were laid but only one, a 1½-inch line, was used.

A call at 3:35 a. m., today to Hamburger Paradise, 19 St. James street, was for a fire in a stock pot of meat which had been left over a gas burner. The burning meat caused heavy smoke, but the fire caused no damage other than to the meat and pot. It was quenched with a $CO_2$ extinguisher.

A call at 2:30 p. m. yesterday was for a brush fire in Waters' woods, and another at 5 p. m., was for a brush fire off Chapel street.

Resolution Is Forced

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP) — Democrats today forced through the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee a resolution calling on the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel the Dixon-Yates power contract.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 28 (AP) — The stock market advanced today with steels and aircrafts providing the bulk of the strength.

Actually the list displayed a lot of irregularity in its overall move ahead with many lower sections in evidence.

The best gains were in a range of 1 to around 4 points higher. Losses with few exceptions were small.

Trading was at a moderate pace well below the three and a half million shares traded in yesterday's higher market.

Bethlehem Steel, which fell 3¾ yesterday in disappointment when a split proposal failed to materialize, was up between 1 and 2 points today. Other steels were modestly higher.

Wide Areas of East Hit By Cold; South Shivers

(By The Associated Press)

A late January cold wave engulfed wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today and there was no indication of immediate relief.

Snow, sub-zero temperatures and strong winds were in prospect for the midwest, hardest hit by the coldest weather of the winter season.

THE ARCTIC AIR swept into the east from the snow-covered mid-continent bringing the coldest weather of the season to many sections. It also was wintry weather in most of the south as temperatures dropped to below or near freezing all the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

It was colder in some parts of New York state than in the midwest where temperatures were not as low today as yesterday morning when they tumbled to -36 in northern Minnesota. However, they were far below zero in most of the northern sections of the north central region.

NORTHERN NEW YORK state got the full blast of the icy air with 38 below at Saranac Lake and 23 below in Watertown. There also were sub-zero readings in parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Washington shivered in 12 degree readings, the lowest of the winter season, while the 14 at Newark, N. J., also was the low for the year.

In the south, it was 14 at Richmond, Va.; 17 at Knoxville; 25 at Atlanta and 34 in Mobile, Ala.

Helicopters Burn, 6 Die

Stuttgart, Germany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Two U. S. Army helicopters on a training exercise crashed and burned last night within 25 minutes of each other, killing both 3-man crews. The helicopters crashed about 500 yards apart while trying to land on the side of a small hill six miles north of Stuttgart, an army spokesman said. The craft, H19s attached to the 7th Corps at nearby Nellingen, can carry six to eight passengers and three crewmen. Cause of the crashes has not been established. Names of the six crewmen were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Knowland Is Opposed

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he opposes admitting any representative of Red China to this country to discuss a possible Formosa strait cease-fire until all American military prisoners are released by the Chinese Communists. The Senate Republican leader made his comment to newsmen at the Senate after conferring with Secretary of State Dulles earlier in the day.

deputy agriculture commissioner, yesterday and asked their support for other measures to establish more permanent floors under milk prices.

The group, headed by Barthly Beach of Schenevus, proposed hearings on the price of fluid milk and on recommendations to revise the marketing order, a probe of the spread between the price paid to the farmer and the retail price, and investigation of dealers' operations.

Local Temperature Was 8 Above Zero

Sub-zero temperatures were predicted for the region yesterday, but the mercury failed to make it in the city.

The city engineer's office reported a low of eight degrees above zero at 7:45 a. m., today and that was the coldest, to date, this winter. The next lowest was nine a week ago.

Weather men expected temperatures of from five to 10 below zero in the area. Nothern and western counties were hit with severe weather, but it was mild here by comparison.

avoided defining which of the offshort islands it considers vtial to the defense of Formosa.

The Chinese Nationalists apparently are already evacuating the Tachens, which lie 200 miles north of Formosa. But there has so far been no indication that there are similar plans for the nearby Matsu chain or Quemoy, which lies opposite Formosa and within artillery range of the Red-held mainland.

NEHRU CONFERRED with Red China's charge d'affairs in New Delhi last night, before taking off today for London to attend a commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

Although no details of the talk were disclosed, informed sources said the meeting was arranged "at (Red Chinese Premier) Chou En-lai's initiative" to give Nehru Peiping's point of view on Formosa.

The sources said Nehru would "take the earliest opportunity" to call on Eden in London. The Indian premier suggested to newsmen at the New Delhi airport today that the Formosa crisis might push purely commonwealth problems into the background at the prime ministers' meeting, which opens Monday.

Quemoy, Matsu

forces in the Formosa area, Nationalist warplanes roared out to attack Red shipping and Communist island outposts near the Tachens.

Nationalist Headquarters claimed direct hits on a 1,500-ton Red warship 35 miles northeast of the Tachens. Headquarters also claimed excellent results in raids on Red-held Toumen and Yikiangshan islands.

(A report from Hong Kong said Red China's official New China News Agency said two crewmen were killed and 12 wounded Jan. 19 when Nationalist bombers hit the Chinese Communist steamer Namhai in Swatow harbor. Apparently the vessel was moored near the British ship Edendale, which Nationalist planes sank the same day.)

THE AMERICAN official in Taipeh who said he thought Quemoy and Matsu would be taken under the U. S. wing, said the development of Communist air power had changed the positions of the Tachen Islands in recent years.

But, he said, the Reds were not in a position to assume command of the air over Quemoy and Matsu. The Nationalist Air Force, with help from the United States, would be able to maintain its present superiority.

The source said the Reds must have forseen that their invasion of tiny Yikiangshan island would provoke world attention, but he was sure they didn't anticipate the vigorous U. S. reaction.

HE ALSO SAID that in view of the Communist oft-repeated threats to "liberate" Formosa, he didn't think the Reds would agree to any sort of ceasefire plan, such as has been proposed in several world capitals.

The Nationalists, too, he said, are opposed to a ceasefire because they were apparently afraid it would lead to a large Red delegation going to the United Nations, more talk of admitting the Reds to the world organizations — and particularly to the implication the Nationalists are abandoning their goal of reconquering the mainland.

While tension grew here, all eyes were on Washington and the congressional debate on Eisenhower's Formosa plan.

Flags on Display

The second of two flags that once flew over the Capitol building in Washington, D. C., and are now in Kingston is on display in the window of the Kingston Daily Freeman branch office at 239 Fair street. The flags were received by Kingston Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, who obtained them from Capitol Architect J. George Stewart. One of the flags is now flying at the VFW Home on Delaware avenue. The other will be presented by the VFW to the City of Kingston and will be used next summer at the Kingston Point Bathing Beach. Displayed with it at The Freeman uptown office is the letter from Architect Stewart certifying it as one that was used at the Capitol.

Girls Quizzed

nightspot for two hours, the employes said.

They declared the driver had refused other fares in the meantime.

Police virtually discarded robbery as a motive although the bedroom where Rubinstein's body was found gave evidence of some ransacking.

THEY PRESSED the possibility he was killed in reprisal for his woman chasing or shady financial deals.

Nino Maimini, proprietor of the nightspot, told police Rubinstein and Miss Gardner left there about 1:30 a. m.

Police said Miss Gardner then spent some time at Rubinstein's home. They did not disclose at what time she arrived or departed.

An autopsy placed the probable time of Rubinstein's death at 5:30 a. m.

He apparently died at the hands of a husky man—or more than one—for despite his suave continental manner he was powerfully built and ordinarily could have been a match for most persons physically.

Yet when William Morter, the butler, walked into the third-floor bedroom at 8:30 a. m. yesterday his master had been overpowered — bound hand and foot, gagged and choked to death.

HIS MOTHER, an aunt, and three servants in the house during the night said they heard nothing.

Clad in black pajamas, Rubinstein lay face upward on the floor of the lavishly furnished room.

"Rubinstein died of manual strangulation," the medical examiner's office reported last night after a three-hour autopsy.

But there the known facts in the mystery came to a halt. Fifty detectives were assigned to piece the story together from there.

One of the more puzzling aspects of the case was that there was no evidence of forcible entry into the mansion, guarded at its front entrance by iron-grated doors and by a concrete wall and iron picket fence in the rear.

Besides Miss Gardner, police questioned Patricia Wray, a blond secretary of a firm where the Russian-born Rubinstein had a business conference the afternoon before he died.

THEY TALKED also with Peter Crosby, actress Denise Darcel's divorced husband, who had escorted Miss Gardner to a Russian New Year's eve ball at the Hotel Ambassador Jan. 13, a gala event also attended by Rubinstein.

They wanted to talk, too, with Betty Reed, a tall blonde beauty frequently escorted by the Wall Street operator.

Rubinstein, who was facing deportation action by the government as an undesirable alien, came to the end of his checkered career in a setting that would challenge any in fiction.

He lay on wall-to-wall carpeting beside a twin bed which had been slept in, one of 19 pieces of furniture in the bedroom. Another twin bed had not been touched.

The walls around the gruesomely bound figure were adorned with oriental prints and hunting scenes.

Drawers of a built-in wardrobe had been pulled out—but whether in search of something or to give the impression of robbery was not known.

HIS DINNER CLOTHES had been tossed carelessly onto a chair—some of them had fallen to the floor.

Found in the room was a clipping of a story by Leslie Gould, New York Journal American financial editor, concerning his deportation case. It was headed: "Serge ruling due soon — but ouster is still far off.

Indicating his tastes, police found three books and a gold record container bearing Sophie Tucker's golden jubilee.

The books were "I Never Grew Up," by Cobina Wright, Jr.; "The View from Pompey's Head," by Hamilton Basso; and "The Pleasures of Chess," by "Assiac," a pseudonym for Heinrich Fraenkel.

Incidents Are Checked

Sealevel, N. C., Jan. 28 (AP)—Cherry Point Marine Air Station officials said today they are investigating reports of two bombing incidents involving military planes and civilian fishing boats. A small oyster boat was sunk Tuesday after a smoke bomb struck it. Its operator was rescued. The skipper of a fishing boat said yesterday a bomb was dropped near his craft in Pamlico Sound yesterday. Both incidents occurred near a marine bombing target range on the mainland.

Increase in Apple Market Predicted by Food Official

An increasing market for apples for processed foods was predicted by W. A. Brittin of the Beech-Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, in a talk Thursday afternoon at the Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticulture Society in Kingston.

The three-day meeting closes early this afternoon, and has been described by society officers as one of the best attended meetings held by the society in eastern New York state. A record number of commercial exhibitors, 64, had displays in the drill room and garage of the state armory on Manor avenue.

BRITTIN LOOKED to the increasing birth rate and the increasing number of aged persons as a potential market for strained and "junior" foods. He estimated that more than $200,000,000 was spent in America in 1954 for these processed foods. Approximately 2,000,000 bushels of apples will go into production of infant foods during the current apple season, he said.

Other talks on Thursday included a report by Clyde Lewis of the Chazy Orchards on his experiences in marketing apples in bags. At the Horticultural Society meetings at Rochester and Kingston in 1950, a preliminary report advocated using a combination bag and bulk display. After trying out those recommendations, Lewis reported this year, he found "the increase in sales was almost astonishing."

RESULTS OF RECENT apple fungicide tests in the Hudson Valley were reported by D. H. Palmiter of the Poughkeepsie laboratory, and studies on saving money by using a tractor lift in handling apples at picking time without bruising were discussed by George B. Woodward.

Daniel Carey, newly appointed commissioner of agriculture and market for New York state, was unable to be present at Thursday's session as scheduled, but he was represented by James G. Lyons, assistant to the commissioner. Other state officials present were Dr. Persia Campbell, special assistant to Governor Hariman on consumer problems; Spencer Duncan, assistant director of markets, and Joseph Firth, market investigator for the state department of agriculture.

U. S. Notifies Relatives Travel to Red China Banned

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has notified relatives the government has reached "the reluctant conclusion" it must forbid their travel to Communist China to visit imprisoned Americans.

A State Department announcement yesterday said the notifications went out through the air force. The department released the text of a letter from Dulles to the relatives of 17 imprisoned Americans—15 airmen and two civilian employes of the army.

DULLES' LETTER, identical in each case, declared the Chinese Communists could best demonstrate their concern for the relatives' peace of mind "only by releasing those they hold."

"The increasingly belligerent attitude and actions of the Chinese Communists in recent days," Dulles wrote, "have forced this government to the reluctant conclusion that it would be imprudent for the time being to issue passports valid for travel to Communist China to any American citizens."

THE CHINESE REDS had offered to let the relatives visit the men. The offer was made through Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, when he made his thus far unsuccessful mission to Peiping seeking the prisoners' release. The Chinese Communists have imprisoned the men as "spies."

Dulles said yesterday's decision followed "careful deliberation." He said it was based on "the belief that it is in the best interests of our nation."

PERMITTING the relatives to go to Red China might give Red China further opportunity to "provoke our nation and strain its patience further," Dulles said.

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer who previously had said the department had received three requests for information on how to apply for a passport to Red China, declined to say whether any more have come in from relatives.

No passport has been validated for travel to China since the Communists took over in 1949. Dulles' formal notification had been expected. Official sources had given strong indications that the United States would not abandon its opposition to any sort of diplomatic relations with the Chinese Communists.

One Bid Only Is Received

Only one bid was received yesterday by the Kingston Housing Authority for the residence at 72 Ann street which had been advertised for removal as the first step in the clearance program which will ultimately raze the entire block bounded by Ann, East Pierpont, Chambers and Meadow streets.

George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the Authority said the bid which was received contained so many stipulations and conditions that he doubted if it could be accepted. The bidder, whose name and bid was not disclosed, submitted a bid for removal of the house but conditioned it with the qualification that in the event the house was not removed, it might be demolished and the materials sold.

Bids were requested for removal of the house from the site intact.

THE BIDDER, however, is being given further consideration and Yerry stated that negotiations were under way with the bidder to learn whether some of the stipulations submitted by him could be eliminated and his bid accepted.

In the event this is not accomplished, Yerry said, the house would be included in a contract to demolish the buildings on the entire block and it was expected that bids for demolishing the buildings would be sought about February 10.

UNDER REGULATIONS governing the removal proceedings th Housing Authority may dispose of the site after the present buildings have been razed and the site may be sold either for park purposes or for industrial use but it may not be used for home sites. Its closeness to railroad facilities, water facilities and other public utilities would make the site ideal for industrial purposes, it was said.

There was some disappointment yesterday when bids were opened when it was found only one bid was made for the house. During the two days the house was open for inspection 22 persons visited it and it was expected there would be several bids submitted. The house was formerly the property of Michael J. and Ruth J. Augustine and was in such good condition that the Housing Authority felt it was worth moving from the site and sought bids for that purpose.

Masses Arranged For Father Fagan In Area Churches

A triduum of solemn requiem Masses is scheduled next week in the New Paltz area for the Rev. George B. Fagan, 57, who died Wednesday in St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, it was announced today by the Rev. Father Mahoney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz, where the deceased priest served as pastor for 10 years.

Father Fagan's funeral is scheduled Saturday, with a solemn Mass of requiem at 10:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Church Waverly Place and Avenue of the Americas, New York, where His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman will preside. Burial is to be in Gate of Heaven Cemetery.

Schedule for the triduum is:

Monday, 9 a. m., at St. Charles Church, Gardiner; Tuesday, 9 a. m., Mass at Lady of Fatima Chapel, Plattekill; Wednesday, 9 a. m., Mass at St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz.

It is expected that many friends in this area, who looked on Father Fagan as a great spiritual leader, will attend the tridium, or one of the Masses in the various churches.

Father Fagan, pastor of the Roman Catholic Mission of Our Lady of the Rosary, 7 State street, New York, at the time of his death, also served at St. Joseph's parish in New York as well as in New Paltz, and at St. Mary's Church, this city, where he was assigned as a curate after his ordination on June 10, 1922.

Stuyvesant Blaze Damage Slight

A fire which appeared to have started in a storage room basket on the first floor of the Stuyvesant Hotel, was checked before causing serious damage last night.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said 107 guests in the hotel were alerted to stand by as firemen checked the fire, but evacuation of the building was unnecessary.

Soiled linen and an upholstered bench cover were damaged in the blaze, which caused considerable smoke in the building. There was no water damage. The small room, or closet, is in the rear of the building near the kitchen.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT from Wiltwyck and Central stations and Wicks Engine Company answered the call at 11:45 p. m. Two hose lines were laid but only one, a 1½-inch line, was used.

A call at 3:35 a. m., today to Hamburger Paradise, 19 St. James street, was for a fire in a stock pot of meat which had been left over a gas burner. The burning meat caused heavy smoke, but the fire caused no damage other than to the meat and pot. It was quenched with a CO2 extinguisher.

A call at 2:30 p. m. yesterday was for a brush fire in Waters' woods, and another at 5 p. m., was for a brush fire off Chapel street.

Resolution Is Forced

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP) — Democrats today forced through the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee a resolution calling on the Atomic Energy Commission to cancel the Dixon-Yates power contract.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 28 (AP) — The stock market advanced today with steels and aircrafts providing the bulk of the strength.

Actually the list displayed a lot of irregularity in its overall move ahead with many lower sections in evidence.

The best gains were in a range of 1 to around 4 points higher. Losses with few exceptions were small.

Trading was at a moderate pace well below the three and a half million shares traded in yesterday's higher market.

Bethlehem Steel, which fell 3¾ yesterday in disappointment when a split proposal failed to materialize, was up between 1 and 2 points today. Other steels were modestly higher.

Wide Areas of East Hit By Cold; South Shivers

(By The Associated Press)

A late January cold wave engulfed wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today and there was no indication of immediate relief.

Snow, sub-zero temperatures and strong winds were in prospect for the midwest, hardest hit by the coldest weather of the winter season.

THE ARCTIC AIR swept into the east from the snow-covered mid-continent bringing the coldest weather of the season to many sections. It also was wintry weather in most of the south as temperatures dropped to below or near freezing all the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

It was colder in some parts of New York state than in the midwest where temperatures were not as low today as yesterday morning when they tumbled to -36 in northern Minnesota. However, they were far below zero in most of the northern sections of the north central region.

NORTHERN NEW YORK state got the full blast of the icy air with 38 below at Saranac Lake and 23 below in Watertown. There also were sub-zero readings in parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Washington shivered in 12 degree readings, the lowest of the winter season, while the 14 at Newark, N. J., also was the low for the year.

In the south, it was 14 at Richmond, Va.; 17 at Knoxville; 25 at Atlanta and 34 in Mobile, Ala.

Helicopters Burn, 6 Die

Stuttgart, Germany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Two U. S. Army helicopters on a training exercise crashed and burned last night within 25 minutes of each other, killing both 3-man crews. The helicopters crashed about 500 yards apart while trying to land on the side of a small hill six miles north of Stuttgart, an army spokesman said. The craft, H19s attached to the 7th Corps at nearby Nellingen, can carry six to eight passengers and three crewmen. Cause of the crashes has not been established. Names of the six crewmen were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Local Temperature Was 8 Above Zero

Sub-zero temperatures were predicted for the region yesterday, but the mercury failed to make it in the city.

The city engineer's office reported a low of eight degrees above zero at 7:45 a. m., today and that was the coldest, to date, this winter. The next lowest was nine a week ago.

Weather men expected temperatures of from five to 10 below zero in the area. Nothern and western counties were hit with severe weather, but it was mild here by comparison.

A low of seven degrees above zero was reported at Brown's Station in the Ashokan reservoir area, and less official reports said the mercury had hit from five above to zero elsewhere in the county.

The sources said Nehru would "take the earliest opportunity" to call on Eden in London. The Indian premier suggested to newsmen at the New Delhi airport today that the Formosa crisis might push purely commonwealth problems into the background at the prime ministers' meeting, which opens Monday.

Penny Stocks Are Target in Drive On Transfer Tax

Albany, Jan. 27—Brokerage houses specializing in so-called "penny stocks" are the target of a state stock transfer tax enforcement drive, it was disclosed Thursday.

Taxation and Finance Commissioner George M. Bragalini said he expected the state would recover "substantial sums" of revenue as a result of special audits currently being conducted.

A SQUAD of transfer tax examiners has been assigned to the task of checking accounts of a large number of brokers dealing primarily in unlisted securities selling at nominal prices. The minimum tax is one cent on a share. Rates range up to four cents.

Commissioner Bragalini said a preliminary inquiry indicated that "some of these brokers are not meetng their full liability on the state's stock transfer tax."

HE SAID audits already initiated would be pursued to their completion and that tax examination of additional brokerage firms, most of them in New York city, was planned to insure full compliance with the stock transfer tax law and regulations.

Commissioner Bragalini said that examining personnel will also continue to conduct regular examinations of all other sources from which the stock transfer tax is derived.

THE STOCK transfer tax is an important source of state revenue. Estimated to yield $24 million in the present fiscal year, collections in the first nine months of the fiscal period have already exceeded $28 million.

Tax examiners conducting the current drive are from the Stock Transfer Tax Section of the State Tax Department's New York office at 80 Centre street.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Remember when the intercollegiate rowing races used to be run in June on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie. Good weather used to bring thousands of folks down there. My father never missed the boat races if the weather was nice and I remember some of the spots we used to pick to watch them. Sometimes we would be right in back of the Cornell boat house and we would be all for Cornell. Sometimes we walked the track up the big hill to get nearer the bridge, sometimes we paid 25 cents for a chair or rocker on somebody's porch for a good view. Of course, the house had to be high enough so that the observation train did not come between us and the river. Now that is all in the past, for the races are no longer held at Poughkeepsie.

Harry Friedman of Kingston is one man who is well versed in the history of those races and knew many of the coaches personally. In 1915 he published the race programs for the famous regattas and often had to call at each boat house to secure and compile the statistics from the coach and manager. According to Mr. Friedman's observation, the crews were given the most rigid training and race day usually found the oarsmen in tip-top shape. Mr. Friedman knew the famous Charles Courtney, better known to Cornell students and alumni of that day, as the "Old Man" or "Pop" and it is said, Courtney was the most feared by all the rowing coaches. It was through his strict discipline and technique, that the great Cornell crews of that era were developed to thrill folks watching the intercollegiate rowing fans along the Hudson. It is said that the most popular oarsman trained by "Pop" Courtney was John L. Collyer, of Chelsea, who stroked his boats and won all races. According to a letter Mr. Friedman showed me, written in a friendly, do you remember spirit, about the old boat races, Mr. Collyer is now president of the board of the B. F. Goodrich Co., of Akron, O. No doubt local folks remember hearing about Courtney and also seeing John L. Collyer in his shell on the river.

Jim Ten Eyck of Syracuse also was mentioned as being a great instructor of freshman crews. He said that year in and year out Ten Eyck's yearlings would lead all contenders and none could surpass their achievements. No doubt, as many of us stood along the Hudson river banks and applauded as the winning teams came in, it was largely through the efforts of those two men that such success, so important then, was achieved.

According to Mr. Friedman, the intercollegiate rowing on a grand scale has now been transferred from the Hudson river waters to Syracuse. Little is heard of it down around this way. I am sure Mr. Friedman will be glad to talk to any folks who had a close interest to the Poughkeepsie regatta of those days, especially anyone who knew Charles Courtney, Jim Ten Eyck or John L. Collyer. I like boat races because one can witness them from so many angles, whether they be motorboat or rowing type. Nothing nicer than spending a warm afternoon along the river watching such excitement.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 27—An article in Reader's Digest for January by J. D. Ratcliff causes me to write on a subject which has tempted me for some time.

AFTER 40 YEARS, during which I have studied company earnings, I am convinced that a definite relationship exists between the earnings of a corporation and the health of its officials. Most cases which I have studied to ascertain the reason for a company's declining business in a growing industry have shown the answer to be in the failing health of the president or of the sales manager or of some other top official!

A man may be able to go to the office each day and put in his eight hours; he may answer his mail and preside at all required meetings; but he may have no pep or zest for doing any extra work. Companies which do not go ahead by extending their lines or their territories are going backward. This is very likely to be true of a company whose top official is not in A-1 health.

ACCORDING TO the abovementioned article, the basic cause of most illness is stress and strain. The doctors talk about bacteria, viruses, high blood pressure, weak hearts, etc.; but the real cause is worry. The average businessman must drive himself all day and go out with his wife and associates every night. The result is that without sleeping pills and aspirin many concerns would be obliged to close up.

Investors ask me how is it that the stock of one concern listed on the big board has been constantly climbing each month the past year, while that of another in the same industry has not moved a point. The answer could probably be found by any doctor permitted to diagnose the head men. Some day, company directors who now spend so freely for financial audits will be willing to submit to their stockholders annual health reports on all their officials. I forecast that this will be the day when the stocks of many so-called "sleeping companies" will zoom upward.

OF COURSE, I believe in the work of accountants; but has not much of this work become so routine and late that neither directors nor stockholders give much thought to audits? As a result, accountants are coming to be classed as "morticians." Formal audits can become mere "autopsies." I forecast that a great change is coming in this connection.

I believe in the importance of studying figures; but I am sure that the condition of the "two-legged" figures of a management are far more important to the stockholders than the "mathematical" figures. Some day there will be a great awakening along these lines. Men will be retired and pensioned according to their physical condition, rather than simply according to their age. Incidentally, I believe President Eisenhower's interest in better health could result in greater earnings for most companies and better wages for many employes.

BUT THE PRESIDENT should not be content to talk about health. Why not go to the root of the difficulty and talk about "stress," as does the author of this Reader's Digest article? Instead of spending billions of dollars opening new hospitals, the President could solve the problem by closing scores of useless bureaus and commissions. These are primarily the cause of the stress and worry which are bringing about the breakdown of executives, foremen, and especially employes being paid by "piece work."

Did you ever think why Jesus has been called "The Great Physician?" Have you noticed how very little is written in the Bible about illnesses? Very few accounts of Jesus' followers indicate that they died of any disease. Certainly—if they were not martyred— they lived to a very old age. The answer may be that they followed Jesus' constant teaching not to be too anxious for the things which the world seeks. Jesus taught that stress and work are futile. Even 1,500 years before that, Moses gave some good health advice in the Tenth Commandment. See Exodus, Chapter 20, Verse 17.

Fishermen Given Up As Lost in Arctic

Reykjavik, Iceland, Jan. 28 (AP)—Forty British fishermen, missing off Iceland's stormy coast, have been given up as victims of the ship-sinking "black frost." Arctic storms also were believed to have claimed the lives of eight Icelandic sailors.

The Britons have not been heard from since their two trawlers, out of Hull, England, sent out distress signals off Iceland's North Cape Wednesday night. Authorities abandoned hope for them last night after an air and surface search of the stormy seas.

The Icelanders were crewmen of another trawler which grounded Wednesday off the island's northwest coast and broke up. Reports from the scene said 26 other crewmen were rescued.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Remember when the intercollegiate rowing races used to be run in June on the Hudson at Poughkeepsie. Good weather used to bring thousands of folks down there. My father never missed the boat races if the weather was nice and I remember some of the spots we used to pick to watch them. Sometimes we would be right in back of the Cornell boat house and we would be all for Cornell. Sometimes we walked the track up the big hill to get nearer the bridge, sometimes we paid 25 cents for a chair or rocker on somebody's porch for a good view. Of course, the house had to be high enough so that the observation train did not come between us and the river. Now that is all in the past, for the races are no longer held at Poughkeepsie.

Harry Friedman of Kingston is one man who is well versed in the history of those races and knew many of the coaches personally. In 1915 he published the race programs for the famous regattas and often had to call at each boat house to secure and compile the statistics from the coach and manager. According to Mr. Friedman's observation, the crews were given the most rigid training and race day usually found the oarsmen in tip-top shape. Mr. Friedman knew the famous Charles Courtney, better known to Cornell students and alumni of that day, as the "Old Man" or "Pop" and it is said, Courtney was the most feared by all the rowing coaches. It was through his strict discipline and technique, that the great Cornell crews of that era were developed to thrill folks watching the intercollegiate rowing fans along the Hudson. It is said that the most popular oarsman trained by "Pop" Courtney was John L. Collyer, of Chelsea, who stroked his boats and won all races. According to a letter Mr. Friedman showed me, written in a friendly, do you remember spirit, about the old boat races, Mr. Collyer is now president of the board of the B. F. Goodrich Co., of Akron, O. No doubt local folks remember hearing about Courtney and also seeing John L. Collyer in his shell on the river.

Jim Ten Eyck of Syracuse also was mentioned as being a great instructor of freshman crews. He said that year in and year out Ten Eyck's yearlings would lead all contenders and none could surpass their achievements. No doubt, as many of us stood along the Hudson river banks and applauded as the winning teams came in, it was largely through the efforts of those two men that such success, so important then, was achieved.

According to Mr. Friedman, the intercollegiate rowing on a grand scale has now been transferred from the Hudson river waters to Syracuse. Little is heard of it down around this way. I am sure Mr. Friedman will be glad to talk to any folks who had a close interest to the Poughkeepsie regatta of those days, especially anyone who knew Charles Courtney, Jim Ten Eyck or John L. Collyer. I like boat races because one can witness them from so many angles, whether they be motorboat or rowing type. Nothing nicer than spending a warm afternoon along the river watching such excitement.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 27—An article in Reader's Digest for January by J. D. Ratcliff causes me to write on a subject which has tempted me for some time.

AFTER 40 YEARS, during which I have studied company earnings, I am convinced that a definite relationship exists between the earnings of a corporation and the health of its officials. Most cases which I have studied to ascertain the reason for a company's declining business in a growing industry have shown the answer to be in the failing health of the president or of the sales manager or of some other top official!

A man may be able to go to the office each day and put in his eight hours; he may answer his mail and preside at all required meetings; but he may have no pep or zest for doing any extra work. Companies which do not go ahead by extending their lines or their territories are going backward. This is very likely to be true of a company whose top official is not in A-1 health.

ACCORDING TO the above-mentioned article, the basic cause of most illness is stress and strain. The doctors talk about bacteria, viruses, high blood pressure, weak hearts, etc.; but the real cause is worry. The average businessman must drive himself all day and go out with his wife and associates every night. The result is that without sleeping pills and aspirin many concerns would be obliged to close up.

Investors ask me how is it that the stock of one concern listed on the big board has been constantly climbing each month the past year, while that of another in the same industry has not moved a point. The answer could probably be found by any doctor permitted to diagnose the head men. Some day, company directors who now spend so freely for financial audits will be willing to submit to their stockholders annual health reports on all their officials. I forecast that this will be the day when the stocks of many so-called "sleeping companies" will zoom upward.

OF COURSE, I believe in the work of accountants; but has not much of this work become so routine and late that neither directors nor stockholders give much thought to audits? As a result, accountants are coming to be classed as "morticians." Formal audits can become mere "autopsies." I forecast that a great change is coming in this connection.

I believe in the importance of studying figures; but I am sure that the condition of the "two-legged" figures of a management are far more important to the stockholders than the "mathematical" figures. Some day there will be a great awakening along these lines. Men will be retired and pensioned according to their physical condition, rather than simply according to their age. Incidentally, I believe President Eisenhower's interest in better health could result in greater earnings for most companies and better wages for many employes.

BUT THE PRESIDENT should not be content to talk about health. Why not go to the root of the difficulty and talk about "stress," as does the author of this Reader's Digest article? Instead of spending billions of dollars opening new hospitals, the President could solve the problem by closing scores of useless bureaus and commissions. These are primarily the cause of the stress and worry which are bringing about the breakdown of executives, foremen, and especially employes being paid by "piece work."

Did you ever think why Jesus has been called "The Great Physician?" Have you noticed how very little is written in the Bible about illnesses? Very few accounts of Jesus' followers indicate that they died of any disease. Certainly—if they were not martyred— they lived to a very old age. The answer may be that they followed Jesus' constant teaching not to be too anxious for the things which the world seeks. Jesus taught that stress and work are futile. Even 1,500 years before that, Moses gave some good health advice in the Tenth Commandment. See Exodus, Chapter 20, Verse 17.

East Haven, Conn. (AP)—Police found gold in a parking meter—a century-old $2.50 gold piece. They returned it to a woman who said it belonged to her eight-year-old son. She had dropped it in the meter by mistake.

Fishermen Given Up As Lost in Arctic

Reykjavik, Iceland, Jan. 28 (AP)—Forty British fishermen, missing off Iceland's stormy coast, have been given up as victims of the ship-sinking "black frost." Arctic storms also were believed to have claimed the lives of eight Icelandic sailors.

The Britons have not been heard from since their two trawlers, out of Hull, England, sent out distress signals off Iceland's North Cape Wednesday night. Authorities abandoned hope for them last night after an air and surface search of the stormy seas.

The Icelanders were crewmen of another trawler which grounded Wednesday off the island's northwest coast and broke up. Reports from the scene said 26 other crewmen were rescued.

Styling that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

The styling spotlight blazes down on a low-cost car this year—for the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the show from the high-priced cars with its subtle sweep of line, the brilliant sophistication of its European-type grille, the bold rake of its deep-curved windshield.

And there's even more excitement in the way it drives—the velvety comfort of Glide-Ride front suspension and outrigger rear springs, the handling ease of Ball-Race steering, the flashing performance of the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" engine or the two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. All this—plus the extra-cost options of Powerglide or Overdrive and a full range of power assists. Try a 1955 Chevrolet—now—and you'll know why it is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars.

A BITTER TWIST

The Chinese Communists gave a bitter twist to their false imprisonment of American airmen when they offered to let the fliers' relatives visit them in Red China.

It was characteristic of the Communists that they should first commit a cruel, inhuman and illegal act and then try to cloak it with a seemingly humane gesture designed to put a good face on the matter before a critical world.

In this instance, the Reds may well have realized what a tantalizing dilemma this would pose for parents, wives and sweethearts of the imprisoned men. Thus it could be an exquisite piece of added torture.

Naturally, all things being equal, these families would dearly like to see their loved ones. But many questions intervene.

So grave are these that in the initial response only three of the families involved expressed a wish to accept the Communist invitation.

The tremendous cost of the trip is one obstacle, even though the American Red Cross quickly indicated willingness to help financially.

Another is the matter of the visitors' safety. UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold says he believes they could travel without fear in Communist China. Presumably he bases this confidence on impressions gained in his own recent visit to Premier Chou En-lai.

The United States government, however, does not view the prospect so cheerfully. State Department officials note that since we do not have diplomatic relations with Red China, we cannot offer prospective visitors the normal passport protections. Some concern is natural in such circumstances, despite Hammarskjold's assurances and the anticipated pressures of world public opinion.

A third factor which seems to weigh strongly with the relatives of the captive Americans is their conviction that the visit would do little or nothing toward accomplishing their release from prison. On the other hand, being together even for a brief time would surely multiply the feelings of frustration on both sides at the thought of perhaps long continued captivity.

If the great proportion of the fliers' families stand by their intention, in the light of these obstacles, not to go to Red China, then American propaganda agencies should make clear to the world the real basis for their decision.

We can anticipate the Reds trying to tell the world that both the U. S. government and the men's relatives are so callous they had no interest in the Chinese invitation. We don't want them getting away with such crude stuff as that. Nor do we want the world to forget that the best thing the Communists could do for these American families is to release men whom they have no right to be holding in prison at all.

MUST THEY STAY OUT?

Can a town or other local subdivision bar non-residents from its bathing beach, golf course or other recreation facilities? Westchester County has now, through its Board of Supervisors, announced that persons outside the county will be excluded from its public golf course. The reason is that the population of New York City has been coming out in swarms, leaving no room for the county's inhabitants. Presumably future users will be required to show proof that they are bona fide residents.

Perhaps a county can do this. Cities and towns might have legal trouble if, paying taxes to the county, they tried to exclude other county dwellers. As to the merits of the case, there is good argument on both sides. It does seem a pity, however, if recreation facilities existing next door to a large city and its inhabitants, who may need them very badly, are made forbidden ground to them.

THE CENTER IS ASIA

When a typhoon appears, there is plenty of wind and rain and high waves everywhere in the region, but the core, the hard-hitting, destroying core is a churning mass of power in the center. That today is Asia. And that as far back as the early 1920's was Asia.

Between World War I, which destroyed the concept of European imperialism, and World War II, which reduced Western Europe to dependence on the United States and elevated the Soviet Universal State to its present primary position, Asia has held the center of the historic stage. It was in Asia and not in Europe that events were occurring which would determine the facade of the remaining decades of the Twentieth Century.

The great Students Movement in China in 1919, the rise of Sun Yat-sen and Chiang Kai-shek, the training of Asiatic revolutionists in Canton under Michael Borodin and the establishment of the Sun Yat-sen University in Moscow; the emergence of Gandhi and then of Nehru; the independence of India and Indonesia and the Communist revolutions in China, Indochina, and Korea; the resubordination of Tibet to Peking and the uprisings in Malaya and Burma—these are clinical symptoms of the boiling over of anger and even revenge among the pigmented peoples of Asia and Africa against the so-called White Man—the Westerner, the Western Christian who for centuries had asserted a superiority over the Asiatic which the Asiatic never acknowledged.

Americans are related by language, tradition and personal history to European countries. Great Britain, Ireland, France and Germany, in particular, hold memories of origin, remote or near, for many Americans. More recent comers to this country are related to the peoples of Southern and Eastern Europe, Italy and Greece, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, etc. The pull of sentiment is across the Atlantic. Asiatic peoples have contributed only a small fragment of our population and little to our history.

Therefore, it was understandable if not logical that during the years of World War II and immediately following, the tendency of policy has been Europe first. If General Douglas MacArthur was forgotten during his heroic war in the Pacific, it was because the preservation of Great Britain seemed infinitely more important to large numbers of Americans. The appeal of Winston Churchill was more moving that the appeal of Meiling Soong. If Chiang Kai-shek was deprived of weapons, it was because the defeat of Hitler seemed more pressing at the time. And while some Americans realized the peril of the Communist conquest of China and the adjacent countries, a sense of outrage cemented the opposition to the Nazi.

No matter how much we devoted ourselves to Europe, Asia kept asserting itself. Japan and Soviet Russia understood the Asiatic situation better than any Western power. It was a race between them for control, at any rate, of East Asia. Japan began in 1915, when the Twenty-One Demands were made on China. From then until the surrender on the "Missouri," Japan's aim was to hold and possess Manchuria as a bulwark against Soviet Russia. The Japanese war against China, which commenced on September 18, 1931, was really a war against the development of the Soviet Universal State in Asia. Russia, Czarist and Soviet, devoted itself to the conquest of China.

Japan might have been successful were it not for the intervention of the United States, this country standing between Japan and China. The result has been that what we prevented Japan from doing, we made it possible for Soviet Russia to do. It was the conquest of China that made the Soviet Universal State the strong group of powers whose direction is in the Kremlin. The United States was busy with the Berlin Airlift which Soviet Russia, recognizing the American preoccupation with Europe, provoked as a screen for this conquest. Today, errors made between 1946 and 1949 have reached to the Indian Ocean and the United States is forced to accept responsibility for the island of Formosa.

If Formosa goes, how shall we hold the line which begins at Japan and ends in Australia and New Zealand? If that line is worth holding, it is necessary to fight for every island in it, as MacArthur did when he returned from Australia to the Philippines then on to Japan. If that line falls, the United States will be diplomatically as isolated as no America Firster dreamed possible in 1940.

GROUP ACTIVITIES HELP OLDER FOLKS

For a long time we have known that physicians estimate that as many as half their patients have physical ailments that are entirely or partly caused by emotional disturbances but it is only in the last few years that we have realized how large a part emotional stress may play in the ailments of older people. Much of this illness can be traced to the lack of a feeling that one's world and one's self is really worthwhile. Mr. Jerome Kaplan in "Geriatrics" (study of the aging) has pointed out that this feeling can often be helped by the joining and participation in some social group. He gives us the following examples from his own experience as a group work consultant in Minneapolis.

One woman, 74, living in a rooming house under board-and-room arrangements, was completely distinterested in her personal appearance. Her bladder control was described as "quite poor." Within six months after becoming a member of the Fellowship Society Club, she not only was clean and tidy in dress but had regained complete control of her body functions.

A man, 77, was making weekly visits to his doctor. Only two months after being persuaded to join the Senior Age Club, he decided that it was more fun to visit his club than call on his physician.

Another 66-year-old man was on the verge of being put into an institution, according to his personal physician and family. Within a few months he had changed from a contributing member of society to a liability because he had had to retire from his job having reached the age limit and so felt himself worthless. He was asked to join in the activities of a group of retired business and professional men and these Old Guards gave him renewed zeal for the present and future.

One man of 86 was daily going down hill until a group activity was organized in the home for the aged where he was living. From a state of unkempt appearance and muttering about how everyone was picking on him, he returned to a poised and confident attitude in only two months.

"In summary, many persons who have retired, either on compulsory or voluntary basis, appear to go down hill rapidly in social consciousness, physical appearance, or emotional stability for lack of some meaning in their everyday life. Yet it has been found that many old adults have been able to stave off this deterioration and saved themselves being committed to a mental institution because of the stimulation provided through senior adult clubs and other types of group living."

As you know, the number of our aging population is continually increasing and it is in all our interests and in the interests of society as a whole that we keep our senior population well and happy by every means possible.

Could Be Getting in Over His Head

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — When the pretty new Georgia congresswoman, Mrs. Iris Blitch, was formally introduced to the Democratic caucus the other day, one representative whispered loudly, "Mrs. Blitch—can she pitch?"

There was more truth in this question than poetry.

For in the Georgia Democratic primary last year, the new congresswoman defeated Rep. W. M. (Don) Wheeler, who has been a star pitcher for the Democrats in their annual baseball game with the Republicans. Representative Wheeler has been mainly responsible for a string of six consecutive Democratic victories. Last year he pitched a no-hit, no-run game.

REP. CARL ALBERT (D., Okla.) is being kidded by his friends in the House of Representatives for being the first majority whip (assistant leader) who has to take the floor at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Representative Albert is the father of a two-month-old baby, David Ernest, and it is usually the father's chore to give the youngster his 2 a. m. feeding. After Whip Albert's election to succeed Rep. Percy Priest (D., Tenn.), who becomes chairman of the Commerce Committee, it was reported that:

"A sleepy-eyed Representative Albert arose to receive the acclamation of his colleagues. He had been on the floor most of the night before, pacing up and down with his new baby."

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL Committee Chairman Leonard Hall will soon announce a series of changes in his headquarters staff to fill the vacancy caused by the election of his former executive director, A. D. Baumhart, Jr., as congressman from Ohio's 13th District.

The man slated to become GOP executive director is Chauncey Robbins of Maine. Since last March 1, Mr. Robbins has been serving as director of personnel at Republican headquarters in Washington. In this job he has been in charge of GOP patronage appointments as assistant to the chairman.

The new executive director served as secretary to the national chairman in 1937-38. He first came to Washington in 1932 as an assistant clerk on the Senate Appropriations Committee. He was legislative assistant to former Senator Hale (R., Me.) from 1933 to 1937.

Mr. Robbins served in the Navy in World War 2 and commanded a destroyer escort at Anzio.

TOM MECHLING, the bold young newspaperman, and Democratic David who twice tried to win election to the U. S. Senate from Nevada, and twice lost, has given up politics.

The Democratic machine, built up by the late Sen. Pat McCarran, was just too much of a Goliath for Mechling to beat. Knowing when he was licked, he moved to San Francisco to do public relations work.

In his new job, however, young Mechling has a product which looks like a winner. It is orange and grapefruit juice concentrated into dry crystals by evaporation of the water through vacuum boiling of the natural juice.

The crystals will be sold in cans. Open a can, pour out the crystals, add water, stir, and you have juice again. The product will be competitive with concentrates and frozen juices.

IN HIS FIRST letter to constituents since the new Congress convened, Rep. Sidney R. Yates Chicago Democrat, drew on an old story about Republican President Calvin Coolidge to picture the situation in Washington today.

According to this story, President Coolidge fell asleep one morning during a rather boring meeting of his cabinet. He awoke with a start a few moments later to find all the secretaries sitting silently around the table and staring at him, not wishing to disturb the presidential cat nap. Mr. Coolidge looked at each one of his cabinet members in turn, then smiled and said, "Tell me—is the country still here?"

Reported Representative Yates: "After traveling to Washington and talking to many of the representatives who have moved in from all parts of our nation for the opening of the 84th Congress I can report that the country is still here."

FRESHMAN Congresswoman Coya Knutson (D., Minn.) put out Vol. 1, No. 1 of her newsletter to constituents just two days after taking the oath of office. She calls it "Coya's Capitol Chat."

Here are two of her first impressions:

"A bit of drama before the President's State of the Union message — gallery guests were frisked for guns by some 300 Capitol police.

"The House chamber looked like a huge Hollywood movie set with flashing cameras, bright lights and equipment.

George Speech Is Hailed as Address of Statesmanship Seldom Equaled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 28—Seldom in the history of the United States Senate has there been an address of statesmanship comparable to that delivered by Sen. Walter George, of Georgia, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, as he upheld President Eisenhower's request for unrestricted authority to use the armed forces to defend Formosa and the American defense line in the Far East.

In contrast to the petty quibbles of some of his colleagues and the narrow interpretations which they interjected to hamstring the American armed forces if they should be attacked from the small islands off the coast of China, the Georgia senator made clear in his speech that this is not the time to give the enemy a privileged sanctuary of retreat, as was the case in Korea.

SUCH AMERICANISM is a thrilling exhibition of the spirit that has governed the nation in all its past crises. It was especially stimulating to hear this doctrine from the lips of this Senator—a veteran in experience in foreign affairs—as he cast aside all partisanship and focused on the central issue.

For, instead of leading to a "preventive war"—which is the smokescreen raised against all proper defense measures whenever it suits critics to use that term to break down American firmness — Senator George showed how the American policy could deter the aggressor, prevent a big war from happening, and insure peace.

"I ASK EACH MAN here," declared Senator George, "if the Congress of the United States is willing to withhold its moral support from the President of the United States under these circumstances, what is your alternative? I ask each man what is his alternative?"

This was a challenging point addressed to the restrictionists—those who would, in effect, notify the enemy that American ships could be fired on and that the American Congress was unwilling to vote the authority to fire back.

SENATOR GEORGE'S most telling point—and one that was persuasively presented, too, by Senator Knowland, Republican leader, in the previous day's debate — is that nobody knows from what point Formosa might be attacked and that it is imperative to notify the Red Chinese there would be unrestricted retaliation.

The effectiveness of the resolution is that it tells the whole world America not only will defend Formosa but will not hesitate to bomb the approaches within a radius of several hundred miles if such a step becomes necessary to protect American ships and military installations.

THE SAME OLD CRY— which has been heard again and again in instances of appeasement or in episodes in which there has been a fateful hesitation—has been repeated this week in the Senate. It is that the passage of the resolution might bring on war. Risks are always present in the evolution of international policy, but an unwillingness to make a clear statement of what counter-force will be brought to bear against an attacking force can only lead, as it has many times before, to an outbreak of a major war. The "London Daily Mail" in an editorial says that such a clear warning as President Eisenhower can give by means of the joint resolution might—if issued before 1914 and 1939—have prevented two world wars.

More and more members of the Senate have begun to see the joint resolution not as a narrow legalistic instrument of international policy but as a pronouncement on a moral issue—to make the aggressors respect the neutrality of Formosa. For Formosa today has not been given to the regime on the mainland because it has violated international obligations, including flagrant act of aggression in Korea.

THE CHIANG KAI-SHEK government is still the recognized government of China so far as the United States is concerned. Under international law, any request for military help from a recognized government is granted in accord with tradition and custom.

So the resolution now before Congress meets all the requirements of international law and at the same time confirms the right of the United States to protect its military position in the Far East. Some people in the Senate have forgotten that it was from Formosa that the Japanese planes launched their attack which caused our defeat in the Philippines in 1942. Had America been able to dominate the air a few hundred miles around Formosa, the surrender at Bataan would never have occurred.

THE PRESIDENT has wisely assured Congress that he alone, as commander-in-chief, will make the decision as to when measures of retaliation against an attacking force will be ordered. For it will be within his power to order American forces to repel attack and also to go as far out as necessary in pursuit of enemy planes. Had the United States forces been given that right, they would have won a victory in Korea.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

On the night of Dec. 20, 1951, Josephine Baker, a kootch dancer who was born in St. Louis but acquired French nationality by marriage, kicked up a nasty row in the Stork Club, New York, on a false pretense that she had been snubbed by the waiters because she was a Negro. Noisy publicity ensued. Sherman Billingsley, the owner of the Stork, and Walter Winchell, his personal friend, said the whole affair was planned and executed as a propaganda coup.

The Baker woman subsequently made print with derogatory cracks about the United States. Soon after this uproar she landed in Buenos Aires where she really did tee off on the land of her birth. She "contributed" six articles to Juan Peron's anti-American paper, "Critica." In an "interview" with Peron's press, she said she had seen many Negroes lynched in this "land of barbarity." She thanked God for "making men like Peron."

Later that night she went to a steakhouse operated by the brothers Rubin, one of whom is now seeking a license for a gambling house in Las Vegas, and there sounded off on a local broadcast conducted by a character calling himself Barry Gray. During the harangue, Gray got a phone call from Ed Sullivan, the eminent master of ceremonies of the Sunday night TV gallas. Sullivan expressed sympathy for the Baker woman and was invited to come over and take the air. This he did two nights later, in part as follows:

"I'd like to start off by saying I, as an American, despise communism. I despise any ism contrary to old-fashioned Americanism. No liberal conception of Americanism—I'm talking about old-fashioned Americanism where you get a great thrill in your heart when the Star Spangled Banner goes by and you take off your hat. So I hate anything that's un-American. But of all things that are un-American to me, the gravest affront is character assassination so I despise Walter Winchell for what he has done to Josephine Baker.

"You know they talk of Senator Joe McCarthy as a symbol of character assassination. And he has projected that to a point where it is extremely dangerous. A point where decent men like Federal Judge Tom Murphy are afraid to take public office because of the character assassination that will be practiced on Tom Murphy and his family and his religion."

Murphy already has served as a public officer in the two prosecutions of Alger Hiss and in the performance of other duties of an assistant U. S. attorney. And he was, as Sullivan noted, at that time a public officer on the Federal bench. No whisper of scandal was heard or published about him, except slanted innuendoes in their coverage of the trails published by the New Deal and mock Republican press which fought for Hiss. His religion has never been mentioned except in the ordinary way.

Continuing, Sullivan said: "That's what character assassination amounts to. It means a smearing campaign against which the victim has no defense. It's the big lie repeated over and over again. But long before McCarthy came into this character-assassination racket, Winchell was one of the originators of character assassination.

"Now what he's done to Josephine Baker and which has been corrected here is in the finest tradition of American fair play. What Winchell did to Josephine Baker is an insult to the United States and American Newspaper men.

"He had called her a fascist, he had called her communistic, anti-Semitic and anti-Negro. And there was evidence from the French government that here was one of the great French war heroines. So the thing to me when you put her on was actually a revelation. This is actually a very beloved performer over there (France). Instead of ever once questioning the principle which Josephine Baker was upholding he started an attack on her. He sailed out on this train of absurb accusations and said she had promised Mussolini she would enroll an army of Italians against the Ethiopians."

Gray closed the discussion with a salute which touched off an ovation.

"Miss Baker," he said, "would you show this audience that wonderful face?"

That wonderful face is now legally excluded from the United States by the Department of Immigration and Naturalization. Accordingly when Josephine Baker hit Idlewild Field, New York, recently, in flight from Paris to Mexico City, she was sealed off for four hours until her plane took off.

The same restaurant and its radio interlocutor later gave the privilege of the air to Herman Greenspun, the ex-convict and underworld character from Brooklyn who hit Nevada as press-agent for the Buggsy Siegal mob. Greenspun delivered a vicious attack on the late Senator Pat McCarran. This was character-assassination at its worst, the most brutal harangue ever heard on the American air, with a striking similarity to the foulest broadcasts of Hitler and Goebbels. The audience laughed uproariously when Greenspun dolefully remarked that McCarran had disappointed his hopes by recovering from a heart attack.

Sullivan's greatest previous exploit of this type was his adieu to Frankie Marlow, a gangster, gunman, bootlegger, wife-beater and crap-game racketeer who was knocked off in a routine mob dispute. Marlow was, in Sullivan's published opinion, one of the finest human beings of his time on earth.

A BITTER TWIST

The Chinese Communists gave a bitter twist to their false imprisonment of American airmen when they offered to let the fliers' relatives visit them in Red China.

It was characteristic of the Communists that they should first commit a cruel, inhuman and illegal act and then try to cloak it with a seemingly humane gesture designed to put a good face on the matter before a critical world.

In this instance, the Reds may well have realized what a tantalizing dilemma this would pose for parents, wives and sweethearts of the imprisoned men. Thus it could be an exquisite piece of added torture.

Naturally, all things being equal, these families would dearly like to see their loved ones. But many questions intervene.

So grave are these that in the initial response only three of the families involved expressed a wish to accept the Communist invitation.

The tremendous cost of the trip is one obstacle, even though the American Red Cross quickly indicated willingness to help financially.

Another is the matter of the visitors' safety. UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold says he believes they could travel without fear in Communist China. Presumably he bases this confidence on impressions gained in his own recent visit to Premier Chou En-lai.

The United States government, however, does not view the prospect so cheerfully. State Department officials note that since we do not have diplomatic relations with Red China, we cannot offer prospective visitors the normal passport protections. Some concern is natural in such circumstances, despite Hammarskjold's assurances and the anticipated pressures of world public opinion.

A third factor which seems to weigh strongly with the relatives of the captive Americans is their conviction that the visit would do little or nothing toward accomplishing their release from prison. On the other hand, being together even for a brief time would surely multiply the feelings of frustration on both sides at the thought of perhaps long continued captivity.

If the great proportion of the fliers' families stand by their intention, in the light of these obstacles, not to go to Red China, then American propaganda agencies should make clear to the world the real basis for their decision.

We can anticipate the Reds trying to tell the world that both the U. S. government and the men's relatives are so callous they had no interest in the Chinese invitation. We don't want them getting away with such crude stuff as that. Nor do we want the world to forget that the best thing the Communists could do for these American families is to release men whom they have no right to be holding in prison at all.

MUST THEY STAY OUT?

Can a town or other local subdivision bar non-residents from its bathing beach, golf course or other recreation facilities? Westchester County has now, through its Board of Supervisors, announced that persons outside the county will be excluded from its public golf course. The reason is that the population of New York City has been coming out in swarms, leaving no room for the county's inhabitants. Presumably future users will be required to show proof that they are bona fide residents.

Perhaps a county can do this. Cities and towns might have legal trouble if, paying taxes to the county, they tried to exclude other county dwellers. As to the merits of the case, there is good argument on both sides. It does seem a pity, however, if recreation facilities existing next door to a large city and its inhabitants, who may need them very badly, are made forbidden ground to them.

THE CENTER IS ASIA

When a typhoon appears, there is plenty of wind and rain and high waves everywhere in the region, but the core, the hard-hitting, destroying core is a churning mass of power in the center. That today is Asia. And that as far back as the early 1920's was Asia.

Between World War I, which destroyed the concept of European imperialism, and World War II, which reduced Western Europe to dependence on the United States and elevated the Soviet Universal State to its present primary position, Asia has held the center of the historic stage. It was in Asia and not in Europe that events were occurring which would determine the facade of the remaining decades of the Twentieth Century.

The great Students Movement in China in 1919, the rise of Sun Yat-sen and Chiang Kai-shek, the training of Asiatic revolutionists in Canton under Michael Borodin and the establishment of the Sun Yat-sen University in Moscow; the emergence of Gandhi and then of Nehru; the independence of India and Indonesia and the Communist revolutions in China, Indochina, and Korea; the resubordination of Tibet to Peking and the uprisings in Malaya and Burma—these are clinical symptoms of the boiling over of anger and even revenge among the pigmented peoples of Asia and Africa against the so-called White Man—the Westerner, the Western Christian who for centuries had asserted a superiority over the Asiatic which the Asiatic never acknowledged.

Americans are related by language, tradition and personal history to European countries. Great Britain, Ireland, France and Germany, in particular, hold memories of origin, remote or near, for many Americans. More recent comers to this country are related to the peoples of Southern and Eastern Europe, Italy and Greece, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, etc. The pull of sentiment is across the Atlantic. Asiatic peoples have contributed only a small fragment of our population and little to our history.

Therefore, it was understandable if not logical that during the years of World War II and immediately following, the tendency of policy has been Europe first. If General Douglas MacArthur was forgotten during his heroic war in the Pacific, it was because the preservation of Great Britain seemed infinitely more important to large numbers of Americans. The appeal of Winston Churchill was more moving that the appeal of Meiling Soong. If Chiang Kai-shek was deprived of weapons, it was because the defeat of Hitler seemed more pressing at the time. And while some Americans realized the peril of the Communist conquest of China and the adjacent countries, a sense of outrage cemented the opposition to the Nazi.

No matter how much we devoted ourselves to Europe, Asia kept asserting itself. Japan and Soviet Russia understood the Asiatic situation better than any Western power. It was a race between them for control, at any rate, of East Asia. Japan began in 1915, when the Twenty-One Demands were made on China. From then until the surrender on the "Missouri," Japan's aim was to hold and possess Manchuria as a bulwark against Soviet Russia. The Japanese war against China, which commenced on September 18, 1931, was really a war against the development of the Soviet Universal State in Asia. Russia, Czarist and Soviet, devoted itself to the conquest of China.

Japan might have been successful were it not for the intervention of the United States, this country standing between Japan and China. The result has been that what we prevented Japan from doing, we made it possible for Soviet Russia to do. It was the conquest of China that made the Soviet Universal State the strong group of powers whose direction is in the Kremlin. The United States was busy with the Berlin Airlift which Soviet Russia, recognizing the American preoccupation with Europe, provoked as a screen for this conquest. Today, errors made between 1946 and 1949 have reached to the Indian Ocean and the United States is forced to accept responsibility for the island of Formosa.

If Formosa goes, how shall we hold the line which begins at Japan and ends in Australia and New Zealand? If that line is worth holding, it is necessary to fight for every island in it, as MacArthur did when he returned from Australia to the Philippines then on to Japan. If that line falls, the United States will be diplomatically as isolated as no America Firster dreamed possible in 1940.

GROUP ACTIVITIES HELP OLDER FOLKS

For a long time we have known that physicians estimate that as many as half their patients have physical ailments that are entirely or partly caused by emotional disturbances but it is only in the last few years that we have realized how large a part emotional stress may play in the ailments of older people. Much of this illness can be traced to the lack of a feeling that one's world and one's self is really worthwhile. Mr. Jerome Kaplan in "Geriatrics" (study of the aging) has pointed out that this feeling can often be helped by the joining and participation in some social group. He gives us the following examples from his own experience as a group work consultant in Minneapolis.

One woman, 74, living in a rooming house under board-and-room arrangements, was completely distinterested in her personal appearance. Her bladder control was described as "quite poor." Within six months after becoming a member of the Fellowship Society Club, she not only was clean and tidy in dress but had regained complete control of her body functions.

A man, 77, was making weekly visits to his doctor. Only two months after being persuaded to join the Senior Age Club, he decided that it was more fun to visit his club than call on his physician.

Another 66-year-old man was on the verge of being put into an institution, according to his personal physician and family. Within a few months he had changed from a contributing member of society to a liability because he had had to retire from his job having reached the age limit and so felt himself worthless. He was asked to join in the activities of a group of retired business and professional men and these Old Guards gave him renewed zeal for the present and future.

One man of 86 was daily going down hill until a group activity was organized in the home for the aged where he was living. From a state of unkempt appearance and muttering about how everyone was picking on him, he returned to a poised and confident attitude in only two months.

"In summary, many persons who have retired, either on compulsory or voluntary basis, appear to go down hill rapidly in social consciousness, physical appearance, or emotional stability for lack of some meaning in their everyday life. Yet it has been found that many old adults have been able to stave off this deterioration and saved themselves being committed to a mental institution because of the stimulation provided through senior adult clubs and other types of group living."

As you know, the number of our aging population is continually increasing and it is in all our interests and in the interests of society as a whole that we keep our senior population well and happy by every means possible.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — When the pretty new Georgia congresswoman, Mrs. Iris Blitch, was formally introduced to the Democratic caucus the other day, one representative whispered loudly, "Mrs. Blitch—can she pitch?"

There was more truth in this question than poetry.

For in the Georgia Democratic primary last year, the new congresswoman defeated Rep. W. M. (Don) Wheeler, who has been a star pitcher for the Democrats in their annual baseball game with the Republicans. Representative Wheeler has been mainly responsible for a string of six consecutive Democratic victories. Last year he pitched a no-hit, no-run game.

REP. CARL ALBERT (D., Okla.) is being kidded by his friends in the House of Representatives for being the first majority whip (assistant leader) who has to take the floor at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Representative Albert is the father of a two-month-old baby, David Ernest, and it is usually the father's chore to give the youngster his 2 a. m. feeding. After Whip Albert's election to succeed Rep. Percy Priest (D., Tenn.), who becomes chairman of the Commerce Committee, it was reported that:

"A sleepy-eyed Representative Albert arose to receive the acclamation of his colleagues. He had been on the floor most of the night before, pacing up and down with his new baby."

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL Committee Chairman Leonard Hall will soon announce a series of changes in his headquarters staff to fill the vacancy caused by the election of his former executive director, A. D. Baumhart, Jr., as congressman from Ohio's 13th District.

The man slated to become GOP executive director is Chauncey Robbins of Maine. Since last March 1, Mr. Robbins has been serving as director of personnel at Republican headquarters in Washington. In this job he has been in charge of GOP patronage appointments as assistant to the chairman.

The new executive director served as secretary to the national chairman in 1937-38. He first came to Washington in 1932 as an assistant clerk on the Senate Appropriations Committee. He was legislative assistant to former Senator Hale (R., Me.) from 1933 to 1937.

Mr. Robbins served in the Navy in World War 2 and commanded a destroyer escort at Anzio.

TOM MECHLING, the bold young newspaperman, and Democratic David who twice tried to win election to the U. S. Senate from Nevada, and twice lost, has given up politics.

The Democratic machine, built up by the late Sen. Pat McCarran, was just too much of a Goliath for Mechling to beat. Knowing when he was licked, he moved to San Francisco to do public relations work.

In his new job, however, young Mechling has a product which looks like a winner. It is orange and grapefruit juice concentrated into dry crystals by evaporation of the water through vacuum boiling of the natural juice.

The crystals will be sold in cans. Open a can, pour out the crystals, add water, stir, and you have juice again. The product will be competitive with concentrates and frozen juices.

IN HIS FIRST letter to constituents since the new Congress convened, Rep. Sidney R. Yates Chicago Democrat, drew on an old story about Republican President Calvin Coolidge to picture the situation in Washington today.

According to this story, President Coolidge fell asleep one morning during a rather boring meeting of his cabinet. He awoke with a start a few moments later to find all the secretaries sitting silently around the table and staring at him, not wishing to disturb the presidential cat nap. Mr. Coolidge looked at each one of his cabinet members in turn, then smiled and said, "Tell me—is the country still here?"

Reported Representative Yates: "After traveling to Washington and talking to many of the representatives who have moved in from all parts of our nation for the opening of the 84th Congress I can report that the country is still here."

FRESHMAN Congresswoman Coya Knutson (D., Minn.) put out Vol. 1, No. 1 of her newsletter to constituents just two days after taking the oath of office. She calls it "Coya's Capitol Chat."

Here are two of her first impressions:

"A bit of drama before the President's State of the Union message — gallery guests were frisked for guns by some 300 Capitol police.

George Speech Is Hailed as Address of Statesmanship Seldom Equaled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 28—Seldom in the history of the United States Senate has there been an address of statesmanship comparable to that delivered by Sen. Walter George, of Georgia, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, as he upheld President Eisenhower's request for unrestricted authority to use the armed forces to defend Formosa and the American defense line in the Far East.

In contrast to the petty quibbles of some of his colleagues and the narrow interpretations which they interjected to hamstring the American armed forces if they should be attacked from the small islands off the coast of China, the Georgia senator made clear in his speech that this is not the time to give the enemy a privileged sanctuary of retreat, as was the case in Korea.

SUCH AMERICANISM is a thrilling exhibition of the spirit that has governed the nation in all its past crises. It was especially stimulating to hear this doctrine from the lips of this Senator—a veteran in experience in foreign affairs—as he cast aside all partisanship and focused on the central issue.

For, instead of leading to a "preventive war"—which is the smokescreen raised against all proper defense measures whenever it suits critics to use that term to break down American firmness — Senator George showed how the American policy could deter the aggressor, prevent a big war from happening, and insure peace.

"I ASK EACH MAN here," declared Senator George, "if the Congress of the United States is willing to withhold its moral support from the President of the United States under these circumstances, what is your alternative? I ask each man what is his alternative?"

This was a challenging point addressed to the restrictionists —those who would, in effect, notify the enemy that American ships could be fired on and that the American Congress was unwilling to vote the authority to fire back.

SENATOR GEORGE'S most telling point—and one that was persuasively presented, too, by Senator Knowland, Republican leader, in the previous day's debate — is that nobody knows from what point Formosa might be attacked and that it is imperative to notify the Red Chinese there would be unrestricted retaliation.

The effectiveness of the resolution is that it tells the whole world America not only will defend Formosa but will not hesitate to bomb the approaches within a radius of several hundred miles if such a step becomes necessary to protect American ships and military installations.

THE SAME OLD CRY—which has been heard again and again in instances of appeasement or in episodes in which there has been a fateful hesitation—has been repeated this week in the Senate. It is that the passage of the resolution might bring on war. Risks are always present in the evolution of international policy, but an unwillingness to make a clear statement of what counter-force will be brought to bear against an attacking force can only lead, as it has many times before, to an outbreak of a major war. The "London Daily Mail" in an editorial says that such a clear warning as President Eisenhower can give by means of the joint resolution might—if issued before 1914 and 1939—have prevented two world wars.

More and more members of the Senate have begun to see the joint resolution not as a narrow legalistic instrument of international policy but as a pronouncement on a moral issue—to make the aggressors respect the neutrality of Formosa. For Formosa today has not been given to the regime on the mainland because it has violated international obligations, including flagrant act of aggression in Korea.

THE CHIANG KAI-SHEK government is still the recognized government of China so far as the United States is concerned. Under international law, any request for military help from a recognized government is granted in accord with tradition and custom.

So the resolution now before Congress meets all the requirements of international law and at the same time confirms the right of the United States to protect its military position in the Far East. Some people in the Senate have forgotten that it was from Formosa that the Japanese planes launched their attack which caused our defeat in the Philippines in 1942. Had America been able to dominate the air a few hundred miles around Formosa, the surrender at Bataan would never have occurred.

THE PRESIDENT has wisely assured Congress that he alone, as commander-in-chief, will make the decision as to when measures of retaliation against an attacking force will be ordered. For it will be within his power to order American forces to repel attack and also to go as far out as necessary in pursuit of enemy planes. Had the United States forces been given that right, they would have won a victory in Korea.

Withholding Forms Must Be Given

District Director of Internal Revenue R. J. Ratterree is asking for the cooperation of all employers in the early distribution of withheld tax statements, Form W-2, to their employes. The forms must be issued by January 31, 1955, and penalties are provided for employers who fail to issue them on time.

Director Ratterree stated that the Form W-2 is a necessary part in the filing of a federal income tax return by an employe. Taxpayers who have these forms at an early date will be able to file their returns well before the deadline of April 15. Returns resulting in refunds will receive special handling to expediate the refunds.

Blank Forms W-2 are available at the local Internal Revenue District office located at the Old Post Office Building, Albany 1. The form is to be made out in triplicate, showing the wages paid to employes during 1954 and the amount of income tax withheld from his wages. Employers are reminded that they must issue a Form W-2 to each employe whose income was subject to withholding and also to any employe who would have been subject to withholding, if he had only one exemption.

Your Income Tax

By FRANK O'BRIEN
AP Newsfeatures

Your exemptions are the biggest single tax chopping device provided by the law. The new income tax law makes it possible to claim exemptions in several circumstances formerly not allowed.

Every exemption you have sets aside (exempts) $600 of your income, making it tax free.

Since the amount for each exemption is so large, the rules about who may and who may not be claimed as an exemption are precise and rigid. But you are fully entitled to all the exemptions due you under the law. This article is aimed at telling you exactly what exemptions you may claim.

There are three types of exemptions:

1. For you, and, if you file a joint return, your wife or husband.
2. For your children
3. For others.

The new 1954 tax code liberalized the rules under which children and others may be claimed as exemptions.

But let's take up the rules for the three types of exemptions in the order listed above, because that is the order in which they occur on your tax form.

1. You and your spouse:

The taxpayer always gets at least one exemption. If you were 65 or over during 1954, you get two exemptions for yourself. If you were 65 or over, and blind, you get three exemptions. You get exactly the same exemptions for your wife, or husband, if you are filing jointly. Thus, a couple filing a joint return could get a maximum of six exemptions for themselves.

Blindness, for the purpose of taxpaying, is:

—Total blindness, meaning no sight at all, unable to tell light from darkness. A statement claiming total blindness must be attached to the return of the sightless.

—Partial blindness sufficient for an additional exemption. This is defined as no more than 20/200 vision in the best eye with correcting lenses, or width of vision not exceeding 20 degrees. Returns claiming extra exemptions for blindness when some sight exists must be accompanied by a statement by a qualified physician or a registered optometrist stating that the vision does not exceed these limits.

2. Children.

You get one exemption for each of your children, within certain limits. Children include step-children and legally adopted children.

One of the new tax law provisions allows you for the first time to claim foster children. The provision, aimed especially at foster children but written to include others also, is:

You may claim as an exemption anyone, even if not related to you, whose home was your home and who was a member of your household, and who received less than $600 income in 1954 and got over half support from you.

Previously, the law limited you to claiming children as an exemption, only if the child (whatever his age) had income during the tax year of less than $600 and received half his support from you.

The new law liberalized this provision.

Now (with restrictions to follow) you may:

Claim an exemption for your child regardless of how much the child earns if he is under 19 years of age.

You may also claim your child as an exemption, even if he earns more than $600 and is 19 years old or over, if the child is a student.

The restrictions:

You may claim the exemption only if the child gets over half his support from you. (But you need not count the value of a scholarship as part of the child's support.)

The second restriction applies to married children. They may not be claimed as exemptions when they are party to a joint return.

Also, the child must be a citizen or resident of the United States, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone. In the case of children who are residents of the Philippines and were born to servicemen or adopted by servicemen, you will need expert personal advice.

A student is defined in the tax law as a full time pupil, for at least five months of the tax year, at a regular educational institution, or a person who is engaged in on-farm training, in a program of a state or a political subdivision of a state, such as a county.

Others:

On page 5 of the instructions booklet that came with your tax forms, you will find a list of persons, other than you, your wife or husband and your children, who may be claimed as an exemption.

The list is complete, when taken together with the new provision noted just below it (the one aimed at foster children) allowing you to claim some persons, even if not related to you, who live in your home as a member of your household (paid servants are not members of a household).

All must meet the usual dependency tests (not earn over $600, get more than half support from you, not file a joint return, and must be a citizen or resident of the United States, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone), with the following exception, which is the final new exemptions provision.

This is for a person who is supported by more than one taxpayer, but where no one taxpayer contributes more than half the support.

In this case (for instance, an aged mother supported by three or four children), the new tax law provides that one of the taxpayers may claim the person supported as an exemption, if:

The group contributes over half the dependent's total support.

Each of the group could claim the person as an exemption if he contributed over half the support.

The person claiming the exemption contributed over 10 per cent of the dependent's support.

Each other person in the group files a statement saying he will not claim the exemption. For information on how and where to file such statements, see your nearest internal revenue service representative.

Kathy's Bad Manners Spelled Emotional Honesty This Time

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

You are at a family gathering. Among the guests is a small nephew from out of town whom nobody knows very well.

The cowboy gun holster he wears becomes the subject of much admiring comment by assorted aunts and uncles. Delighted, the small nephew's mother urges him to attract more of it by putting on the rest of his cowboy outfit.

But the dramatic effect of his return is marred by a sudden display of bad manners by your seven-year-old daughter. She resents the dark meat in her turkey sandwich. No, she doesn't want to politely ask Grandma for some white meat. She doesn't want to be a good girl and eat what she has.

As she jerks angrily away from your soothing arm, it is clear that what Kathy wants is to make you uncomfortable by exposing herself as a problem child to your relatives.

One of them offers you a diagnosis of her behavior. She says: "Kathy's jealous of all the attention little Jimmy's been getting. You are being a bad girl to make everyone notice you too, aren't you, Kathy?"

Do you accept this stupid charge?

There is no truth in it.

No child takes delight in angry attention attracted by his bad behavior. It is resentment of the child which suggests that he does.

Your daughter's bad manners represent emotional honesty. At the age of seven, she has not discovered the adult trick of disguising ill-will. Her intuition has told her that the exaggerated admiration lavished on her cousin contains reproach toward hre.

She knows, if you don't, that flattery of him as a supremely interesting child has been used to criticize her as an uninteresting one. And she has responded to this disguished ill-will with honest rebellion.

May I suggest that it is only natural for the adults who have indulged themselves in this cowardly criticism to accuse Kathy of enjoying it?

Let us then on these occasions silently reject the accusation. And with quiet awareness of what has actually been going on, remove Kathy and ourselves from this critical atmosphere. In another room let's sit down with her and invite her to join us in crayoning pictures in the coloring book she's brought.

She will sense at once whether or not we are aware of what she's been up against. If we are, she will grow quiet.

She will feel the support we are giving her and soon be able to re-enter the critical atmosphere, strengthened to resist it more confidently.

New Desert Metropolis

Maizuru, Japan (AP)—Paotow, which stands on the east edge of the Gobi (desert) in Inner Mongolia, is being transferred into a large industrial city, say Japanese repatriates just back from Red China. They estimate that more than 40,000 engineers and laborers are being sent monthly to the old desert terminal of the railway leading up from Peiping. Material is rushed by truck up two new asphalt roads. Soviet technicians have moved in. The object is to use iron ore and coal in the region, the repatriates say A railway linking Paotow directly to Siberia is under construction. The Japanese estimate that the population of Paotow, former capital of Inner Mongolia, had increased 10-fold since the Reds took over to about 500,000.

Emporium Destroyed

Hempstead, Jan. 28 (AP)—Fire destroyed a three-story carpet emporium yesterday in the middle of this town's business district. One fireman broke a leg when he slipped and fell on ice. Jack Stone of Great Neck, owner of the carpet mart at Fulton avenue and Franklin street, estimated damage at from $100,000 to $125,000. Origin of the fire was not determined. It leveled the building but firemen, ice coated in 20 above zero temperature, were able to keep it from spreading.

Here's a Tuna Casserole With a College Education

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

From Madison Wisconsin comes this lusty recipe for a meal in a dish, hunks of tuna, canned corn and tomato soup. Mrs. Doris Meyer gave it to us, saying she uses it throughout the winter for informal gatherings of friends at the University of Wisconsin.

Tuna, Corn and Tomato Soup Casserole

(Makes 4 servings)

One 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup, 1/3 cup milk ½ teaspoon oregano, 1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced; 4 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled, 1 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna, drained, 1 No. 303 can whole kernel corn, drained, salt and pepper.

Combine soup, milk, oregano and onion; bring to boiling point over medium heat. Add bacon. Break tuna into large pieces with a fork and add to soup mixture. Turn into a lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Arrange corn in a border around tuna mixture. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Tuna Paprikash

(Makes 4-6 servings)

Two 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup chopped onions, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons paprika, 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup sour cream.

Drain tuna and break into large pieces with a fork; reserve 1½ tablespoons tuna oil. Melt butter or margarine and tuna oil in a skillet and add onions, salt and paprika; cook stirring occasionally, until onions are tender.

Combine flour, milk and sour cream; mix until all ingredients are blended. Add sour cream mixture and tuna to onion mixture and mix lightly. Sprinkle with additional paprika, if desired, and bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Serve with rice.

News of Our Own Service Folks

THOMAS J. GALLAGHER of Lawrence street and William H. Pullman of 104 Second avenue have enlised in the army for three years. They selected the Corps of Engineers as their choice of branch of service and are now at Fort Dix, N. J., where they will receive eight weeks of basic training. At the completion of training they will be given a short leave and report to either Fort Belvoir, Va., or Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for advance training in the engineers. They were both enlisted through the Kingston Recruiting Station. They enlisted in order to be eligible for the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights. All men wishing to obtain these benefits, may apply up to noontime Saturday at either the Kingston or Poughkeepsie Army Recruiting Station.

ALSO ENLISTING for the Corps of Engineers was Robert Turner of 134 Center street, Ellenville. He also is at Fort Dix, N. J., for processing and training. He will be either assigned to Fort Belvoir or Leonard Wood at the completion of his two weeks leave.

LAWRENCE P. FUHRMANN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fuhrmann of Milton, also has enlisted in the army for three years and selected the Corps of Engineers as his choice of service. He also is at Fort Dix, N. J., where he will receive his processing and basic training. He also will be sent to either Fort Belvoir or Leonard Wood, Mo., for advance engineer training.

Registrations to Expire

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—The 1954 registrations of passenger automobiles and motorcycles expire at midnight Monday. George M. Bragalini, state tax commissioner, yesterday reminded motorists of the deadline and said that offices supplying new registration plates would be open all day Friday, until noon Saturday and all day Monday. All other types of 1954 registrations already have expired.

Terrorist Is Killed

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya, Jan. 28 (AP)—Lung Chee, a singing terrorist who urged his Red cohorts on with American jazz selections, has been silenced. Authorities said the Chinese Communist guerrilla, who made the American ditty "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way" the party anthem in his district, was shot dead recently by British troops.

Kathy's Bad Manners Spelled Emotional Honesty This Time

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

You are at a family gathering. Among the guests is a small nephew from out of town whom nobody knows very well.

The cowboy gun holster he wears becomes the subject of much admiring comment by assorted aunts and uncles. Delighted, the small nephew's mother urges him to attract more of it by putting on the rest of his cowboy outfit.

But the dramatic effect of his return is marred by a sudden display of bad manners by your seven-year-old daughter. She resents the dark meat in her turkey sandwich. No, she doesn't want to politely ask Grandma for some white meat. She doesn't want to be a good girl and eat what she has.

As she jerks angrily away from your soothing arm, it is clear that what Kathy wants is to make you uncomfortable by exposing herself as a problem child to your relatives.

One of them offers you a diagnosis of her behavior. She says: "Kathy's jealous of all the attention little Jimmy's been getting. You are being a bad girl to make everyone notice you too, aren't you, Kathy?"

Do you accept this stupid charge?

There is no truth in it.

No child takes delight in angry attention attracted by his bad behavior. It is resentment of the child which suggests that he does.

Your daughter's bad manners represent emotional honesty. At the age of seven, she has not discovered the adult trick of disguising ill-will. Her intuition has told her that the exaggerated admiration lavished on her cousin contains reproach toward hre.

She knows, if you don't, that flattery of him as a supremely interesting child has been used to criticize her as an uninteresting one. And she has responded to this disguished ill-will with honest rebellion.

May I suggest that it is only natural for the adults who have indulged themselves in this cowardly criticism to accuse Kathy of enjoying it?

Let us then on these occasions silently reject the accusation. And with quiet awareness of what has actually been going on, remove Kathy and ourselves from this critical atmosphere. In another room let's sit down with her and invite her to join us in crayoning pictures in the coloring book she's brought.

She will sense at once whether or not we are aware of what she's been up against. If we are, she will grow quiet.

She will feel the support we are giving her and soon be able to re-enter the critical atmosphere, strengthened to resist it more confidently.

New Desert Metropolis

Maizuru, Japan (AP)—Paotow, which stands on the east edge of the Gobi (desert) in Inner Mongolia, is being transferred into a large industrial city, say Japanese repatriates just back from Red China. They estimate that more than 40,000 engineers and laborers are being sent monthly to the old desert terminal of the railway leading up from Peiping. Material is rushed by truck up two new asphalt roads. Soviet technicians have moved in. The object is to use iron ore and coal in the region, the repatriates say. A railway linking Paotow directly to Siberia is under construction. The Japanese estimate that the population of Paotow, former capital of Inner Mongolia, had increased 10-fold since the Reds took over to about 500,000.

Emporium Destroyed

Hempstead, Jan. 28 (AP)—Fire destroyed a three-story carpet emporium yesterday in the middle of this town's business district. One fireman broke a leg when he slipped and fell on ice. Jack Stone of Great Neck, owner of the carpet mart at Fulton avenue and Franklin street, estimated damage at from $100,000 to $125,000. Origin of the fire was not determined. It leveled the building but firemen, ice coated in 20 above zero temperature, were able to keep it from spreading.

Here's a Tuna Casserole With a College Education

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

From Madison Wisconsin comes this lusty recipe for a meal in a dish, hunks of tuna, canned corn and tomato soup. Mrs. Doris Meyer gave it to us, saying she uses it throughout the winter for informal gatherings of friends at the University of Wisconsin.

Tuna, Corn and Tomato Soup Casserole
(Makes 4 servings)

One 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup, 1/3 cup milk, ½ teaspoon oregano, 1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced; 4 slices crisp cooked bacon, crumbled, 1 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna, drained, 1 No. 303 can whole kernel corn, drained, salt and pepper.

Combine soup, milk, oregano and onion; bring to boiling point over medium heat. Add bacon. Break tuna into large pieces with a fork and add to soup mixture. Turn into a lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Arrange corn in a border around tuna mixture. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Tuna Paprikash
(Makes 4-6 servings)

Two 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup chopped onions, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons paprika, 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup sour cream.

Drain tuna and break into large pieces with a fork; reserve 1½ tablespoons tuna oil. Melt butter or margarine and tuna oil in a skillet and add onions, salt and paprika; cook stirring occasionally, until onions are tender.

Combine flour, milk and sour cream; mix until all ingredients are blended. Add sour cream mixture and tuna to onion mixture and mix lightly. Sprinkle with additional paprika, if desired, and bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Serve with rice.

News of Our Own Service Folks

THOMAS J. GALLAGHER of Lawrence street and William H. Pullman of 104 Second avenue have enlised in the army for three years. They selected the Corps of Engineers as their choice of branch of service and are now at Fort Dix, N. J., where they will receive eight weeks of basic training. At the completion of training they will be given a short leave and report to either Fort Belvoir, Va., or Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for advance training in the engineers. They were both enlisted through the Kingston Recruiting Station. They enlisted in order to be eligible for the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights. All men wishing to obtain these benefits, may apply up to noontime Saturday at either the Kingston or Poughkeepsie Army Recruiting Station.

ALSO ENLISTING for the Corps of Engineers was Robert Turner of 134 Center street, Ellenville. He also is at Fort Dix, N. J., for processing and training. He will be either assigned to Fort Belvoir or Leonard Wood at the completion of his two weeks leave.

LAWRENCE P. FUHRMANN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fuhrmann of Milton, also has enlisted in the army for three years and selected the Corps of Engineers as his choice of service. He also is at Fort Dix, N. J., where he will receive his processing and basic training. He also will be sent to either Fort Belvoir or Leonard Wood, Mo., for advance engineer training.

Registrations to Expire

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—The 1954 registrations of passenger automobiles and motorcycles expire at midnight Monday. George M. Bragalini, state tax commissioner, yesterday reminded motorists of the deadline and said that offices supplying new registration plates would be open all day Friday, until noon Saturday and all day Monday. All other types of 1954 registrations already have expired.

Terrorist Is Killed

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya, Jan. 28 (AP)—Lung Chee, a singing terrorist who urged his Red cohorts on with American jazz selections, has been silenced. Authorities said the Chinese Communist guerrilla, who made the American ditty "South of the Border, Down Mexico Way" the party anthem in his district, was shot dead recently by British troops.

Your Share in Stocks

In the last of five stories on the stock market, Associated Press staff writer Relman Morin tells of the factors leading to the great "bull market" and discusses the possibilities of the future.

By RELMAN MORIN

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Sure, some people are simply gambling. The number of these is probably increasing.

You have "institutional buying," the purchase of stocks by big organizations as a counterforce to inflation.

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy. They mean that a great many people believe their stocks will increase in value and pay out dividends because the companies that issued the shares are going to go on growing and earning.

ARE THEY guessing right?

Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.

For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.

By 1975, the U. S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

TAKE THE question of housing.

Herbert Abraham, chairman of the Ruberoid Co., recently wrote:

"Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually, if our housing standards are to remain at present levels.

"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out' and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

IN OTHER words, the housing industry has to run pretty fast just to keep from losing ground in the race with population. How fast will it have to run in 1965 or 1975?

How fast will the steel industry have to run, and all the others that are associated with construction? How many more million kilowatts of electricity will be needed for heating and lighting the added millions of homes? Or will we be using atomic energy by that time?

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced). In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965. The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975—exactly double the estimated output value today.

SOUND LIKE over-reaching? Here's a sober statement from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various estimates of the rate of increase in production have put it at three or four per cent more per annum."

A powerful factor in the whole staggering picture is this:

The average American is a "wanter." Call it "keeping-up-with-the-Joneses, if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a canopener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hock to get it, too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit.

And he has the buying power. Very few workmen in a European automobile factory can hope to own one of the cars they make. The American is quite likely to drive to the plant in his.

ANOTHER PHASE of the growth and improvement in the American story today revolves around the word "research."

A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

For example, duPont spent eight years and 25 million dollars developing a synthetic fibre. Marketable now, it has created 2,800 jobs in the plant. The test tubes are developing synthetic food-fortifiers for grains that are deficient in compounds necessary to human nutrition, and antibiotics that make animals bigger and healthier.

Charles A. Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical, told stockholders "a large portion" of that company's sales, and "approximately 40 per cent" of its profits, came from products which it did not manufacture 10 years ago.

DOUBTLESS you have heard the word "automation." Maybe you have seen whole plants operated by machines. Or a drill press controlled by a piece of perforated tape. The day may be near when, in making a long-distance telephone call anywhere, you will not talk to the operator . . . you will dial the whole thing.

Now look around the map of the United States. Barely more than 20 years ago, the southern states were described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem." Today, with research and new industries, the south is rapidly catching up with the rest of the country in spite of the general boom.

OR TOUR the gulf coast for thousands of miles and see a vast industrial empire — the practically brand new petrochemical industry.

A submarine powered by atomic energy went to sea last week. The atomic age in industry appears to be on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution." The first one changed the face of the earth.

So the future stretches away, apparently limitless, unimaginably brilliant, barely glimpsed in all its immense potentialities.

The "greatest bull market in history," in some degree, mirrors this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

"A glorious economic future may be ours, but it is not vouchsafed to us," the President told the Congress last week. "We shall achieve it only by wise management of our national household."

The population of the United States was 163,930,000 at the end of 1954.

Boy Scout News

Casey Jones rode to fame again, the golden spike was driven once more, and the old country station agent had his day as the Cub Scouts of Pack 19, Veterans of Foreign Wars, celebrated the monthly theme of "Railroading" at their pack meeting at the VFW home.

In addition to the three skits presented by each Den and portraying the scenes mentioned above, three film strips concerning railroading were shown, and a contest to see which Cub Scout could find the greatest number of names on railroad cars, was held. Cub Scouts Douglas Eighmey, Kerry Covey, and Ronald Rittie were the contest winners.

Den 3 opened the grand assembly with a flag ceremony, and Cub Scout Roger Sahloff received his Bear badge through the medium of an Indian ceremony in which Den Chief Phillips Eighmey represented the spirit of Cub Scouting.

Den Mother Beatrice Connelly was awarded a four-year service star in recognition of her services as a den mother in Cub Scouting.

ANNOUNCEMENTS included the blue and gold banquet on February 16 with Scout Executive George V. Dennis as the speaker and the showing of the film "Letter to Loretta" as another feature. Arrangements were also made for the Cub Scouts of Pack 19 to attend church services on Scout Sunday, February 6.

Awards for the month were:

Den 1, Betty Eighmey den mother; LeRoy Hamilton, one year service star and gold arrow; James Herdman, two silver arrows; Richard Nason, two silver arrows; Robert Buddenhagen, silver arrow; John Schleede, silver arrow and assistant denner stripe; Oscar Bollin, silver arrow; Roger Sahloff, Bear badge and denner stripe.

Den 2, Lois Williams den mother: Kerry Covey, denner stripe; Michael Bonomo, silver arrow and assistant denner stripe; Jeffrey Williams, silver arrow.

Den 3, Lillian Rittie den mother: silver arrow each to Ronald Rittie, William Hart, David Godbey, Michael Van Valkenburgh, and Carl Wiegert; William Bodenweber, denner stripe; William Hart, assistant denner stripe.

East didn't have a bad penalty double of four spades in today's hand, but it would have been a better double if he had been a better player. To put it bluntly, a player who cannot put up close defenses shouldn't make close doubles.

West opened his singleton heart on the assumption that he might need to set up a heart trick but would either make or not make club tricks without the need for establishment plays, depending on who had the club ace. Dummy played a low heart, and East won with the nine.

At the second trick East could have returned almost anything except the ace of hearts and would still have defeated the contract. Actually East cashed the heart ace, and West tried to signal for a diamond shift by playing the five of diamonds.

East failed to take encouragement from this signal. He plunged right ahead with another heart, hoping that his partner would develop a trump trick.

South drew a breath, ruffed with the king of spades, took out trumps with the queen and ace, and discarded a diamond on the king of hearts. He then proceeded to run the rest of his trumps.

When South led his last trump, West and the dummy were each down to two diamonds and two clubs. West dared not discard another club, for then dummy's ace and jack would both be good. Hence West had to part with the queen of diamonds.

South now discarded the jack of clubs from dummy and led a diamond. West got his ace of diamonds, but then declarer had the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and the king of diamonds.

It was a very neat squeeze, to be sure, but South owed as much to East's cooperation as he did to his own skillful play.

Hospital TV Boom

Champaign, Ill. (AP)—Telecast pleas for funds to be used in purchasing TV sets for hospitals are getting results. Any individual or group donating $100 is allowed to name the hospital in which the set is installed. Smaller donations are lumped together and hospitals chosen by the station. Response has been overwhelming, sponsors report, with $800 subscribed in a single day from Chaunte Air Force Base. "The boys at Chanute are trying to see which squadron can donate the most," they say. Sixty sets have been installed in 30 towns in central Illinois and western Indiana. They are purchased for $100 each through cooperation of wholesalers and dealers.

Be sure the brassiere you purchase gives you plenty of room. A too-tight bra can be very bad for tissues.

Your Share in Stocks

In the last of five stories on the stock market, Associated Press staff writer Relman Morin tells of the factors leading to the great "bull market" and discusses the possibilities of the future.

By RELMAN MORIN

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—When you read about "the greatest bull market in history," you are looking at a story that goes beyond Wall Street.

The high averages and zooming prices reflect many factors.

Sure, some people are simply gambling. The number of these is probably increasing.

You have "institutional buying," the purchase of stocks by big organizations as a counterforce to inflation.

And there is the argument that the market today is only now catching up with the true values of many stocks and bonds.

But the figures reflect more than that.

They represent a massive chunk of confidence in at least the immediate future—and to some, the long-term outlook—for the whole American economy. They mean that a great many people believe their stocks will increase in value and pay out dividends because the companies that issued the shares are going to go on growing and earning.

ARE THEY guessing right?

Since nobody can read the future, the only thing you can do is look at some present bases, the trends, and make your own projections.

For example, the population today is an estimated 163 million.

By 1975, the U. S. Census Bureau estimates, it will climb to 200 million. How many more pairs of shoes will the factories have to turn out then? How many more miles of textiles? How many more radios, refrigerators, automobiles? How much more food?

TAKE THE question of housing.

Herbert Abraham, chairman of the Ruberoid Co., recently wrote:

"Since the current rate of family formation is about 700,000 a year, it is apparent that about 700,000 new units must be added annually, if our housing standards are to remain at present levels.

"And about 300,000 houses 'wear out' and are demolished annually, bringing the total basic need to about one million units per year."

IN OTHER words, the housing industry has to run pretty fast just to keep from losing ground in the race with population. How fast will it have to run in 1965 or 1975?

How fast will the steel industry have to run, and all the others that are associated with construction? How many more million kilowatts of electricity will be needed for heating and lighting the added millions of homes? Or will we be using atomic energy by that time?

The gross national product for 1954 is estimated at 350 billion dollars. (GNP means the total value of all goods and services produced). In his economic message, President Eisenhower called for a GNP of 500 billion by 1965. The National Assn. of Manufacturers estimates 700 billion by 1975—exactly double the estimated output value today.

SOUND LIKE over-reaching? Here's a sober statement from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce: "There has been a more or less continuous upward trend in the output of American industry. Various estimates of the rate of increase in production have put it at three or four per cent more per annum."

A powerful factor in the whole staggering picture is this:

The average American is a "wanter." Call it "keeping-up-with-the-Joneses, if you like, but he is forever wanting something new or better than what he has, whether it's a house, an automobile, a canopener, or a wider TV screen.

He will put himself in hock to get it, too. And then work like fury to keep up the installment payments. His wants are limited only by his buying power and credit.

And he has the buying power. Very few workmen in a European automobile factory can hope to own one of the cars they make. The American is quite likely to drive to the plant in his.

ANOTHER PHASE of the growth and improvement in the American story today revolves around the word "research."

A New York Stock Exchange estimate puts the figure for industrial research and development in 1954 at about four billion dollars—adding that that is 345 per cent greater than the sum spent in 1941.

A steady stream of new or improved products are coming out of the laboratories every year. They create new jobs and new wealth.

For example, duPont spent eight years and 25 million dollars developing a synthetic fibre. Marketable now, it has created 2,800 jobs in the plant. The test tubes are developing synthetic food-fortifiers for grains that are deficient in compounds necessary to human nutrition, and antibiotics that make animals bigger and healthier.

Charles A. Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical, told stockholders "a large portion" of that company's sales, and "approximately 40 per cent" of its profits, came from products which it did not manufacture 10 years ago.

DOUBTLESS you have heard the word "automation." Maybe you have seen whole plants operated by machines. Or a drill press controlled by a piece of perforated tape. The day may be near when, in making a long-distance telephone call anywhere, you will not talk to the operator . . . you will dial the whole thing.

Now look around the map of the United States. Barely more than 20 years ago, the southern states were described as the nation's "No. 1 economic problem." Today, with research and new industries, the south is rapidly catching up with the rest of the country in spite of the general boom.

OR TOUR the gulf coast for thousands of miles and see a vast industrial empire — the practically brand new petrochemical industry.

A submarine powered by atomic energy went to sea last week. The atomic age in industry appears to be on the near horizon. It has been said that this will bring about "a second industrial revolution." The first one changed the face of the earth.

So the future stretches away, apparently limitless, unimaginably brilliant, barely glimpsed in all its immense potentialities.

The "greatest bull market in history," in some degree, mirrors this. But over the stock market today still hangs the black shadow of 1929 and the greatest crash in history.

"A glorious economic future may be ours, but it is not vouchsafed to us," the President told the Congress last week. "We shall achieve it only by wise management of our national household."

The population of the United States was 163,930,000 at the end of 1954.

Boy Scout News

Casey Jones rode to fame again, the golden spike was driven once more, and the old country station agent had his day as the Cub Scouts of Pack 19, Veterans of Foreign Wars, celebrated the monthly theme of "Railroading" at their pack meeting at the VFW home.

In addition to the three skits presented by each Den and portraying the scenes mentioned above, three film strips concerning railroading were shown, and a contest to see which Cub Scout could find the greatest number of names on railroad cars, was held. Cub Scouts Douglas Eighmey, Kerry Covey, and Ronald Rittie were the contest winners.

Den 3 opened the grand assembly with a flag ceremony, and Cub Scout Roger Sahloff received his Bear badge through the medium of an Indian ceremony in which Den Chief Phillips Eighmey represented the spirit of Cub Scouting.

Den Mother Beatrice Connelly was awarded a four-year service star in recognition of her services as a den mother in Cub Scouting.

ANNOUNCEMENTS included the blue and gold banquet on February 16 with Scout Executive George V. Dennis as the speaker and the showing of the film "Letter to Loretta" as another feature. Arrangements were also made for the Cub Scouts of Pack 19 to attend church services on Scout Sunday, February 6.

Awards for the month were:

Den 1, Betty Eighmey den mother; LeRoy Hamilton, one year service star and gold arrow; James Herdman, two silver arrows; Richard Nason, two silver arrows; Robert Buddenhagen, silver arrow; John Schleede, silver arrow and assistant denner stripe; Oscar Bollin, silver arrow; Roger Sahloff, Bear badge and denner stripe.

Den 2, Lois Williams den mother: Kerry Covey, denner stripe; Michael Bonomo, silver arrow and assistant denner stripe; Jeffrey Williams, silver arrow.

Den 3, Lillian Rittie den mother: silver arrow each to Ronald Rittie, William Hart, David Godbey, Michael Van Valkenburgh, and Carl Wiegert; William Bodenweber, denner stripe; William Hart, assistant denner stripe.

East didn't have a bad penalty double of four spades in today's hand, but it would have been a better double if he had been a better player. To put it bluntly, a player who cannot put up close defenses shouldn't make close doubles.

West opened his singleton heart on the assumption that he might need to set up a heart trick but would either make or not make club tricks without the need for establishment plays, depending on who had the club ace. Dummy played a low heart, and East won with the nine.

At the second trick East could have returned almost anything except the ace of hearts and would still have defeated the contract. Actually East cashed the heart ace, and West tried to signal for a diamond shift by playing the five of diamonds.

East failed to take encouragement from this signal. He plunged right ahead with another heart, hoping that his partner would develop a trump trick.

South drew a breath, ruffed with the king of spades, took out trumps with the queen and ace, and discarded a diamond on the king of hearts. He then proceeded to run the rest of his trumps.

Sugar From Pulp

Tokyo (AP)—Japanese chemists have perfected a method of extracting grape sugar from lumber as a by-product in the manufacture of pulp. The announcement is contained in a report of chemists attached to the Asahigawa Forestry Guidance Station on the northern island of Hokkaido. They say they now have a pilot plant in operation. The grape sugar is not as sweet as ordinary sugar, but is in demand as a medicinal nutrient.

Revered Horse

Boston (AP)—A $100 donation in honor of Paul Revere's horse has been sent to the Old North Church to help rebuild its hurricane-razed steeple. Philip R. Allen of Boston sent this note with his contribution: "An old horse-lover is glad to send the enclosed check in recognition of the part Paul Revere's horse played on that historic night."

Lady Judge

New York (AP)—The first woman appointed to preside in city court trials here is, appropriately, Justice Amsterdam. This city once was New Amsterdam. The appointment is not the first "first" for Miss Birdie Amsterdam. Fifteen years ago, Miss Amsterdam, normally a municipal court justice, was the first woman elected to the New York (Manhattan) county bench.

Expensive Typos

Singapore (AP)—Employes of the Singapore government who claim transport allowances now must write out their expense accounts in longhand. The reason: Government officials explained that upon finding excess claims, employes had said, was due to typographical errors.

Salaries Are Same

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—Senators and assemblymen now may draw $50 a day of their pay, instead of $25. But their annual salary of $7,500 is unchanged. Gov. Harriman yesterday signed a bill doubling the amount lawmakers may draw for each day's attendance at a legislative session. It had been passed by both Houses. The rest of the salary is paid when the Legislature adjourns.

163,123 Lose Licenses

Albany, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Bureau of Motor Vehicles suspended or revoked a record 163,123 driver licenses and vehicle registrations in 1954. George M. Bragalini, commissioner of taxation and finance, said today that the figure compared with 161,631 suspensions and revocations in 1953 and 112,007 in 1950.

By DICK KLEINER

A FEW FAST FACTS: Dinah Shore has been conferring with RCA executives while in New York. She's been disappointed in her record sales lately, and seems to think maybe she'd do better if she picked the songs herself . . . Lisa Kirk borrowed a pair of stockings from Marlene Dietrich for her opening at New York's Plaza. She does a number in shorts, and her specially-designed stage hose hadn't arrived. Grandma Dietrich wears the same size and style, so Dietrich to the rescue . . . Dick Cotler, one of Jack Barry's original "Juvenile Jury" gang nine years ago, now writes Barry's special material and songs.

Sam and Bella Spewak, the playwrights, may have stumbled on a good plot for their next play—only nobody'll believe it. Their current play, "Festival," with Paul Henried and Betty Field, opened up to almost unanimous bad reviews. The closing notice went up after five performances.

Then, on the day it was to close, business picked up and the backers decided to keep it open. The decision was made so late the ads had even been taken out of the papers and the actors had packed up their costumes.

So "Festival" will run. For another two weeks, anyway.

Never in all my born days did I expect to hear one television producer say he wished a rival program had pulled a higher rating than his show. But I heard just that. And on one of my born days, too.

This rare specimen of homo produceriens is Robert Saudek, director of the TV-Radio Workshop of the Ford Foundation. (English translation of that title—he runs "Omnibus.") And the rival show was Hallmark Hall of Fame's production of "Macbeth."

"Unfortunately," Saudek said, "we got a better rating that day. But we wish we'd been killed. It is our purpose to stimulate television into experimental programming. So, when Hallmark did 'Macbeth,' we wanted them to beat us.

"And so we deliberately programmed something light. But maybe we went too light—and we got a higher rating."

Johnny Ray is trying to pull another "Let Me Go, Lover" out of the TV set. That was the song introduced on "Studio One" that became a smash. On CBS-TV's "General Electric Theatre," Ray will introduce another new song—"Paths of Paradise"—and he hopes that TV break will mean a hit.

Wagner College Choir to Offer All-Sacred Program at Redeemer Church February 12

Singing an all-sacred program, the touring Wagner College Choir directed by Dr. Sigvart J. Steen will be heard in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Saturday, February 12 at 8 p. m. The Kingston performance which is the last appearance of the choir on the road before its traditional homecoming concert on the campus is part of a three-week concert tour through 11 states and Canada. It is sponsored by the Lutheran Churches of the Kingston area.

Dr. Sigvart J. Steen, chairman of the Department of Music at Wagner Lutheran College, S. I., has led touring choral groups in concerts in the leading concert halls and churches of the east, the mid-west, and far-west, Europe and Canada. Included in the choral units he has trained are the national renowned Blue Jackets Choirs from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois where he served as lieutenant commander USNR. He has studied in Luther College, St. Olaf College, the University of Berlin and at New York University.

THE WAGNER COLLEGE Choir is selected by Dr. Steen from the student body of the college. Fifty students are chosen on the basis of their musical ability and their interest in singing the great works of sacred music. As part of its varied activities, the choir tours each year at the height of the concert season.

During the summer of 1952, the Wagner choir performed before the international gathering of the Lutheran World Federation in Hanover, Germany. At the conclusion of the convention, the choir sang in eight other European cities including Frankfort, Kassel, Goettingen, the Hague, Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

THIS SEASON leading Midwestern cities will hear this group for the first time. In Milwaukee, the choir sings twice at the Lutheran Evangelism Conference at the Milwaukee Arena. In Chicago they sing at Orchestra Hall for the Chicago Sunday Evening Club February 6. In Buffalo they will be heard in Kleinhans Music Hall. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Detroit and Toronto also are included in the current tour.

Wagner Lutheran College, on Grymes Hill in Staten Island, is unique because it is a liberal arts college with all that this implies, but still is part of a metropolitan environment. Situated high on a 72-acre campus, it commands a view of busy New York harbor and the world-famous Manhattan skyline. Less than an hour from downtown Manhattan, its location in a residential district provides the advantages of suburban quiet and exclusiveness.

Throughout its history, the inherent character of the college has remained unchanged, believing that the purpose of education is to help each student develop his intellectual, spiritual, aesthetic and social abilities. It seeks to familiarize the student with the major branches of knowledge, to help him attain proficiency in one or more of these fields and to stimulate critical and creative thought. To foster these aims, the ratio of students to instructors is about 12 to one.

County SPCA Volunteers Provide Care For Unwanted Animals at Shelter Here

By MARIANNE DAVIS

Thirty lucky puppies have been placed in homes since Christmas by the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, reported Ray Winne, who is the chief agent for the group here.

Temporary home for lost or unwanted animals is the nearly-completed concrete and wood Shelter on the Brabrant road. Here Mr. and Mrs. Winne accept animals found shivering and starving along the road and brought in by truck drivers, housewives and school children. A comfortable "home" in one of six cages in use, with paper and straw bedding, and a meal of dog-food for the "grown-ups" or milk for the puppies is first on the list.

Many of the foundlings are in a tousled condition, so that burrs and other matter must be brushed from their long hair. Volunteers of the Society aiding Mr. Winne in handling the animals say that some are difficult to approach, shy from mistreatment before they were found.

THE TWO ROOMS containing the six cages flank the main room at the Shelter, heated by only one oil stove, donated by a Mount Tremper nurse. The SPCA ambulance is parked in the large room, and the storage bins for the food as well as the dishes are on shelves here.

The ceiling is unfinished, lacking the cross beams which would help hold down the heat. Result is that the entire building is chilly.

"WE NEED at least $300 to finish the ceiling," Mr. Winne remarked.

Money has been raised for this Shelter by an auction held during the summer, and by donations from animal lovers in the county. Harry Seitz is president of the SPCA, and Miss Madelyn Schumacher the secretary and publicity chairman. Meetings are held bi-monthly at the court house, for all interested in joining.

SAYING HE WANTED a dog to get along with his boys, aged 14, 12 and 9, Henry Eighmey of 94 Highland avenue, asked Mr. Winne to let him know if a likely and lost pup arrived. Hardly had he hung up the phone, when a Zena resident, moving to Florida, brought her collie to the Shelter to be placed "for adoption."

A CALL TO MR. EIGHMEY, and a special message, "Be sure to take good care of him," from the Zena owner, and the Eighmey boys had a companion.

At Christmas time, an ad in The Freeman classifieds found homes for 18 lively puppies in less than a day and a half. When the Freeman reporter and photographer visited the Shelter last week, every cage was filled. Since then, one of the three miniature collie puppies has been taken by Teddy Sickles of 64 Smith avenue as shown in the photograph.

MR. WINNE URGES that rather than turn animals loose when no longer wanted, to wander homeless and hungry, to bring them direct to the Shelter. And he personally volunteers to catch and care for any kind of animal, whether deer, bear, or possum, running astray in the city or county.

The animals know about the Shelter. An entire cat family made their home there, wandering in through the unlocked door. When a Kingston woman brought a foundling hound to be cared for, one of the kittens crawled on her shoulder, and refused to let go. Result—the kitten went home with the lady.

Raymond Caddy Is Pledged in Purdue Tomahawk Society

Raymond L. Caddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Caddy, 425 Hasbrouck avenue, was one of 17 students at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., who was recently tapped by the Local Order of Tomahawk, national activities honorary society for independent sophomore men and women.

Following the tapping ceremony new pledgees were honored at a breakfast.

The organization promotes and recognizes outstanding participation in activities and serves as an athletic booster.

Mr. Caddy is studying mechanical engineering at Purdue.

Teachers to Hold Science Workshop At Paltz Saturday

The science workshop for teachers to be held at State University Teachers College in New Paltz Saturday, Jan. 29, will feature a talk by Dr. Forrest Durham on A Geological Tour of Alaska. The lecture will be illustrated with color slides taken by the speaker in the course of a geological study he carried on in Alaska. The meeting will be held in Room 111 of the main college building at 10 a. m.

Following the lecture there will be five small workshop discussion groups, Dr. Allen, atomic physics; Dr. Pyle, general zoology; Dr. Meng, field biology; Dr. Durham, geology and astronomy; Dr. Tannenbaum, science education. Interested teachers are cordially invited. There is no fee.

Yolanda Modica Cast In Bryant Offering

Miss Yolanda N. Modica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Modica of RFD 4, Box 34, Kingston, has a leading part in the Theatre-In-The-Round to be presented Sunday, Jan. 30, by the Masquers, dramatic organization of Bryant College in Providence, R. I., where she is a student.

This production is part of the Drama Workshop Experimental Group and is entirely student produced and directed. Advisor to this group is Professor Mary Thornton Appleby, director of music and dramatics at the college.

WHEN OFFERING SECOND HELPINGS

A reader writes me as follows: "A friend of mine tells me that it is considered impolite to say, 'Will you have some more?' when proffering food to a guest. Is this true, and if so will you please explain why it is wrong to say 'some more'"?

At the table it is entirely proper that the hostess (or host) who may be serving say to a guest, "Won't you have some more?" or, "Won't you let me give you another piece?" But at a general party, when sandwiches or cakes are passed for the second or third time, it is more polite to ask, "Won't you have some of these cakes?" or, "Won't you try these sandwiches?" "More" does rather suggest that you have noticed that this guest has helped himself before.

The Bridesmaids' Dresses

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine tells me that you say it is up to the bridesmaids to pay for their own wedding clothes. Is this true? 'Isn't this unfair when the bride has all to say about what they should wear and very often chooses something that is more than the bridesmaids can really afford?

Answer: Yes. This often has been an unhappy situation for ages past, but in order to avoid endless discussion as to what the bridesmaids will wear, it has been decided that the bride's decision shall be unchallenged. The bride should, of course, try to choose dresses that the bridesmaids will be able to wear again and that are not too expensive for any of the girls.

How Many Notes?

Dear Mrs. Post: When a young woman and her fiance spend the weekend with married friends of hers, is it necessary for each one to write a bread and butter letter to the hostess after they return home, or may she write for both of them?

Answer: She may write for both.

Elmira College Plans Essay Competition For Scholarships

The Elmira College Club of the Mid-Hudson Valley has announced that three scholarships will be awarded to senior high school girls in an essay competition. The theme of the 500-word essay is: How Women Can Be More Effective as Leaders in My Community.

The competition is being sponsored by Tex and Jinx McCrary, noted NBC radio and television personalities in cooperation with Elmira College.

The project is being promoted by the college as part of a study to determine the areas in which women can serve more effectively as leaders, and the development and training which should be provided to young women in preparing them for their anticipated role as able leaders. To compile the required data for this study, Elmira College is seeking the opinion of America's future leaders-girls in their senior year in high school.

The following awards have been established for the winning essays: first prize—full four year tuition, room and board at Elmira College; second prize—full four year tuition and room scholarship; and third prize—full four year tuition (only) scholarship.

To be eligible for the competition, the contestant must be a member of the June 1955 graduating class and must have maintained a "B" average or better (of 80 per cent or better) for the first three years of high school work. All entries must be submitted to Elmira College Essay Contest no later than February 15.

Knights Will Hear Father Everett at Breakfast Sunday

The Rev. Lawrence Everett, CSsR., professor of dogmatic theology at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, will be the guest speaker at a communion breakfast to be held at the Knights of Columbus building Sunday morning. William F. Leehive, general chairman, announced the choice of Father Everett as speaker, and said that plans for the breakfast are complete.

Knights and their friends will attend the 8:30 a. m. Mass at Holy Name Church, Wilbur and receive Holy Communion. Breakfast will be served at the council home after Mass. Thomas Ryan, lecturer of Kingston Council 275, will have charge of the breakfast. No tickets will be sold for the breakfast nor will reservations be made.

Chairman Leehive said the affair has been planned in compliance with a Knights of Columbus policy of encouraging members to receive Holy Communion frequently. Kingston Council would have four breakfasts each year under this policy. It is not intended that Sunday's event will replace or interfere with the more elaborate annual communion breakfast which the council usually holds later in the spring.

Wagner College Choir to Offer All-Sacred Program at Redeemer Church February 12

Singing an all-sacred program, the touring Wagner College Choir directed by Dr. Sigvart J. Steen will be heard in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Saturday, February 12 at 8 p. m. The Kingston performance which is the last appearance of the choir on the road before its traditional homecoming concert on the campus is part of a three-week concert tour through 11 states and Canada. It is sponsored by the Lutheran Churches of the Kingston area.

Dr. Sigvart J. Steen, chairman of the Department of Music at Wagner Lutheran College, S. I., has led touring choral groups in concerts in the leading concert halls and churches of the east, the mid-west, and far-west, Europe and Canada. Included in the choral units he has trained are the national renowned Blue Jackets Choirs from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois where he served as lieutenant commander USNR. He has studied in Luther College, St. Olaf College, the University of Berlin and at New York University.

THE WAGNER COLLEGE Choir is selected by Dr. Steen from the student body of the college. Fifty students are chosen on the basis of their musical ability and their interest in singing the great works of sacred music. As part of its varied activities, the choir tours each year at the height of the concert season.

During the summer of 1952, the Wagner choir performed before the international gathering of the Lutheran World Federation in Hanover, Germany. At the conclusion of the convention, the choir sang in eight other European cities including Frankfort, Kassel, Goettingen, the Hague, Amsterdam and Rotterdam.

THIS SEASON leading Midwestern cities will hear this group for the first time. In Milwaukee, the choir sings twice at the Lutheran Evangelism Conference at the Milwaukee Arena. In Chicago they sing at Orchestra Hall for the Chicago Sunday Evening Club February 6. In Buffalo they will be heard in Kleinhans Music Hall. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Detroit and Toronto also are included in the current tour.

Wagner Lutheran College, on Grymes Hill in Staten Island, is unique because it is a liberal arts college with all that this implies, but still is part of a metropolitan environment. Situated high on a 72-acre campus, it commands a view of busy New York harbor and the world-famous Manhattan skyline. Less than an hour from downtown Manhattan, its location in a residential district provides the advantages of suburban quiet and exclusiveness.

Throughout its history, the inherent character of the college has remained unchanged, believing that the purpose of education is to help each student develop his intellectual, spiritual, aesthetic and social abilities. It seeks to familiarize the student with the major branches of knowledge, to help him attain proficiency in one or more of these fields and to stimulate critical and creative thought. To foster these aims, the ratio of students to instructors is about 12 to one.

Elmira College Plans Essay Competition For Scholarships

The Elmira College Club of the Mid-Hudson Valley has announced that three scholarships will be awarded to senior high school girls in an essay competition. The theme of the 500-word essay is: How Women Can Be More Effective as Leaders in My Community.

The competition is being sponsored by Tex and Jinx McCrary, noted NBC radio and television personalities in cooperation with Elmira College.

The project is being promoted by the college as part of a study to determine the areas in which women can serve more effectively as leaders, and the development and training which should be provided to young women in preparing them for their anticipated role as able leaders. To compile the required data for this study, Elmira College is seeking the opinion of America's future leaders-girls in their senior year in high school.

The following awards have been established for the winning essays: first prize—full four year tuition, room and board at Elmira College; second prize—full four year tuition and room scholarship; and third prize—full four year tuition (only) scholarship.

To be eligible for the competition, the contestant must be a member of the June 1955 graduating class and must have maintained a "B" average or better (of 80 per cent or better) for the first three years of high school work. All entries must be submitted to Elmira College Essay Contest no later than February 15.

Thirty lucky puppies have been placed in homes since Christmas by the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, reported Ray Winne, who is the chief agent for the group here.

Temporary home for lost or unwanted animals is the nearly-completed concrete and wood Shelter on the Brabrant road. Here Mr. and Mrs. Winne accept animals found shivering and starving along the road and brought in by truck drivers, housewives and school children. A comfortable "home" in one of six cages in use, with paper and straw bedding, and a meal of dog-food for the "grown-ups" or milk for the puppies is first on the list.

Many of the foundlings are in a tousled condition, so that burrs and other matter must be brushed from their long hair. Volunteers of the Society aiding Mr. Winne in handling the animals say that some are difficult to approach, shy from mistreatment before they were found.

THE TWO ROOMS containing the six cages flank the main room at the Shelter, heated by only one oil stove, donated by a Mount Tremper nurse. The SPCA ambulance is parked in the large room, and the storage bins for the food as well as the dishes are on shelves here.

The ceiling is unfinished, lacking the cross beams which would help hold down the heat. Result is that the entire building is chilly.

"WE NEED at least $300 to finish the ceiling," Mr. Winne remarked.

Money has been raised for this Shelter by an auction held during the summer, and by donations from animal lovers in the county. Harry Seitz is president of the SPCA, and Miss Madelyn Schumacher the secretary and publicity chairman. Meetings are held bi-monthly at the court house, for all interested in joining.

SAYING HE WANTED a dog to get along with his boys, aged 14, 12 and 9, Henry Eighmey of 94 Highland avenue, asked Mr. Winne to let him know if a likely and lost pup arrived. Hardly had he hung up the phone, when a Zena resident, moving to Florida, brought her collie to the Shelter to be placed "for adoption."

A CALL TO MR. EIGHMEY, and a special message, "Be sure to take good care of him," from the Zena owner, and the Eighmey boys had a companion.

At Christmas time, an ad in The Freeman classifieds found homes for 18 lively puppies in less than a day and a half. When the Freeman reporter and photographer visited the Shelter last week, every cage was filled. Since then, one of the three miniature collie puppies has been taken by Teddy Sickles of 64 Smith avenue as shown in the photograph.

MR. WINNE URGES that rather than turn animals loose when no longer wanted, to wander homeless and hungry, to bring them direct to the Shelter. And he personally volunteers to catch and care for any kind of animal, whether deer, bear, or possum, running astray in the city or county.

The animals know about the Shelter. An entire cat family made their home there, wandering in through the unlocked door. When a Kingston woman brought a foundling hound to be cared for, one of the kittens crawled on her shoulder, and refused to let go. Result—the kitten went home with the lady.

WHEN OFFERING SECOND HELPINGS

A reader writes me as follows: "A friend of mine tells me that it is considered impolite to say, 'Will you have some more?' when proffering food to a guest. Is this true, and if so will you please explain why it is wrong to say 'some more' "?

At the table it is entirely proper that the hostess (or host) who may be serving say to a guest, "Won't you have some more?" or, "Won't you let me give you another piece?" But at a general party, when sandwiches or cakes are passed for the second or third time, it is more polite to ask, "Won't you have some of these cakes?" or, "Won't you try these sandwiches?" "More" does rather suggest that you have noticed that this guest has helped himself before.

The Bridesmaids' Dresses

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine tells me that you say it is up to the bridesmaids to pay for their own wedding clothes. Is this true? 'Isn't this unfair when the bride has all to say about what they should wear and very often chooses something that is more than the bridesmaids can really afford?

Answer: Yes. This often has been an unhappy situation for ages past, but in order to avoid endless discussion as to what the bridesmaids will wear, it has been decided that the bride's decision shall be unchallenged. The bride should, of course, try to choose dresses that the bridesmaids will be able to wear again and that are not too expensive for any of the girls.

How Many Notes?

Dear Mrs. Post: When a young woman and her fiance spend the weekend with married friends of hers, is it necessary for each one to write a bread and butter letter to the hostess after they return home, or may she write for both of them?

Answer: She may write for both.

Port Ewen

WCTU Receives Note On Korean Clothing

Port Ewen, Jan. 28—The January meeting of the Ulster Park-Port Ewen WCTU was held at the Methodist parsonage with Mrs. Fenton C. St. John presiding. Mrs. Henry Osborn, program leader, presented the following program:

Singing, This Is My Father's World, the scripture lesson, the 18th chapter of Exodus was read by Mrs. Osborn, prayer by Miss Mary F. Bishop. The subject of the meeting was legislation and laws. Readings were given by the members and members responded to roll call with a Bible verse containing the word law. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leslie Herring, president.

An interesting letter was read from Pfc. Calvin Brueckner who is stationed at the 21st Station Hospital in Pusan, Korea, expressing his appreciation for the large box of new clothing sent by the local WCTU to him for the Korean children at Christmas time. The warm clothing, he noted, helped to make the holiday more happy for the children as he said the weather is extremely cold in that country.

The meeting closed with the singing of Bless Be the Tie That Binds and the WCTU benediction. A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. St. John

Also attending were Mrs. Otis Terwilliger, Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Roy Van Demark, Mrs. Charles Neice, Mrs. Samuel P. Tinney, Mrs. Elizabeth McLain, Mrs. Edgar Pilz and Miss Annie Terpening. Pfc. Brueckner is the nephew of Mrs. Otis Terwilliger of Port Ewen.

Village Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Will Van de Komp of Wolfsburg, Germany, representing the Volkswagen factory in the United States, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zale Liese at their home on South Broadway Sunday.

Mrs. Betz Succeeds Mrs. Matteson at Home For Aged as President of Managers' Board

The average age of 36 residents at the Home for the Aged of Ulster County, 80 Washington avenue, is 85 years, according to information included in the secretary's report given at the annual meeting of the board of managers held Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Gerard Betz of this city was elected president of the board to succeed Mrs. B. H. Matteson of New Paltz who retired after serving two terms in that office.

OFFICERS reelected to serve for the ensuing year include Mrs. C. V. Gunther, Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews, and Mrs. Jacob Elting, first, second and third vice - presidents, respectively; Mrs. Leonard Flicker, treasurer and Mrs. George M. Hard, recording secretary. Mrs. Jack Gill was elected to the office of corresponding secretary.

New members elected to the board include the Mmes. Henry Lambert Bibby, G. Wallace Codwise, Roger Pryor, Harold S. Loughran and Miss Jane Austin. Retiring managers are the Mmes. William H. Brigham, B. H. Matteson, E. C. Reed, Alfred Schmid and C. S. Treadwell.

BEFORE TURNING over the gavel Mrs. Mateson thanked the many committees who worked with her during two terms and offered suggestions for future consideration. She urged the managers to keep in close personal touch with the residents at the home. "There are always bad periods for individuals and we must help them particularly during these times," she said. She continued, "We must do more on the personal side rather than acting for the most part as a group."

Mrs. Matteson asked that the managers seriously consider having a TV set installed at the home, and work towards that end. She congratulated the board on its "good fortune in having Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Tandy at the home in their capacity as superintendents" and commended their good judgment in settling small problems.

Five new members were elected to the associate list. They are Mrs. John N. Cordts, Mrs. Robert Herzog, Mrs. Fred Schwenk, Mrs. Bernard Forst and Mrs. Hugh Elwyn.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED that the first part of a history of the Home for the Aged has been completed by William Heidgerd of New Paltz and covers the period from 1920 to 1930. B. H. Matteson also of New Paltz is compiling the history from 1930 to 1946.

The managers gave their retiring president a rising vote of thanks as a token of the admiration they felt for her devoted service to the Home family during her terms of office.

Appointments to committees were made by Mrs. Betz. Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr was named as Good Cheer chairman. Others are:

Applications committee—Mrs. William MacNamee, chairman; Mrs. C. V. Gunther and Mrs. Clyde Wonderly.

Visiting—Mrs. Deweese DeWitt, chairman; Mrs. Howard St. John, Mrs. Henry Lambert Bibby, Miss Jane Austin, Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, and Mrs. Harold S. Loughran.

House and purchasing—Mrs. Jay W. Rifenbary, chairman; Mrs. Jacob Elting, Mrs. Joseph Garland, Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews, Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds, and Mrs. Harry Halverson.

Entertainment — Mrs. N. Levan Haver and Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds, co-chairmen; Mrs. H. M. Cameron, Mrs. G. Wallace Codwise, and Mrs. Roger Pryor.

Publicity — Mrs. George M. Hard.

Auditing—Mrs. Howard R. St. John, chairman; Mrs. Reynolds B. Carr.

Reports were presented by the secretary, treasurer, and chairmen of all committees.

RECORDING secretary Hard gave a detailed report of the year's activities, highlights of which for public interest were:

"It has been a year of satisfying work and gratifying accomplishment. Our president, Mrs. B. H. Matteson with the complete cooperation and utmost interest of all working committees, has not only maintained the fine standards of the home, but has in numerous instances added to greater comfort for its residents."

Relative to the crafts program, supervised by Mrs. Gunther, the report said that "the project besides having excellent theraputic value also contributed financially as most of the articles made by the residents were sold on Donation Day. Proceeds were deposited in the Good Cheer Fund for special purchases at the Home.

"A LETTER from the area director of the State of New York Department of Social Welfare, Albany, said 'We were pleased to observe that the Home continues to provide good care for a group of senior citizens of Ulster county. All residents seemed to be comfortable and well cared for.

"Approximately 30 applications were forwarded as requested during the year. Eight have been accepted and the names of the applicants added to the waiting list.

"There are 30 single and three double rooms in the home, and all are occupied. The average age of the residents is 85 years. Two new members were added to the family during 1954 and there was one death. There were 35 names on the waiting list at the end of the year.

"The board takes this opportunity to express its appreciation to all county residents, community groups, and business establishments that have in so many ways brought happiness to our family at the Home during the year."

WCTU Receives Note On Korean Clothing

Port Ewen, Jan. 28—The January meeting of the Ulster Park-Port Ewen WCTU was held at the Methodist parsonage with Mrs. Fenton C. St. John presiding. Mrs. Henry Osborn, program leader, presented the following program:

Singing, This Is My Father's World, the scripture lesson, the 18th chapter of Exodus was read by Mrs. Osborn, prayer by Miss Mary F. Bishop. The subject of the meeting was legislation and laws. Readings were given by the members and members responded to roll call with a Bible verse containing the word law. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Leslie Herring, president.

An interesting letter was read from Pfc. Calvin Brueckner who is stationed at the 21st Station Hospital in Pusan, Korea, expressing his appreciation for the large box of new clothing sent by the local WCTU to him for the Korean children at Christmas time. The warm clothing, he noted, helped to make the holiday more happy for the children as he said the weather is extremely cold in that country.

The meeting closed with the singing of Bless Be the Tie That Binds and the WCTU benediction. A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. St. John

Also attending were Mrs. Otis Terwilliger, Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Roy Van Demark, Mrs. Charles Neice, Mrs. Samuel P. Tinney, Mrs. Elizabeth McLain, Mrs. Edgar Pilz and Miss Annie Terpening. Pfc. Brueckner is the nephew of Mrs. Otis Terwilliger of Port Ewen.

Old Timers To Honor Hoffman, Black, Baker

Dinner Slated For February 22

Two former area southpaw pitching greats and one of Kingston's finest all-round athletes will be honored by the Old Timers Baseball Association on Tuesday, Feb. 22, at Cuneo's Restaurant.

The pitchers are Walt Black and Eddie Baker. The versatile star is Joe Hoffman, who excelled in baseball, football and basketball in a long athletic career.

THE TRIO WAS selected as this year's honor guests at a meeting of the association last night at Jack Dawkins' Ten Grand Tavern. Each player will receive a special electric clock.

In four previous annual dinners, the Old Timers Association has honored nine all-time greats of local baseball, including Bernard A. Culloton, Carl Glaser, Joseph "Kid" Moore, Matty Deegan, Hank Cragan, John McCardle, James Volker, Dewey Van Buren and the late Eddie Scherer.

Efforts will be made to get a prominent baseball figure for guest speaker.

Baker, Hoffman and Black join the local Hall of Fame with strong credentials.

BAKER WAS A SUPERB pitcher in the downtown area of the city and was good enough to get a contract with the original Kingston Colonials. In recent years he has been a standout supporter of Little League baseball.

A versatile athlete in high school, Hoffman went on to make his mark in three professional sports. After leaving KHS, he played topnotch independent basketball and was a star with the Yellow Jackets when the team was one of the finest independent outfits in the country. His baseball career covered more than 25 years and he played with every team of note in the Hudson valley area, including the original Colonials.

BLACK WAS THE victim of a tragic accident at the peak of his pitching career. The slim southpaw was one of the truly graceful performers in local diamond history. He appeared headed for big time baseball when he was seriously injured in an accident that ended his career.

Obnoxious as it may seem to some of the keglers who are suffering damaged egos and lowered averages, the controversial "across-the-house" rule in the Ferraro Major League is a real test of bowling.

The rule follows the Chicago Classic and other major patterns where teams roll three games weekly across six alleys. Under such circumstances averages are bound to dip, but nobody falls asleep on a pet pair of drives.

Bowlers with natural equipment will survive the gruelling test. For one thing, the 190 average becomes more sacred and more elusive than in recent years. Another factor in the subpar ratings is the fact the Bowlodrome lanes have been newly resurfaced and until the lanes have developed their microscopic grooves, scoring will be tougher.

The city tournament averages reiterated an established fact—Johnny Ferraro is still far and away the city's best kegler. His 195 rating gave him a 9-point bulge over runnerup Larry Petersen Jr. Most of the "name" trundlers were bracketed somewhere in that 180-186 group. There were some notable letdowns—Tom Carlino (175), Jackie Ferraro (173), Fred Rice (174), Clifton Quick (174) and Whitey Crispell (178) but these are established performers who will be close to normal by the end of the 35-week grind.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Steve Nagy's victory in the National Match Game tournament will be popular among the nation's keglers. But no more so than Sylvia Wene's (Philadelphia) triumph in the women's division. Marion Ladewig, the Grand Rapids immortal, who won five straight All-Star titles has announced her retirement. . . . Remember the predictions when last year's Poughkeepsie Cabs (now the Dutchess Recs) beat Jones Dairy for the Hudson Valley title. Nobody would beat them for years. The Recs are still capable of repeating but are not the overpowering aggregation of a year ago. They had four young men—Dick Rhea, Phil Versace, George Baird and Jake Charter—who with any fifth man were expected to reign for years. But things happen to bowling team personnel. In the big major leagues of the nation, none of the hotshot teams stays with the same roster more than two years. That's the mistake Jones Dairy made. From their current roster of Larry Weishaupt, Charlie Gildersleeve, Joe Schrowang, Harold Broskie, Charlie Manfro and Johnny Ferraro, they should be able to mould a real contender in 1955-56.

• Jake Chichelsky's Corner:

Governor Clinton Market is the hottest team in the Ferraro Major at present, having ousted Hayes-Jarrett from first place. Jones Dairyettes and Manhattan Bowling Balls are waging an exciting duel in the Women's Classic. A 10-pin tap on his second ball in the tenth balked George Shufeldt's bid for a perfect 300 in the Ferraro Major last week. If memory serves us correctly, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer had the same situation on the same alley about four years ago. One of our most rabid bowling fans, Jim Pruden, has deserted the bachelor ranks. The best of luck from all your friends, Jim. For a man his age, Elbert Van Keuren throws a terrific bowling ball. When we reach his age, most of us will be happy to watch from the sidelines. More young bowlers with a future—Red Gorsline, the baseball player; Gerry Smith and Aaron Bahl, who socked his first "600" last week. Can anyone tell us who bowls in more leagues than Ed Auclair or Joe Ausanio?

Lou Campi, the right-foot-first kegler and former national champion, Junie McMahon, upheld eastern prestige in the Nationals. Campi bagged a 300. Another stickout in the early going was Rudy Fassl of Cincinnati, formerly of New York. Old timers will recall Fassl as a member of the famed Pabst Blue Ribbons, who rolled an exhibition at Emerick's Recreation about 20 years ago. And ran into a flock of 3-10 "baby splits" with his sharp breaking hook. That was Al Lattin's famed powerhouse of Fassl, Sid Baum, Jack Schweitzer, Jack Wilday and Tony Sparando.

Ameche To Colts

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Two of the slickest quarterbacks of the 1954 college season—George Shaw of Oregon and Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame—may ply their trade within 35 miles of each other next fall and make contenders of two of the weaker sisters in the National Football League.

Shaw, a 185-pound throwing whiz who led the nation's major colleges in total offense, was the surprise bonus pick of the Baltimore Colts in yesterday's prolonged professional draft, enabling the Washington Redskins gleefully to pluck the All-America Guglielmi.

"WE DIDN'T THINK we had a prayer of getting Guglielmi," said Washington's coach Joe Kuharich. "He was our No. 1 pick from the beginning but we felt sure he would be grabbed before we could get to him.

"We think he will be available for a year of football before going into the army, and we expect to play him plenty."

Wilbur Ewbank, the Baltimore coach, explained his choice of Shaw, a third string All-America, over the highly touted engineer of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish.

"We think Shaw is the best quarterback in the country, barring none," the Colts coach said. "We know he is a great passer — he proved it with a losing team. We weren't too sure about the passing of Guglielmi because Notre Dame isn't essentially a passing team."

The Colts in their first regular pick seized Alan (The Horse) Ameche, stampeding All-America fullback from Wisconsin, giving them a potent one-two punch on the ground and in the air.

Seixas and Trabert Cop Aussie Doubles

First American Win Since 1933

Adelaide, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas followed up their Davis Cup triumph by becoming today the first American team to win the Australian National doubles tennis championship in 22 years.

Playing in 88-degree heat they whipped Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1 overpowering the Aussies with a faultless display in the final set.

The doubles trophy now comes to the United States along with the coveted Davis Cup that Tony and Vic wrested from the Aussies a month ago.

ELLSWORTH VINES and Keith Gledhill of California were the last American team to win the Australian National doubles and that was back in 1933.

The brilliant play of Tony and Vic in the fifth set made futile a rally by Hoad and Rosewall that saw them square the match after losing the first two sets.

So deadly was their execution that the final set was over in 12 minutes. They yielded only three points while taking a 5-0 lead.

After Hoad had won his service for the Aussies' only game of the set, the Americans gained two match points at 40-15 with Seixas serving. The Aussies went to deuce but the Americans took the advantage on a Seixas bullet serve that Hoad was unable to return. Hoad then netted a volley to give the Americans set and match point.

TWO DOUBLEFAULTS by Trabert in the sixth game of the third set, plus a net by Seixas and a kill of a lob by Rosewall, prevented a 3-set sweep for the Americans.

The Aussies, fighting desperately, rallied repeatedly in a thrilling fourth set that had the gallery cheering every point.

In the seventh game of the set with the Aussies ahead 4-2, Tony and Vic took a 40-0 lead on Rosewall's service. But Hoad and Rosewall staved off those three game points, then survived five more to finally carry the game.

After Seixas made it 5-3 the Americans had two game points with Hoad down 15-40, but again the Aussies rallied to take game and set.

Rangers Blast Sawchuk Myth

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers apparently are not going any place in the National Hockey League but they at least have proved one thing—it is possible to score a goal on Detroit ice against the Red Wing goalie, Terry Sawchuk.

In fact the Rangers did it three times last night as they tied the second place Red Wings 3-3. But the New Yorkers lost ground in their attempt to gain the fourth and final spot in the Stanley Cup playoffs since the Boston Bruins beat the lowly Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 with Lorne Ferguson accounting for three of the goals.

Until Pete Conacher beat Sawchuk at 4:15 of the first period, the Detroit goal tender had blanked the opposition on home ice for 249 minutes — slightly more than four games.

BUT IT WAS Vic Howe, younger brother of Detroit's famous Gordie Howe, who provided the game tying goal. The younger Howe, playing only his 13th NHL game, whipped in a 35 footer at 11:57 of the third period to deadlock the game. Gordie, himself, went scoreless.

Tail Enders Harrass Knicks

By The Associated Press

If the New York Knickerbockers are going to make a race for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Assn., they'll have to learn the secret of defeating teams in the lower echelon.

The Knicks, two games below the .500 mark and four back of the pace setting Syracuse Nationals, have dropped four of their last five games. Two each to the Rochester Royals and the Philadelphia Warriors.

THE SECOND defeat this week by the Warriors came last night in Philadelphia when the Knicks lost 92-83. The Boston Celtics lost to Rochester 98-92 on the same card and dropped to second place in the division as Syracuse measured Fort Wayne's Pistons 94-79.

The Milwaukee Hawks finally turned the tables on Minneapolis in the leaguer's other game. After bowing five straight times to the Lakers, including three games on a southern tour, the Hawks won 85-79 at Huron, S. D.

The Knicks came within five points of the Warriors on two occasions in the last six minutes but the comeback was halted by Jack George, who sparked Philadelphia with his floor play. George tallied 23 points, but scoring honors went to Paul Arizin with 25, one more than Neil Johnston.

Six YM Boys Are Super Salesmen

It was reported by William A. Randall, youth director, that six boys have been ranked as super salesmen in the soap promotion to raise money for YMCA world service in 54 countries.

Leading in the sale, which is to continue for three weeks, are Don Beesner, John Zaccheo, Alva DuBois, Dan Puglise, Arthur Rifenbery and Ronald Freer.

In order to qualify as super salesmen, each had to sell 25 or more boxes of soap.

Director Randall said the Youth Center said the Friday night groups from MJM School will meet from 7 to 10 p. m.

Saturday night dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock will be open to all high school students.

In fact the Rangers did it three times last night as they tied the second place Red Wings 3-3. But the New Yorkers lost ground in their attempt to gain the fourth and final spot in the Stanley Cup playoffs since the Boston Bruins beat the lowly Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 with Lorne Ferguson accounting for three of the goals.

Until Pete Conacher beat Sawchuk at 4:15 of the first period, the Detroit goal tender had blanked the opposition on home ice for 249 minutes — slightly more than four games.

BUT IT WAS Vic Howe, younger brother of Detroit's famous Gordie Howe, who provided the game tying goal. The younger Howe, playing only his 13th NHL game, whipped in a 35 footer at 11:57 of the third period to deadlock the game. Gordie, himself, went scoreless.

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

Obnoxious as it may seem to some of the keglers who are suffering damaged egos and lowered averages, the controversial "across-the-house" rule in the Ferraro Major League is a real test of bowling.

The rule follows the Chicago Classic and other major patterns where teams roll three games weekly across six alleys. Under such circumstances averages are bound to dip, but nobody falls asleep on a pet pair of drives.

Bowlers with natural equipment will survive the gruelling test. For one thing, the 190 average becomes more sacred and more elusive than in recent years. Another factor in the subpar ratings is the fact the Bowlodrome lanes have been newly resurfaced and until the lanes have developed their microscopic grooves, scoring will be tougher.

The city tournament averages reiterated an established fact—Johnny Ferraro is still far and away the city's best kegler. His 195 rating gave him a 9-point bulge over runnerup Larry Petersen Jr. Most of the "name" trundlers were bracketed somewhere in that 180-186 group. There were some notable letdowns—Tom Carlino (175), Jackie Ferraro (173), Fred Rice (174), Clifton Quick (174) and Whitey Crispell (178) but these are established performers who will be close to normal by the end of the 35-week grind.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Steve Nagy's victory in the National Match Game tournament will be popular among the nation's keglers. But no more so than Sylvia Wene's (Philadelphia) triumph in the women's division. Marion Ladewig, the Grand Rapids immortal, who won five straight All-Star titles has announced her retirement. . . . Remember the predictions when last year's Poughkeepsie Cabs (now the Dutchess Recs) beat Jones Dairy for the Hudson Valley title. Nobody would beat them for years. The Recs are still capable of repeating but are not the overpowering aggregation of a year ago. They had four young men—Dick Rhea, Phil Versace, George Baird and Jake Charter—who with any fifth man were expected to reign for years. But things happen to bowling team personnel. In the big major leagues of the nation, none of the hotshot teams stays with the same roster more than two years. That's the mistake Jones Dairy made. From their current roster of Larry Weishaupt, Charlie Gildersleeve, Joe Schrowang, Harold Broskie, Charlie Manfro and Johnny Ferraro, they should be able to mould a real contender in 1955-56.

• Jake Chichelsky's Corner:

Governor Clinton Market is the hottest team in the Ferraro Major at present, having ousted Hayes-Jarrett from first place. Jones Dairyettes and Manhattan Bowling Balls are waging an exciting duel in the Women's Classic. A 10-pin tap on his second ball in the tenth balked George Shufeldt's bid for a perfect 300 in the Ferraro Major last week. If memory serves us correctly, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer had the same situation on the same alley about four years ago. One of our most rabid bowling fans, Jim Pruden, has deserted the bachelor ranks. The best of luck from all your friends, Jim. For a man his age, Elbert Van Keuren throws a terrific bowling ball. When we reach his age, most of us will be happy to watch from the sidelines. More young bowlers with a future—Red Gorsline, the baseball player; Gerry Smith and Aaron Bahl, who socked his first "600" last week. Can anyone tell us who bowls in more leagues than Ed Auclair or Joe Ausanio?

Lou Campi, the right-foot-first kegler and former national champion, Junie McMahon, upheld eastern prestige in the Nationals. Campi bagged a 300. Another stickout in the early going was Rudy Fassl of Cincinnati, formerly of New York. Old timers will recall Fassl as a member of the famed Pabst Blue Ribbons, who rolled an exhibition at Emerick's Recreation about 20 years ago. And ran into a flock of 3-10 "baby splits" with his sharp breaking hook. That was Al Lattin's famed powerhouse of Fassl, Sid Baum, Jack Schweitzer, Jack Wilday and Tony Sparando.

Ameche To Colts

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—Two of the slickest quarterbacks of the 1954 college season—George Shaw of Oregon and Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame—may ply their trade within 35 miles of each other next fall and make contenders of two of the weaker sisters in the National Football League.

Shaw, a 185-pound throwing whiz who led the nation's major colleges in total offense, was the surprise bonus pick of the Baltimore Colts in yesterday's prolonged professional draft, enabling the Washington Redskins gleefully to pluck the All-America Guglielmi.

"WE DIDN'T THINK we had a prayer of getting Guglielmi," said Washington's coach Joe Kuharich. "He was our No. 1 pick from the beginning but we felt sure he would be grabbed before we could get to him.

"We think he will be available for a year of football before going into the army, and we expect to play him plenty."

Wilbur Ewbank, the Baltimore coach, explained his choice of Shaw, a third string All-America, over the highly touted engineer of Notre Dame's Fighting Irish.

"We think Shaw is the best quarterback in the country, barring none," the Colts coach said. "We know he is a great passer — he proved it with a losing team. We weren't too sure about the passing of Guglielmi because Notre Dame isn't essentially a passing team."

The Colts in their first regular pick seized Alan (The Horse) Ameche, stampeding All-America fullback from Wisconsin, giving them a potent one-two punch on the ground and in the air.

Tail Enders Harrass Knicks

By The Associated Press

If the New York Knickerbockers are going to make a race for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Assn., they'll have to learn the secret of defeating teams in the lower echelon.

The Knicks, two games below the .500 mark and four back of the pace setting Syracuse Nationals, have dropped four of their last five games. Two each to the Rochester Royals and the Philadelphia Warriors.

THE SECOND defeat this week by the Warriors came last night in Philadelphia when the Knicks lost 92-83. The Boston Celtics lost to Rochester 98-92 on the same card and dropped to second place in the division as Syracuse measured Fort Wayne's Pistons 94-79.

The Milwaukee Hawks finally turned the tables on Minneapolis in the leaguer's other game. After bowing five straight times to the Lakers, including three games on a southern tour, the Hawks won 85-79 at Huron, S. D.

The Knicks came within five points of the Warriors on two occasions in the last six minutes but the comeback was halted by Jack George, who sparked Philadelphia with his floor play. George tallied 23 points, but scoring honors went to Paul Arizin with 25, one more than Neil Johnston.

Six YM Boys Are Super Salesmen

Announcements from the YMCA today concerned the soap sale in the boys' division and the Youth Center schedule this weekend for students.

It was reported by William A. Randall, youth director, that six boys have been ranked as super salesmen in the soap promotion to raise money for YMCA world service in 54 countries.

Leading in the sale, which is to continue for three weeks, are Don Beesner, John Zaccheo, Alva DuBois, Dan Puglise, Arthur Rifenbery and Ronald Freer.

In order to qualify as super salesmen, each had to sell 25 or more boxes of soap.

Director Randall said the Youth Center said the Friday night groups from MJM School will meet from 7 to 10 p. m.

Saturday night dancing from 8 to 11 o'clock will be open to all high school students.

Marquette Extends Longest College Streak to 14 Games

(By The Associated Press)

Even Marquette Coach Jack Nagle must be surprised over the Warriors basketball success this season after their mediocre showing a year ago.

Marquette, the nation's 11th ranking team, has put together a 14-game winning streak—longest in collegiate circles this season—after an opening loss to Michigan State.

The Warriors extended their skein with a 73-70 victory over Loyola of the South last night. The streak will be on the line when the teams meet again in New Orleans tonight.

NAGLE TOOK OVER the helm at Marquette last season and his team won 11 and lost 15. Although Marquette had 10 lettermen returning for the 1954-55 campaign, Nagle never figured that his club would improve as much as it has. The team's showing thus far has exceeded his fondest expectations.

The warriors were hard-pressed to repel Loyola, Marquette piled up a 36-22 halftime bulge, but then had to withstand a last half surge by the New Orleans club.

Rube Schultz, a 6-6 senior, led the Marquette attack with 25 points. Bobby O'Donnell sparked Loyola's comeback, finishing with 23.

ACTION AGAIN was light last night with most of the major teams still idle due to mid-year examinations. There was another noteworthy happening, however, on the collegiate front when Denver broke an 11-game Skyline Conference losing streak by upsetting defending champion Colorado A&M, 73-69.

The Pioneers, who finished in the cellar last year, had lost five in a row this season after bowing six straight times at the end of the 1953-54 campaign.

Despite the victory, the Pioneers remained last in the league standings.

Ski Conditions

New York, Jan. 28 (AP)—The State Commerce Department reported these conditions yesterday at ski centers:

Whiteface Mt. (lower)—3 windblown; 10 packed; good.

SURPRISE—Angus, a mixed breed dog, got the surprise of its life when a tame rat which he'd been watching for hours suddenly jumped toward him. The rat—one of five—was brought home by Angus' mistress, Judy Van Every, because of mid-year examinations and the special attention the rats require. The rats are being used at Judy's Milwaukee high school for experiments in vitamin deficiency. (AP Wirephoto)

UNDECIDED—George Moore, Jr., is shown in a two-man submarine after it was launched on Lake Texoma, near Durant, Okla. Stern of the midget ship is almost submerged, and the bow is awash. The ship is designed primarily for underwater photography and exploration. Pincers on the bow are for picking up buried treasure—if any.

"DREAM" TRUCK WITH MANY USES—This is a drawing of a new experimental truck created by General Motors in Detroit. The all-purpose delivery truck, with a 180-horsepower engine, will be called "L'Universelle." According to company officials it can easily be converted into a bus, taxi, station wagon or sportsman's car. It is ten inches lower and ten inches shorter than current panel delivery trucks, yet has greater capacity. A panoramic windshield is one of the many passenger features of the unit. Part of truck's side, background, can be opened for loading.

Manhattan Plays Siena

The big one—the game that always packs Albany Armory—comes up for the Siena College basketball Indians Saturday night when they play arch-foe Manhattan at 8:30 p. m.

This will be the 12th renewal, with the Jaspers holding a 6-5 edge in the series. Manhattan earned the advantage last season, 72-66, but not before an overtime session elapsed.

COACH DANNY Cunha feels that a victory in this one would be the psychological spur the Indians need to turn a slow-starting season into success. Primed to go after the win are Joe Gundermann, Timmy Hill, Tom Pottenburgh, Frank Koenig, and either Dick Whyte or Justin McCarthy. The latter, whether he starts or not, is a transfer student from Manhattan, and will see action against his former mates.

But Ken Norton's Jaspers will not take kindly to the role of psychological spur for the Indians. Ed O'Connor, 6-6 senior whom Norton has called the best big man in Manhattan history, is the chief obstacle in Siena's path. He's averaging 20 points per game, and getting support from Jim Lake, 6-foot jumping-jack; sophomores Gerry Paulson, 6-2, and Angelo Lombardo, 6-4; and Bob Otten, 6-4.

This team owns a 9-2 record, prior to a Friday date with LeMoyne. They've beaten such clubs as Brigham Young, St. Francis of Brooklyn, Navy, and St. Peters.

ABC Tourney World's Largest Participation Sports Event

Milwaukee, Jan. 28—From a humble beginning in a dimly lit bowling hall in Chicago 54 years ago, the American Bowling Congress tournament has developed into the world's largest participation sports event in which an average of 25,000 men take part each year.

When the 1955 tournament begins its 71 day run March 26 at Fort Wayne, Ind., the first of nearly 30,000 bowlers from more than 40 states, Alaska and Canada will be taking pot shots at a prize list expected to reach $375,000.

That's a far cry from the first tournament, back in January, 1901 at Chicago, when 41 five man teams battled it out four days for prizes totaling $1,592.

THEN THE ABC, six years old and suffering growing pains, had only 1,000 members in 14 states. Today, the far flung Congress has 2,000,000 members on 375,000 teams in 45 states, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Central America, Mexico, Canal Zone, Republic of Panama, Saudi Arabia and Europe.

The ABC tournament reached its peak in 1953 at Chicago when 40,900 men competed for $573,000 in prizes. No other sports event in the world comes close to those figures.

In the early days, no one much cared about the tournament except the competing bowlers, and it was unusual to find more than a line or two about it in newspapers.

NOW THE CHAMBER of Commerce in cities like Chicago, Detroit, New York and Miami, Fla., bid eagerly for the tournament. With 400 or more men coming into town every day for 60 to 93 days, the big show means several million dollars to hotels, restaurants and merchants in the host city.

Time is running short for bowlers who will seek entry in the current tournament. Final entry deadline is Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Elks Club shaded the Kingston Power Boat Association, 4-3, in the key match of the week in the Intra-Fraternal Shuffleboard League to maintain a three-game edge over the losers.

Moose Lodge eked out a 4-3 squeaker over the Knights of Columbus and VFW starched St. Mary's Society, 6-1.

VFW SHUFFLERS piled up high team score of 172, followed by K of C 156, Elks 152, KPBA 138, Moose 126 and St. Mary's 97.

Roche and Dresser of the VFW paced the tandem scoring with 28. Other top combines included Provenzano-Van Deusen, Elks, 28; Rhymer-Jump, KPBA, 28; Saccoman-Clark, KC, 27; Sottile-Alecca, St. Mary's, 26.

SAL MODICA of the Elks Club achieved a rare 10-point score in a single slide.

Charles Higgins of the Elks and Rhymer of the KPBA tied for individual honors with 22 points. Herb Van Deusen, Elks, tossed 21 and Ashdown of the VFW had 20.

Other individual leaders included Roche, VFW, 19; Staicher, KC, 18; Kelly, KC, and Perry, St. Mary's, 17; Sottile, St. Mary's and Fabiano, Moose, 15; Soule and Cline, Moose, 14.

The last National League player to hit .400 was Bill Terry of the Giants in 1930. He hit .401.

Front running squads picked up ground in the Ulster County Tavern shuffleboard league this week, as league-leading Rookies Tavern blanked Ruby Inn, 10-0, to maintain a 1-game edge over Lincoln Park Inn in the loss column.

The Tavern has a 62-51 margin in the win column.

Lincoln Park also won a shutout, 10-0, over Hilltop Rest and Reid's Hotel missed by just a game against Jake's Grill for a 9-1 decision.

ONE OF THE BEST doubles efforts of the week was a 26-0 shutout by Carpenter and Hotaling of Lincoln Park Inn.

Double winners included G. Schupteer-H. Wolff and L. Ferraro-G. Westfall, Rookies; B. Beesmer-P. Fisher, B. Westphal-C. Nichols, B. Miggins-B. Morris, H. Houghtaling- J. Carpenter, W. Bartholmess-J. Struble, Lincoln Park Inn; J.-Reid-K. Bordenstein, J. Scheib-G. Kelder, E. Kelder-J. DeFelice, Reid's Hotel.

In next Tuesday's matches, Rookies Tavern travels to Ruby Inn; Lincoln Park Inn visits Hilltop Rest, and Reid's Hotel is at home against Village Rest of Port Ewen.

NFA Raps Comets

Newburgh Academy's undefeated Goldbacks were a stop closer to their fifth DUSO League basketball pennant in the last six years, after flattening Fallsburgh Central, 79-41.

Mickey Burkoski set the pace with 22 points as the Academians romped to their 8th straight conference success. Bob Slater hooped 17 for the Sullivan quintet.

POST-EXAM action resumes in the DUSO next Tuesday with Middletown and Monticello tied for second with 6 wins and 2 losses each.

Newburgh entertains Poughkeepsie High; Port Jervis goes to Middletown; Monticello goes to Ellenville and Fallsburgh hosts Liberty.

The score:

Newburgh (79)—Kaplan f 12, McDonough f 12, Castenaro f 6, Huber f 7, Burkoski c 22, Naylor c, Clark g 10, O'Reilly g, Schoenberger g 6, Cook g 9.

Fallsburgh (41)—Krutman f 1, Findling f 4, Slater f 17, Abrams f, Sacks c, Allenstein c 2, Dill, c; Bresky g, Fedun g 7, Kove g, Kinsbrunner g 5, Wilson g 5, Altman g.

Small Change Cache

Detroit (AP)—Police counted pennies, quarters and silver dollars for seven hours after firemen found a hoard of coins in a house where they were fighting a fire. In half-bushel baskets, boxes and paper bags, the coins totaled $3,449.65. The owner got himself arrested for investigation when police found his record showed 19 arrests and nine convictions as a numbers racket operator. But the owner stuck by his story that the silver was collected over the years in a haberdashery he operated.

One Way

Norwalk, Conn. (AP)—Wesley Bruce, 43, of Brockton, Mass., built a bonfire at night in the center esplanade of the busy Connecticut to New York Merritt Parkway. He explained he wanted someone to stop and give him a ride. Police did, right to the lockup.

MRO, Redlegs Win Rec Games

The MRO girls trounced Central Lunch, 20-7, and Redlegs won over Rainbows, 8-4, last night in the Recreation women's basketball league.

Palmer 10-Under In Thunderbird

Palm Springs, Calif., Jan. 28 (AP)—Johnny Palmer of North Carolina, second high money winner on the 1955 winter tournament trail, led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf tournament today.

The 36-year-old star from Charlotte whacked out a 10-under par 62 in the first round, and with one exception, held a four-stroke advantage starting out this morning.

THE EXCEPTION was tall Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., who knocked down seven birdies on the back nine yesterday and ended the round with a 63.

Play is at the Thunderbird Country Club, a course stretched out to about 6,700 yards, with par 36-36-72—a par that baffled only three professionals in the select array of 42 players.

Three managed to equal the figure, but 36 broke regulation figures.

Tied at 66 were Peter Thomson, the British Open Champion from Australia, Wally Ulrich, Jim Turnesa and Big Mike Souchak, the latter a fellow North Carolinian of Palmer.

New York Yankee catcher Yogi Berra was a star soccer player in high school.

Marquette Extends Longest College Streak to 14 Games

(By The Associated Press)

Even Marquette Coach Jack Nagle must be surprised over the Warriors basketball success this season after their mediocre showing a year ago.

Marquette, the nation's 11th ranking team, has put together a 14-game winning streak—longest in collegiate circles this season—after an opening loss to Michigan State.

The Warriors extended their skein with a 73-70 victory over Loyola of the South last night. The streak will be on the line when the teams meet again in New Orleans tonight.

NAGLE TOOK OVER the helm at Marquette last season and his team won 11 and lost 15. Although Marquette had 10 lettermen returning for the 1954-55 campaign, Nagle never figured that his club would improve as much as it has. The team's showing thus far has exceeded his fondest expectations.

The warriors were hardpressed to repel Loyola, Marquette piled up a 36-22 halftime bulge, but then had to withstand a last half surge by the New Orleans club.

Rube Schultz, a 6-6 senior, led the Marquette attack with 25 points. Bobby O'Donnell sparked Loyola's comeback, finishing with 23.

ACTION AGAIN was light last night with most of the major teams still idle due to midyear examinations. There was another noteworthy happening, however, on the collegiate front when Denver broke an 11-game Skyline Conference losing streak by upsetting defending champion Colorado A&M, 73-69.

The Pioneers, who finished in the cellar last year, had lost five in a row this season after bowing six straight times at the end of the 1953-54 campaign.

Despite the victory, the Pioneers remained last in the league standings.

Manhattan Plays Siena

The big one—the game that always packs Albany Armory—comes up for the Siena College basketball Indians Saturday night when they play arch-foe Manhattan at 8:30 p. m.

This will be the 12th renewal, with the Jaspers holding a 6-5 edge in the series. Manhattan earned the advantage last season, 72-66, but not before an overtime session elapsed.

COACH DANNY Cunha feels that a victory in this one would be the psychological spur the Indians need to turn a slow-starting season into success. Primed to go after the win are Joe Gundermann, Timmy Hill, Tom Pottenburgh, Frank Koenig, and either Dick Whyte or Justin McCarthy. The latter, whether he starts or not, is a transfer student from Manhattan, and will see action against his former mates.

But Ken Norton's Jaspers will not take kindly to the role of psychological spur for the Indians. Ed O'Connor, 6-6 senior whom Norton has called the best big man in Manhattan history, is the chief obstacle in Siena's path. He's averaging 20 points per game, and getting support from Jim Lake, 6-foot jumping-jack; sophomores Gerry Paulson, 6-2, and Angelo Lombardo, 6-4; and Bob Otten, 6-4.

This team owns a 9-2 record, prior to a Friday date with LeMoyne. They've beaten such clubs as Brigham Young, St. Francis of Brooklyn, Navy, and St. Peters.

Front running squads picked up ground in the Ulster County Tavern shuffleboard league this week, as league-leading Rookies Tavern blanked Ruby Inn, 10-0, to maintain a 1-game edge over Lincoln Park Inn in the loss column.

The Tavern has a 62-51 margin in the win column.

Lincoln Park also won a shutout, 10-0, over Hilltop Rest and Reid's Hotel missed by just a game against Jake's Grill for a 9-1 decision.

ONE OF THE BEST doubles efforts of the week was a 26-0 shutout by Carpenter and Hotaling of Lincoln Park Inn.

Double winners included G. Schupteer-H. Wolff and L. Ferraro-G. Westfall, Rookies; B. Beesmer-P. Fisher, B. Westphal-C. Nichols, B. Miggins-B. Morris, H. Houghtaling- J. Carpenter, W. Bartholmess-J. Struble, Lincoln Park Inn; J.-Reid-K. Bordenstein, J. Scheib-G. Kelder, E. Kelder-J. DeFelice, Reid's Hotel.

ABC Tourney World's Largest Participation Sports Event

Milwaukee, Jan. 28—From a humble beginning in a dimly lit bowling hall in Chicago 54 years ago, the American Bowling Congress tournament has developed into the world's largest participation sports event in which an average of 25,000 men take part each year.

When the 1955 tournament begins its 71 day run March 26 at Fort Wayne, Ind., the first of nearly 30,000 bowlers from more than 40 states, Alaska and Canada will be taking pot shots at a prize list expected to reach $375,000.

That's a far cry from the first tournament, back in January, 1901 at Chicago, when 41 five man teams battled it out four days for prizes totaling $1,592.

THEN THE ABC, six years old and suffering growing pains, had only 1,000 members in 14 states. Today, the far flung Congress has 2,000,000 members on 375,000 teams in 45 states, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Central America, Mexico, Canal Zone, Republic of Panama, Saudi Arabia and Europe.

The ABC tournament reached its peak in 1953 at Chicago when 40,900 men competed for $573,000 in prizes. No other sports event in the world comes close to those figures.

In the early days, no one much cared about the tournament except the competing bowlers, and it was unusual to find more than a line or two about it in newspapers.

NOW THE CHAMBER of Commerce in cities like Chicago, Detroit, New York and Miami, Fla., bid eagerly for the tournament. With 400 or more men coming into town every day for 60 to 93 days, the big show means several million dollars to hotels, restaurants and merchants in the host city.

Time is running short for bowlers who will seek entry in the current tournament. Final entry deadline is Tuesday, Feb. 1.

Morhouse Says

for the meeting that the Republicans in New York state "are proud of our record of achievement in the field of public education."

"It represents more progress in 12 years than was recorded in any previous 25 years," he added.

This apparently was a reference to the 12 years during which former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was at Albany.

"It is a record of intelligent understanding of the challenges transformed into action to meet them," Heck continued. "It is a heritage of which we are proud and will never cease to preserve and advance."

Heck reviewed Republican achievements in bettering educational facilities in the state—including creation of the State University—and said Democratic state administrations in the 1930s did not have a progressive attitude toward schools.

Morhouse said in his speech that "a sniping warfare has broken out" against President Eisenhower "from the Albany executive office as well as from Washington."

"This nagging and heckling, once most marked among the extreme left-wingers of the Americans for Democratic Action, now has been taken up by others," Morhouse said, adding:

"It is very evident that Democratic party professionals in this state, from the governor down, are trying to chip away at the overwhelming public affection for our great President by any means they can invent. Of course they will have all the success of a gnat straining to topple a mountain."

Was Britain's Worst

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Last year was Britain's worst for strikes in ten years. Altogether 2,470,000 working days were lost in 1954. That topped every year since 1945, when the strike toll was 2,835,000 man days.

Heart Committee Has Meeting

Members oof the steering committee met with S. James Matthews, chairman, at the county building last evening to discuss ways and means for the success of the 1955 Heart Fund drive which opens February 1 and continues through February 28.

Members who have volunteered to serve on this committee are: Dr. Saul Goldfarb and Miss Mary Leach, sports events; Frederick Hoffman of Kingston and Thomas McKinney of Marlborough, newspaper publicity; Ernie Ward, radio and television; Mrs. Marion Sahler of Accord, industries.

Also meeting with the group were members in charge of plastic heart distribution in Kingston, Mrs. Vincent Gorman, Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Sam Gally, B'nai B'rith Auxiliary; Mrs. Arthur Keator, Kingston Chapter, O.E.S., and Mrs. Howard Shultis, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Plans for the campaign are also being made by chairmen working in the various townships of Ulster county.

Morhouse Says

for the meeting that the Republicans in New York state "are proud of our record of achievement in the field of public education."

"It represents more progress in 12 years than was recorded in any previous 25 years," he added.

This apparently was a reference to the 12 years during which former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was at Albany.

"It is a record of intelligent understanding of the challenges transformed into action to meet them," Heck continued. "It is a heritage of which we are proud and will never cease to preserve and advance."

Heck reviewed Republican achievements in bettering educational facilities in the state—including creation of the State University—and said Democratic state administrations in the 1930s did not have a progressive attitude toward schools.

Morhouse said in his speech that "a sniping warfare has broken out" against President Eisenhower "from the Albany executive office as well as from Washington."

"This nagging and heckling, once most marked among the extreme left-wingers of the Americans for Democratic Action, now has been taken up by others," Morhouse said, adding:

"It is very evident that Democratic party professionals in this state, from the governor down, are trying to chip away at the overwhelming public affection for our great President by any means they can invent. Of course they will have all the success of a gnat straining to topple a mountain."

Was Britain's Worst

London, Jan. 28 (AP)—Last year was Britain's worst for strikes in ten years. Altogether 2,470,000 working days were lost in 1954. That topped every year since 1945, when the strike toll was 2,835,000 man days.

Heart Committee Has Meeting

Members oof the steering committee met with S. James Matthews, chairman, at the county building last evening to discuss ways and means for the success of the 1955 Heart Fund drive which opens February 1 and continues through February 28.

Members who have volunteered to serve on this committee are: Dr. Saul Goldfarb and Miss Mary Leach, sports events; Frederick Hoffman of Kingston and Thomas McKinney of Marlborough, newspaper publicity; Ernie Ward, radio and television; Mrs. Marion Sahler of Accord, industries.

Also meeting with the group were members in charge of plastic heart distribution in Kingston, Mrs. Vincent Gorman, Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Sam Gally, B'nai B'rith Auxiliary; Mrs. Arthur Keator, Kingston Chapter, O.E.S., and Mrs. Howard Shultis, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Plans for the campaign are also being made by chairmen working in the various townships of Ulster county.

defendant filed a complaint. Meanwhile, trial would be suspended.

Jelke was convicted in 1953 of compulsory prostitution charges. The verdict was overturned last December on the ground that the trial judge, in barring the press and public from the court room during part of the testimony, had deprived the oleomargarine heir of his rights. Jelke is awaiting a new trial.

MORITT'S BILL would give a defendant recourse to the Appellate Division "whenever a court or judge makes an oral or written order, ruling or directive which depries a defendant of his right to a public trial."

Democratic Sen. Alfred Santangelo of Manhattan offered the bill to provide for court review of cases in which applicants for civil service jobs were rejected even though there were more positions open than there were applicants.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, sponsored a five-bill program that he said would "enable cities to let go of the apron strings by which they are tied to the state."

"The bills," Desmond said, "are to restore to the cities some of the powers the state gradually has taken from them . . ."

OTHER MEASURES WOULD:

Make it a felony, instead of a misdemeanor, to conspire to commit murder (Assemblyman Bernard Dubin, D-Queens).

Give the State Tax Commission power to suspend or revoke licenses of vendors who sell cigarettes at less than cost or who grant rebates in price, carries $25,000 appropriation (Sen. William S. Hults Jr., R-Port Washington).

Make liable to larceny charges adult and children's camp and summer hotels that took money in advance and then failed to provide accommodations (Sen. Francis J. McCaffrey, D-Bronx).

GOP Demands

have the votes to override Harriman's veto.

THE MEDICAL EXPENSE bill would trim $1,800,000 from state revenues. The exemption for working mothers and widows would slice off $3,000,000, and the one for the aged and the blind, $2,600,000.

Sen. Frank S. McCullough of Rye and Assemblywoman Frances K. Marlatt of Westchester county sponsored the measure on medical expenses.

It would permit reductions for any cost of care, treatment or diagnosis of disease — or prenatal and maternity care — so long as the expense had not been covered by health insurance or other benefits.

The bill on care of dependents, introduced by Sen. Mac Neil Mitchell of Manhattan and Assemblyman Ernest Curto of Niagara county, would not permit deductions for a married woman unless she filed a tax return jointly with her husband.

Sen. Walter W. Van Wiggeren of Herkimer and Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese Jr. of Queens proposed the measure on the aged and the blind. It defines a blind person as one with less than 20/200 vsion in his better eye, or one whose vision is limited to an arc of 20 degrees.

The bills follow the lines of a campaign promise made by U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor, and of the GOP state campaign platform. Last summer Dewey ordered a study of the possibility of "humanizing" taxes.

Mohawk Asks

the Poughkeepsie area was expressed by Mr. Peach as he outlined the importance of the routes which favorable Civil Aeronautics Board action would open to Poughkeepsie travelers.

Mohawk is well known to many Poughkeepsie travelers and visitors through its service to International Business Machines Corp. and other companies.

Recipient of international recognition for its accomplishments and of many national awards, Mohawk has developed as a commuter airline with schedules tailored first to travel times of businessmen in the northeast and then to connections with transcontinental lines at major terminals.

The Mohawk fleet consists of 11 modernized 28-passenger transports equipped with the most efficient navigation and communication devices available to the airline industry for short-haul air transportation.

The company is a member of the Air Transport Association of America, the organization of the scheduled airlines.

Two Boys Arrested

Two 14-year-old boys were arrested yesterday by Detective Frank Sammons as juvenile delinquents for allegedly having damaged property. They were charged with breaking windows and causing other damage in a house to the rear of the state armory and were held for Children's Court.

Lehman Warns

"THE OCCUPATION of those islands is an incident of civil war. Those islands, from time immemorial, have been part of China proper. There is not juridical, legal, or historical basis for separating, alienating, or neutralizing those doorstep islands.

"We have a legal and historical justification for intervening in behalf of the security of Formosa and the Pescadores which we and our associated allies wrested from Japan by force of arms, and which had belonged to Japan for half a century.

"We have no such justification in the case of Quemoy and Matsu. Nor will the free world credit us with any such justification. We can, if we are unwise, save a few islands and lose the friendship and support of the free world."

LEHMAN SAID that while he does not believe President Eisenhower would plunge the country into a "preventive" war, "there are those in positions of influence in the administration and in the country who would not be averse to a series of events leading in that direction." He added "there is language in this resolution which lends aid and comfort to such a notion."

Lehman said he hopes the reported calculation of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, are correct and that if the resolution is passed the Reds would refrain from attacking Quemoy and Matsu.

"Woe unto all of us if Admiral Radford turns out to be wrong," he said.

Senate leaders expected to roll up a heavy favorable vote without making any changes in the broad powers asked by the administration.

Sen. Clements (Ky.), acting Democratic leader told reporters as the Senate session began that he hoped for a vote before the day ends but that he was not certain it would come.

In commerce, paddy rice is unmilled rough rice, growing or cut.

House Approval Boosts Chance for Continued Rights

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Unanimous House approval boosted today the chances for quick Senate passage of a bill to continue GI schooling rights for men in the armed services by Jan. 31.

The House passed the measure 366-0 yesterday and sent it to the Senate. Chairman Hill (D.-Ala.) of the Senate Labor Committee said he plans hearings on the bill for next week.

The measure would assure up to 36 months of government-financed education for those in service by Jan. 31. After discharge, they will be entitled to 1½ days of educational benefits for each day of service up to the maximum. It is expected to add about 350 million dollars to the cost of veterans' care.

President Eisenhower, in an order Jan. 1, ended Korean war veteran benefits to all men entering service after Jan. 31. The order also had the effect of limiting educational credits of those already in to the amount earned by Jan. 31.

The President supported the limited extension of educational rights, however.

AEC Film Shown

No Waste

Omaha (AP) — Street cars are on their way out here, but not the poles that supported the trolley wires. They are being used as piles and supporting columns in a new building to house buses.

AFL to Campaign

against Union President Dave Beck by Martin O. Crouse, former recording secretary of a Yakima, Wash., teamsters local.

Crouse, here yesterday to plead his charges in person to the executive board, left to return to the west coast without waiting for the board's decision. He charged Beck had violated teamster union constitutional bans by lending more than a million dollars in union funds to the Fruehauf Trailer Co.

Beck, claiming the loan was within the constitution, appeared unworried that the board would uphold Crouse. The later was himself somewhat pessimistic but said that if he lost he may appeal to the courts.

On the subject of a proposed merger of the AFL and CIO, Beck told newsmen the teamsters union may refuse to become a part of a combined organization if the merger arrangements were not satisfactory. He said the teamsters wanted to be left unfettered in trying to organize new members.

To Issue 40-Year Bond

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The treasury has announced it will issue a 40-year bond on Feb. 1, a move officially signalling confidence that the business downturn has ended. Announcement of the ultra-long-term issue—the longest since the 50-year bond of 1911 to pay for the Panama Canal—came late yesterday. The interest rate will be 3 per cent, the same interest lenders got 44 years ago for the Panama Canal issue.

Heart Chapter Plans Luncheon

A luncheon meeting of the Ulster County Heart Chapter and their guests will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Saturday, January 29, at 12 noon, according to an announcement by Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, chairman.

Dr. George James of the State Department of Health at Albany, a former health commissioner of Ulster county will be the speaker. He will discuss the progress of the heart research program being carried on by the New York State Department of Health and which he directed at the request of Governor Dewey. Dr. James will be on his way to Ohio where he has accepted the important post of Health Commissioner of Akron, Ohio.

Members will discuss the heart fund campaign which is carried on during the month of February by the American Heart Association. In Ulster county the drive is conducted by the Heart Chapter of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Goes to Massey

Ottawa, Jan. 28 (AP) — The Paris agreement to admit a rearmed West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) went to Governor General Vincent Massey today for his signature—the final step in Canada's ratification. The Senate unanimously approved the pact yesterday, one day after the House of Commons okayed ratication 213-12.

Population Is Given

Rome, Jan. 28 (AP)—The latest census estimate—as of last Oct. 31—places Rome's population at 1,790,638. This is an increase of 782,555 over the 1931 figure and about 500,000 more persons than the city housed in ancient days when the Caesars ruled half the world.

defendant filed a complaint. Meanwhile, trial would be suspended.

Jelke was convicted in 1953 of compulsory prostitution charges. The verdict was overturned last December on the ground that the trial judge, in barring the press and public from the court room during part of the testimony, had deprived the oleomargarine heir of his rights. Jelke is awaiting a new trial.

MORITT'S BILL would give a defendant recourse to the Appellate Division "whenever a court or judge makes an oral or written order, ruling or directive which depries a defendant of his right to a public trial."

Democratic Sen. Alfred Santangelo of Manhattan offered the bill to provide for court review of cases in which applicants for civil service jobs were rejected even though there were more positions open than there were applicants.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, sponsored a five-bill program that he said would "enable cities to let go of the apron strings by which they are tied to the state."

"The bills," Desmond said, "are to restore to the cities some of the powers the state gradually has taken from them . . ."

OTHER MEASURES WOULD:

Make it a felony, instead of a misdemeanor, to conspire to commit murder (Assemblyman Bernard Dubin, D-Queens).

Give the State Tax Commission power to suspend or revoke licenses of vendors who sell cigarettes at less than cost or who grant rebates in price, carries $25,000 appropriation (Sen. William S. Hults Jr., R-Port Washington).

Make liable to larceny charges adult and children's camp and summer hotels that took money in advance and then failed to provide accommodations (Sen. Francis J. McCaffrey, D-Bronx).

GOP Demands

have the votes to override Harriman's veto.

THE MEDICAL EXPENSE bill would trim $1,800,000 from state revenues. The exemption for working mothers and widows would slice off $3,000,000, and the one for the aged and the blind, $2,600,000.

Sen. Frank S. McCullough of Rye and Assemblywoman Frances K. Marlatt of Westchester county sponsored the measure on medical expenses.

It would permit reductions for any cost of care, treatment or diagnosis of disease — or prenatal and maternity care — so long as the expense had not been covered by health insurance or other benefits.

The bill on care of dependents, introduced by Sen. Mac Neil Mitchell of Manhattan and Assemblyman Ernest Curto of Niagara county, would not permit deductions for a married woman unless she filed a tax return jointly with her husband.

Sen. Walter W. Van Wiggeren of Herkimer and Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese Jr. of Queens proposed the measure on the aged and the blind. It defines a blind person as one with less than 20/200 vsion in his better eye, or one whose vision is limited to an arc of 20 degrees.

The bills follow the lines of a campaign promise made by U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor, and of the GOP state campaign platform. Last summer Dewey ordered a study of the possibility of "humanizing" taxes.

Mohawk Asks

the Poughkeepsie area was expressed by Mr. Peach as he outlined the importance of the routes which favorable Civil Aeronautics Board action would open to Poughkeepsie travelers.

Mohawk is well known to many Poughkeepsie travelers and visitors through its service to International Business Machines Corp. and other companies.

Recipient of international recognition for its accomplishments and of many national awards, Mohawk has developed as a commuter airline with schedules tailored first to travel times of businessmen in the northeast and then to connections with transcontinental lines at major terminals.

The Mohawk fleet consists of 11 modernized 28-passenger transports equipped with the most efficient navigation and communication devices available to the airline industry for short-haul air transportation.

The company is a member of the Air Transport Association of America, the organization of the scheduled airlines.

Two Boys Arrested

Two 14-year-old boys were arrested yesterday by Detective Frank Sammons as juvenile delinquents for allegedly having damaged property. They were charged with breaking windows and causing other damage in a house to the rear of the state armory and were held for Children's Court.

Lehman Warns

"THE OCCUPATION of those islands is an incident of civil war. Those islands, from time immemorial, have been part of China proper. There is not juridical, legal, or historical basis for separating, alienating, or neutralizing those doorstep islands.

"We have a legal and historical justification for intervening in behalf of the security of Formosa and the Pescadores which we and our associated allies wrested from Japan by force of arms, and which had belonged to Japan for half a century.

"We have no such justification in the case of Quemoy and Matsu. Nor will the free world credit us with any such justification. We can, if we are unwise, save a few islands and lose the friendship and support of the free world."

LEHMAN SAID that while he does not believe President Eisenhower would plunge the country into a "preventive" war, "there are those in positions of influence in the administration and in the country who would not be averse to a series of events leading in that direction." He added "there is language in this resolution which lends aid and comfort to such a notion."

Lehman said he hopes the reported calculation of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, are correct and that if the resolution is passed the Reds would refrain from attacking Quemoy and Matsu.

"Woe unto all of us if Admiral Radford turns out to be wrong," he said.

Senate leaders expected to roll up a heavy favorable vote without making any changes in the broad powers asked by the administration.

Sen. Clements (Ky.), acting Democratic leader told reporters as the Senate session began that he hoped for a vote before the day ends but that he was not certain it would come.

House Approval Boosts Chance for Continued Rights

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—Unanimous House approval boosted today the chances for quick Senate passage of a bill to continue GI schooling rights for men in the armed services by Jan. 31.

The House passed the measure 366-0 yesterday and sent it to the Senate. Chairman Hill (D.-Ala.) of the Senate Labor Committee said he plans hearings on the bill for next week.

The measure would assure up to 36 months of government-financed education for those in service by Jan. 31. After discharge, they will be entitled to 1½ days of educational benefits for each day of service up to the maximum. It is expected to add about 350 million dollars to the cost of veterans' care.

President Eisenhower, in an order Jan. 1, ended Korean war veteran benefits to all men entering service after Jan. 31. The order also had the effect of limiting educational credits of those already in to the amount earned by Jan. 31.

The President supported the limited extension of educational rights, however.

AEC Film Shown

No Waste

Omaha (AP) — Street cars are on their way out here, but not the poles that supported the trolley wires. They are being used as piles and supporting columns in a new building to house buses.

AFL to Campaign

against Union President Dave Beck by Martin O. Crouse, former recording secretary of a Yakima, Wash., teamsters local.

Crouse, here yesterday to plead his charges in person to the executive board, left to return to the west coast without waiting for the board's decision. He charged Beck had violated teamster union constitutional bans by lending more than a million dollars in union funds to the Fruehauf Trailer Co.

Beck, claiming the loan was within the constitution, appeared unworried that the board would uphold Crouse. The later was himself somewhat pessimistic but said that if he lost he may appeal to the courts.

On the subject of a proposed merger of the AFL and CIO, Beck told newsmen the teamsters union may refuse to become a part of a combined organization if the merger arrangements were not satisfactory. He said the teamsters wanted to be left unfettered in trying to organize new members.

To Issue 40-Year Bond

Washington, Jan. 28 (AP)—The treasury has announced it will issue a 40-year bond on Feb. 1, a move officially signalling confidence that the business downturn has ended. Announcement of the ultra-long-term issue—the longest since the 50-year bond of 1911 to pay for the Panama Canal—came late yesterday. The interest rate will be 3 per cent, the same interest lenders got 44 years ago for the Panama Canal issue.

Heart Chapter Plans Luncheon

A luncheon meeting of the Ulster County Heart Chapter and their guests will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Saturday, January 29, at 12 noon, according to an announcement by Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, chairman.

Dr. George James of the State Department of Health at Albany, a former health commissioner of Ulster county will be the speaker. He will discuss the progress of the heart research program being carried on by the New York State Department of Health and which he directed at the request of Governor Dewey. Dr. James will be on his way to Ohio where he has accepted the important post of Health Commissioner of Akron, Ohio.

Members will discuss the heart fund campaign which is carried on during the month of February by the American Heart Association. In Ulster county the drive is conducted by the Heart Chapter of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Goes to Massey

Ottawa, Jan. 28 (AP) — The Paris agreement to admit a rearmed West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) went to Governor General Vincent Massey today for his signature—the final step in Canada's ratification. The Senate unanimously approved the pact yesterday, one day after the House of Commons okayed ratication 213-12.

Population Is Given

Rome, Jan. 28 (AP)—The latest census estimate—as of last Oct. 31—places Rome's population at 1,790,638. This is an increase of 782,555 over the 1931 figure and about 500,000 more persons than the city housed in ancient days when the Caesars ruled half the world.
